Dragon Child

by NightFuryx

Category: How to Train Your Dragon
Genre: Family, Friendship
Language: English
Characters: Astrid, Hiccup, OC, Stoick
Status: Completed
Published: 2014-01-04 13:02:16
Updated: 2016-04-24 01:51:58
Packaged: 2016-04-26 17:21:48
Rating: K+
Chapters: 10
Words: 48,936
Publisher: www.fanfiction.net
Summary: a Viking or a dragon? which one. a 8 month old baby had been raise by dragon. she soon had been discover and taken to Berk. all the years in Berk, all she do is cause trouble and destruction because she need someone to understand her and help her through her trouble. help her understand what is family and who she is?

1. Chapter Prologue

This is the first story of *Dragon Child_. So I hope you enjoy and please leave a comment. I don't own the movie, but the OC Characters. Let's hop on to a dragon and ride!_

Dragon Child
>Chapter _'Prologue'_

Fang POV; 12 Years

Hey, we all know how life cycle are work. Vikings raised by Vikings and dragons raised by dragons. They are no different from each other and their appearance. However have you ever seen or heard one of them raised by someone else from their familyâ€¦

Let me tell how my life as a human, a Viking, turned around and received a title from raise by dragons.

My adoptive mom, who is a Deadly Nadder, told me how she came across of me and my Vikings family as she saved me from the evil Vikings...

12 years ago, out in sea, my Vikings family rode through the waters on their ships, I think Shiftcutter remembered their tribe name are Buri. Anyway, we traveled in the sea within twenty or twenty five ships.

_If you wonder where I am among those ships, I am in the arms of my human mother as a hatchling, or a baby in their term. I don't know what I was doing on the ships, but that what the other dragons saw. Also in my mother's arms, there is another baby who is my brother._

The different between me and my brother, he is calmer, relax, patience, and nicer baby while I am more energetic, curiosity, out of control, and very loud and destructive baby. We may look the same from the outside, but the inside we are different. I forgot to mention we are twin.

My human mother aborted the boat on the island along with five of Buri Vikings. They walked through the forest to a certain area to sit down. My human mother have a pouch to put me on her back cause my strong strength for a baby.

I looked around to see every dragons looking at their direction hearing their footsteps, but mostly my laughter. Looking around the forest, I noticed a Deadly Nadder sleeping in the shade who is my adoptive mother, Shiftcutter.

Shiftcutter sensed something and looked up to see us coming by her. We stared at each other in the eyes to feel something like a connection to between a child and parents.

We have arrived to the area and my human mother placed me and my brother down on the grass. I tempted to crawl around while she have her hand on me preventing me from wondering around. The five stood around keeping their guard up for any enemies appeared.

The dragon grownups appeared surrounding the five men. While they were nudged and licked by them, their hatchlings approached us growling and smiling. My human mother have to pull me back trying to calm my excitement down.

Shiftcutter sneaked up behind the trees to see me and what I am doing. She told me that my human mother can't handle my strengrh.

Few minutes, a catapult launch was heard out to the ocean. All of us looked where the launch was heard, all the dragons ran away from sound to protect their hatchlings. One of men ran toward the ocean to see what is going on while the rest stayed to protect us.

I doesn't know what is going on as I looked around to see Shiftcutter stay. She couldn't leave me alone with the danger among us. The Buri Viking returned to warn the Dragon Hunter have arrived.

My human mother hid behind the brushes while the five Buri men took position for them. My brother whimpered in fear while I looked back to see Shiftcutter behind my human mother. She noticed my behavior and looked back to see her there.

The Dragon Hunters have arrived and started fight against the Buri. I was told the fight fought on till the Dragon Hunter are died. Shiftcutter growled watching the fight going on from her height and size.

_The Dragon Hunter with his friends down and cuts on his body walked backward to the brushes where we are. He looked around to see them approaching with their weapons ready. I made a sound reaching out my hand to Shiftcutter when something happen._

While I have my hand out, I was grabbed by the Dragon Hunter as he have his dagger by my chest. The Buri men and my human mother gasped in shock as she rushed out to see me used as hostage.

The Dragon Hunter shouted about something while I whimpered seeing the dagger close to me. I cried a little louder that my body started to heat up. He glared down shouting at me to stop crying, which I whimpered even louder.

Shiftcutter saw, from the side, that my eyes silted for the first time. I then cried at top of my lungs surrounding the forest full of echo to the ocean. They heard my cry sounding like a roar of a dragon.

The Dragon Hunter struggled to cover his ears and the other backed away from the cry. My brother cried of the cry while my human mother tried to calm him down. He had enough and was about to kill, which that happened.

_I cried once more calling __someone__ to my rescue. They heard a squawk growl and looked up to see Shiftcutter stepping out the forest glaring at the Dragon Hunter. She stood tall glaring down and seeing him gasped in shock as she squawk roared to his face._

The Buri Viking with a blue mark on his left arm approached from the side to stab the Dragon Hunter from behind. The Dragon Hunter lost his grip to the dagger and myself as I fall asleep from the crying.

_All I remembered, my human mother retrieved me from my savior very glad I am safe. I didn't know why she did this, but she gave __me__ to Shiftcutter telling to watch over me from the Dragon Hunters. Shiftcutter grabbed me, which I was put into the pouch, and took off where my life has begun._

I don't know what happen afterward with my Viking family. All I knew, my life raised by dragons which earn me a title that every Vikings out there now call me from rumors and gossipsâ€¦

Dragon Child.

This the end of *Chapter 'Prologue'_. I will have the next chapter up and ready along with _Tigress' Deep Memory_ rewrite and updated. Stay tone for more adventure of _Dragon Child.

2. Chapter 1

Dragon Child
>_Chapter 'One'_

3 years later

_{Many islands out in the ocean have its own living thing lived alone or together, like some islands have Vikings and dragons on one while the other have Vikings.}_

A ship landed on shore on the island full of danger and material needed for the Vikings. The chief of Berk jumped off the ship along with his four loyal Vikings behind him. He glared at the island knowing their enemies will be living on this island as he leaded the ways.

They walked through the forest caution for the enemy and searching for the materials they needed for their village. The chief then stopped the group to look down on the ground. He found spines and bloods on the ground, rocks, and trees.

{To Vikings, the dragons are dangerous creatures in their world. They have many knowledges of their kind, even those dragons that are rare and unique to find or see.

The common dragons they saw the most Monstrous Nightmares, Gronckles, Terrible Terrors, Hideous Zipplebacks, and Deadly Nadders. There are more they knew and saw, but they rarely found them often.}

Knowing there has been a war, the chief took in his battle stance as he leaded the ground and the other copied him. They followed the trail of bloods to a cave where they saw something very shocking. Four hatchlings of Deadly Nadder and unknown Vikings died and scattered all round the cave.

The chief examined the Vikings body to see they could be Dragon Hunters or Dragon Trappers. He looked up to see the mother laying on the nest is unusual to kill there. He called his friend to help him to move the mother.

Pulling the mother off the nest, something jumped out from beneath and started attacking one of their friends who screamed at top of his lungs. They took their battle stance when they have a good clear look what they saw is the most uncommon to see and can't believe what they found.

{To dragons, the Vikings are the threat to their survivor. They have their family to protect and couldn't let anything come harm them.

They have to use many ways to survive in this world, even they have to use anything necessary to stay alive. As well killing their enemies or be killed by their weapons.}

They saw a three year old girl biting the leg of the Vikings form the Jongerson clan. She wore a very large white shirt and have black spiky hair, aqua blue eyes, and fresh scar across from the left eye to the right cheek. The Viking hopped around shouting for assisting as he felt pain on his leg.

The chief walked over to trip the Viking and pulled the child off his leg. The Viking shouted at the chief furious while checking his left leg. The other assisted bandaging the leg before it could get infected.

_The chief looked around to see the child have sharp teeth like the dragons. The child growled very long and loud as she tried to scratch his face, but missed every times. He then found a mark on the back that he have the women and the healer to check on it._

The chief brought the child back with him and the other to Berk. He has the women gave a warm bath and clean clothing the child, which she took to her liken. The child examined the clothing that is soft and fit her size.

The chief tied a rope around the child to the pillar while all the Vikings gathered around to see her. The chief son appeared behind his father to get a closer look to the child. He noticed how sharp her teeth are as he told his father who agreed with him when he has thought a name for her. He named herâ€¦

Present; 9 Years

"_Fang!_"

All the Vikings looked over to their chief, Stoick the Vast, while he tried to call the Dragon Child and finishing pulling out the fire on the house. They woke up very early in the morning hear an explosion outside their house.

Rushing out the house to see the house of the Dragon Child is burning, they quickly pulled out the fire while the chief rushed over to see the fire nearly out. He entered the house ignoring the fire and smoke to found Fang is not inside.

Stoick stepped out to ask if they have seen Fang when he noticed a damage lock on the ground. Someone have freed Fang before she is could get killed by the fire. He sighed relief as he thought who have done this and wondered where she is.

{This is Berk. The island and home of Vikings who lived there for generations. It's twelve days north of Hopeless and few degrees south of Freezing to Death. It is located solidly on the Meridian of Misery

The Vikings, who's just shouted like a dragon just raided his house to mess with his anger, is Stoick the Vast. The chief of Berk and a father.

He is one of the Vikings who found me nine years ago and few months ago, also name me who I am now.}

Gobber stepped out the house with Spitelout behind him. "Well, we all can guess who did this and how the Dragon Child escaped. She made a secret underground tunnel under the house. She and whoever helped her out traveled through." He told Stoick dusting off the ashes on him.

"But the tunnel is too small for us adults, it have to be her and the other size. We can't see and guess where they goes." Spitelout nodded.

{Gobber the Belch. The Viking with interchangeable left hand and right wooden foot. He is a friend and advisor to Stoick whenever he have a problem and he go to him to help and fix the problem.

_He may be smelly, weird, annoying, and creepy, but he is bunch of fun to be around with. He is complete different from the chief's idea about me, but he is still concern for Berk._

With Spitelout Jongerson, he is a second in command beside Stoick and a father. He and Gobber also one of the Vikings who found me. I have to sayâ€¦ I still have no idea why I target Spitelout and used him as my chewy thing and goes for the leg. Have no idea at all.}

"One more thingâ€¦" Gobber lifted up the two leathers band sewed together with a loop in the back damage by the fire and cut up. "We all can guess who saved her."

"Spitelout. I want you and the other to find your son and the two troublemakers." Stoick gave an order to Spitelout who nodded and walked off.

{Oh yeah, the teen, they are talking about, that will be me. Fang the Dragon Child, great name, but that all they can go through since it is the only name suit me because of my sharp teeth.

_Stoick can tell they are like dragon fangs, so that what he go with. Also I bit his finger, which I don't know __why__ he wanted to test my teeth, and Spitelout's legs. That is the reason and meaning of my name.}_

"I also want a search around the forest and village for Fang, Astrid, and Hiccup. They could be still close to Berk. I can't have another dragon napped again, even in daylights." Stoick gave another order that few of the Vikings quickly left and the other helped clean up the house.

_{Yeah, since I was __dragon napped__ by dragons and __rescued__ by them, Stoick has been always nervous to leave me outside alone from what happen. He won't make the same mistake again when my second rescue is a bit different._

Something happened to me right before the rescue, I lost all my memory on the dragon napped. So the Deadly Nadder, who is my uncle from my late adoptive mother, told all the draogns not to touch me or take me away from Berk.

I have a feeling he knew what happened to me on the island and with the Dragon Hunters who killed my mother. Plus I can't leave Berk since something pull me back from leaving. After what happen to me, I don't much care anymore, except on certain things.}

"Once I get my hand on those three, they will beg for Thor for this _unaccepted _and _unforgiveable_ prank they have _ever_ done." Stoick muttered clutching his fists in anger while thinking what kind of punishment to give them.

Gobber nodded agreeing. "Ai. Those three _really_ do some damage to the house." He turned around to see the house clumped and the Vikings back away from the sudden tumbled and the burnt woods have some fire on them.

"Right now, I am more concern on Fang and the other two. If they used the tunnel, they may have breathe in some of the smoke. I need Gothi to check on them right away." Stoick told Gobber as they walked away from the house and waited to their returns.

"From the look on the lock and bandâ€¦" Gobber said remembering the damage on the lock and lifting the burnt band in his hands. "Astrid and Hiccup have some trouble breaking in and I think Astrid will need a new axe blade."

Stoick nodded agreeing with his friend. "I am getting more concern for them now. I rushed upstairs to see if Hiccup is in bed after hearing the exploding. I found him gone while I believe he and Astrid have left the house sooner than us waking from the explosion." He said rubbing his beard surprise of Hiccup sneaking out the house so quietly.

Stoick soon looked around the village having a strange feeling in his gut. "Do you have a feeling something is going to come out at you?" He asked his friend who looked around as well.

"Huh. Now that you mention itâ€¦" Gobber muttered stop walking to have the same feeling as he heard irritating from the chief.

"Why does this have to happen _all the time_? I have Hiccup on my plate and add this more. I don't know _why_ they have to do this early in the morning."

_{Yeah, I question about that, too. It has to be the rumor about me raised by dragons. Every day, I will get pick, mock, and torture by the three __worst__ Vikings in Berk.}_

"We have them, Stoick!"

Stoick and Gobber turned around to see Spitelout and another Viking as they held the three trouble teens in their hands. "Come on, Dad! I didn't do a thing to that freak!" Fifteen year old Snotlout told his dad struggling through the dragging.

"If you haven't left the house early, boy, I won't be suspense it would be you." Spitelout glared down furious. "Besideâ€¦ it would be you and the twins." Snotlout muttered to himself out of rage as he was pulled harder nearly fall.

{Snotlout Jorgenson. The son of Spitelout Jorgenson. He is the one of the bullies and troublemakers in Berk. I found he is the worst Viking than the twins combine. If I have to choice to be friend with him or chain upâ€¦ I rather be chain up and shackle than be friend with my enemy.}

Spitelout and the Viking pushed Snotlout and the twins in front of Stoick who glared down at them. "Wellâ€¦I'm waiting." Stoick told them narrowing his eyes to hear their answers, which he knew what their answer will be.

"We didn't do anything." Snotlout answered waving his hands defending himself of the crime to the house. "Right, guys?" He turned to the twins.

"Yeah. Like we snuck out the house to plant a prank to the house." Fourteen year old Ruffnut said agreeing with Snotlout not knowing what she is saying.

"And we set off a pack of fire crackers inside to end with fire and explosion." Fourteen year old Tuffnut shrugged his shoulders grinning doesn't know what he is saying as well.

In a second of the explaining, Snotlout smacked his face don't trust them with the talking while the twins looked at them confuse on what they said. "What?" They asked in a union.

_{Ruffnut and Tuffnut Thorston. The fraternal twin and pranksters of Berk. Ruffnut, sisters, with Tuffnut, brother, never seen separated from each other unless they were force or told to do something from the chief or parents. From I seen, they__ never__ seen alone unless they are doing a prank._

Although they are fun to prank with, we always get them good when they are not expecting us.}

"I see. So you _didn't_ blow up the house and set it on fire, did you?" Stoick asked them a question knowing they _will_ answer his question.

"Yes!" Tuffnut shouted proudly as he then narrowed his eyes confuse. "No? I don't know. How do we answer this, Sis?" He asked Ruffnut who shrugged her shoulders and head confuse as well.

"Muffin head." Snotlout muttered shaking his head of betrayal from them.

"Well. Now that I have my answer." Stoick clapped his hands of joy. "It's time for your punishment." He glared down grinning while they shrunk in fear when shouted interrupted the chief lecture.

"What is all that shouting and screaming?" Gobber asked for the chief looking at the direction with Stoick, the three teens, Spitelout, and all the Vikings as they saw the search party returned.

Three more teens ran by pasting another of their ages, fourteen year old Fishlegs, as he nearly tripped off his feet. "Whoa! Someone is in a hurry." He muttered fixing the helmet watching the chase from the back.

{Fishlegs Ingerman. The nerdy and bookworm of all the teens in Berk. He have all the knowledge of dragons, well most of them, unlike like me. He may not look like he can handle himself if he'll come against a dragons, but he will have the knowledge on him to use against themâ€¦.

If I don't come and scare him to his wit.}

The other grownups moved out the ways when one of them tripped and knocked the other two as they rolled on the ground. Stoick and Gobber moved out the way to watch fifteen year old Hiccup landed between out of exhaustion.

"Hiccup!"

{Hiccup Horrendous Haddouck III. The son and next heir of Stoick the Vast. He is completely different from the other Vikings. He may looked like them, but think different from them.

He will cause destruction once he'll step out the house when there is a dragon raid. Stoick have to clean up his mess out of disappointment and pity he doesn't have a son he want.

He may be different from them, but I don't care. He has something inside of him that will change the world between Vikings and dragons.

Also he is like a big brother to me since he is the one of the two Vikings who doesn't treat me different. We have the same thing in common in Berk that no Vikings understand us. Just him and my sister, only understand me and my solutions in Berk.}

"What happen Hiccup?" Gobber asked noticing him cover in ashes head to toes.

Hiccup lifted his head up coughing out the remaining ashes in his lungs. "Arg. Not right nowâ€¦ justâ€¦ give me a minute." He told Gobber sitting up while getting some time to breathe and calm down.

Soon a crash was heard and Gobber and Stoick looked up to see a barrel rolling to them and Hiccup. They saw twelve year old Dragon Child laying her head on top of fifteen year old Astrid's lap. They noticed the exhaustion like Hiccup and covered ashes, too.

"Fang! Astrid! You two alright?" Stoick asked rushing over to see their conditions.

Fang coughed once still laying on the lap. "We're fine." Astrid replied waving her hand as she lay back against the house.

{Yep. That is me, the one laying on the ground with a dull expression. I may not look like it, but I can be fearful and scary if you see my bad side.

Since I was rescued few months ago from the raid eight or nine years ago, I have new sets of clothing which they are similar to Hiccup and Astrid.

Black sleeveless tunic with round collar, dark brown pants, fur belt, no boots, and leather band on both arms. My hair grew a bit longer, more spiky, and middle thick braid at the bottom half of my hair in the back. My scar wider a bit than last time.

My body is even more flexible, the bones are stronger than before, and I'm not afraid to do anything danger like jump off the cliff and dive into the ocean from the dragons back, trees, and always land on both of my feet.

Also this is Astrid Hofferson, or I like to call her, even herself, Fearless Astrid Hofferson. She is one of the best Vikings out the teens. She have no fear unless she has to, courage to go up against anyone or anything stronger, tougher, bigger, and who comes or stands in her ways, and loyal and pride to be a Viking in Berk.}

"Astrid! Fang!"

They looked up to see the father and mother of Astrid running up to them. "Are both of you alright?!" Alerk asked looking to see them alright and exhausted. "What a relief." Kara placed her hand on her chest feeling glad and her heart skipped a beat.

{Alerk Hofferson and Kara Hofferson, the father and mother of Astrid. They are one of Stoick's best men. Stoick can always relay on them to assist him to go up against the dragons and other enemies.

However they have to ruin my fun, they always over protective like Stoick, but much worst. Even Astrid agreed with them, but I have still my ways of having my fun with the twins helps.}

"Hi Dad." Astrid greeted trying to get up.

Fang felt relax when she saw Astrid moving and her head fall to the ground. She grunted puffing her face of irritating and tired. "Don't give me that look. You should know that I will be moving soon anything." Astrid told her dusting herself to try removed all the ashes off.

{Oh. And there is one more thing you need to know about the Hofferson clanâ€¦}

"Astrid." Stoick called out in his calming voice. "Why don't you take your sister to your house? It seem she is out of stamina and need to see healer. You and Hiccup, too, of course."

"Sure." Astrid nodded not in mood to feel happy.

Astrid walked over to pick Fang to carry her on her back. "Let's me help you." Hiccup walked over to help set Fang on Astrid's back.

"Thanks."

They headed to Astrid's house to wait for the healer since Fang is already a sleep. "Alerk. Kara. Why don't you go with them? It is not that I don't trust them or anythingâ€¦" Alerk and Kara understood what Stoick is trying to say.

"We understand, Stoick." Alerk and Kara followed the teens to the house.

Snotlout and the twins were about to sneak away when Spitelout and the Viking stopped them glaring down with their arms crossed. "Nowâ€¦" They looked up to see the chief approaching them with a big grin on his face.

"For your punishmentâ€¦" They gulped in fear of Stoick's glare and grinning.

Midnight; House Hofferson

Astrid has her shoulder pads on the night stand while sharping her axe and sitting on the bed. Fang lay behind her sister trying to speak and read while getting irritating. Astrid chuckled as she continued sharping her axe.

Gothi checked on them later as she got to the house. She told them to relax and stayed home to recover from the fire. Stoick learned Hiccup and Astrid snuck out the house to change Fang's band due to the damage on it.

They barely arrived to the house to see Snotlout and the twins set up fire crackers around the house. They had the prank when the fire started to burn the house rapidly fast and escaped the area. Hiccup and Astrid rushed over to break save Fang.

Astrid managed to break the lock and they entered seeing how scared Fang was. Hiccup quickly unlocked the chain, but it broke due the wood from the ceiling nearly hit them. Astrid cut the leather freeing Fang when the wood blocked the entry.

Fang kicked the hays, which it is on fire, out the way to reveal a secret tunnel. They entered the tunnel sliding down landing to the bottom of the underground tunnel.

At the exit, they coughed out the smoke in their lungs as they rested for a minute to regain their strength. The rest of the story happened when Stoick saw them running back to Berk.

Fang rested her head close to Astrid who patted her head. She glanced up to see her smiling down as she smiled back. They continued what they are doing when they heard a knock on the door.

"Astrid? Alerk? Kara? I have the band remade and improvement." Hiccup peeked his head in a little shouting while searching for the Hoffersons and showing leathers band in his hands.

Fang lifted her head happy to hear Hiccup's voice as she dashed down. Astrid shook her head chuckling how excited and happy her sister is when she hear his voice. Hiccup saw Fang rushing downstairs and dashing toward him.

"Fang. No. No. No!" Hiccup told Fang backing up slowly when it was too late.

Alerk and Kara returned the house from night portal as they were startled by loud thump. They looked down to see Fang on top of Hiccup holding the leathers band. They can hear him grunting in pain while their daughters whine of joy.

"What are we going to do with you, Fang?" Alerk asked crossing his arms while Kara giggled.

Fang replied with a whine eyes close. "You're alright?" Astrid asked peeking her head out the window while leaning on the frame.

"No." Hiccup answered loud enough he could do as he felt the pressure become light.

Alerk grabbed Fang from the back and Kara helped Hiccup up. "Thanks for bring it. Alerk _really_ started to get annoying of Fang's running around the house uncontrolledly." Kara thanked him explaining what happen without the band.

"Kara." Alerk glared Kara who ignored it with a giggle.

They entered the house while Hiccup rested up a bit before leaving. Hiccup and Astrid sat on the edge upstairs while watching Kara starting the fire and Alerk struggling to put the band on Fang.

"Fang. You have to put this on!" Alerk told Fang struggling to put from her trying to escape. Fang glared at her father as she growled at his face and successfully escaped with him behind her.

"Fang!"

Hiccup and Astrid chuckled soft to themselves. "I bet a month of watching Fang if Alerk slammed his face into the wall." Hiccup betted with Astrid whispering to her ears.

"I bet with _two _month that he slammed his face into a wall _and_ Fang crashed into something." Astrid made her bet as they shook hands and watched the show begin.

Alerk chased after Fang around the house when Alerk tripped over a shield and slammed his face into the wall. Hiccup and Astrid looked away from the impact as they waited for another impact.

Fang ran toward the door not looking where she is going. A knock was heard and opened to reveal Stoick. She screamed trying to slow down, but couldn't stop.

"What in Ordin Beard!" Stoick shouted as he was tackled by Fang outside the house.

Alerk and Kara rushed outside while Hiccup and Astrid looked out the window. They watched Stoick sat up with scratches on his face along with some bruises and Fang lay on the ground grunting in pain unable to move.

"Should I even ask what just happen?" Stoick asked getting up while dusting himself.

Alerk answered by showing the band in his hand. Stoick nodded understand while Fang growled staring at the star. She sat up and shook her body as she entered through the window.

"Hey!" Hiccup backed up from Fang's entry while chuckling.

"Watch it!" Astrid done the same chuckling as well.

"Fang! What did I told you about entering through the window?!" Kara lectured Fang entering from the door as she saw her younger daughter stick out her tongue at her.

Ten minutes has past and every Vikings settled down in the house. Astrid has the band on Fang upstairs while Hiccup checked for any damages on the band.

Fang then wondered around the bottom floor while Gothi treated Stoick's scratches and bumps. The Dragon Child crashed into the wall startling the grownups and elders while the two teens held in the laughter.

The shield started to fall and hit on top of Fang's head as it rolled off. Fang let the impact set a bit till she shook her head and looked over the shield as she chased after it heading to the stairs.

"You know that we haven't say who won the bet." Astrid told Hiccup bring her leg up and lean back with her hands as a support.

Hiccup raised an eyebrows grinning. "You _know_ who wonâ€¦ in some ways it is." He admitted the defeated of the bet.

"Two months of babysitting." Astrid held up two fingers smirking victorious.

"Oh, Thor."

Fang had the shield in her grasps as she played with it while jumping on top of it. "Hey! That is _not_ a _toy_!" Alerk marched over to his daughter to snatch it out her reach.

Fang soon growled puffing her cheek and wondered off upstairs upset. "Aw. Did your uptight dad ruin your fun?" Hiccup sounded a tease watching the Dragon Child ran behind her big sister.

Fang roared at him still making her puffy face. "Hiccup. You know _not_ to tease her like that." Astrid playfully lectured Hiccup while patting Fang's head.

"I came over personal to tell we are having a meeting at the Great Hall. The detail will be said once we get there." Stoick told Alerk and Kara while Gothi finished and headed home.

Alerk nodded. "Alright." Kara nodded as well.

"Hiccup. Astrid. You two get to bed right away." Stoick glanced up telling the two teens. "Alright, Dad." Hiccup nodded.

"Yes, sir." Astrid nodded as well.

The grownups headed to the door to meet the other at the Great Hall. "Oh. Also, _get_ her to bed as well." Stoick remembered as he turned around pointing to his right with his left hand.

Hiccup and Astrid looked at his finger direction to see Fang hanging upside down on the ceiling log, which they have no idea how she got there so quietly. Fang looked up to see them and the grownups looking at her. She titled her head curious why they are looking at her.

The grownups left along with Hiccup heading home while Astrid and Fang headed to bed. Astrid crawled into her bed while Fang lay on the hay stacks next to the bed. She growled resting her head on her arms.

"Night Fang." Astrid say goodnight to Fang pulling the fur blanket over her.

Fang gave yawn curl up into the fur blanket. "Night Astrid." Astrid blew out the candle as the room darken.

Two hours later, Alerk and Kara returned to the house and walked up stairs to check on the girls. Alerk held the candle to see Fang in bed with Astrid sleeping together. He smiled wide while Kara gave them a kiss on the forehead.

They headed off to bed themselves for tomorrow. Fang cuddled close to Astrid dreaming something that Astrid reacted in her sleep that she tighten her arms around her.

_This is for _Chapter 'One'._ Plx leave a comment and enjoy the next adventure for the next chapter._

3. Chapter 2

Dragon Child
>_Chapter 'Two'_

Dragon Translation *Talking

Midnight

The waves hit the island loud, but calm, as all the Vikings are sleep. Some of them night portal all around the village. Fang slept in her new house built by Snotlout and the twins as punishment. She snored soft laying on the hay stack upside down.

Fang felt in peace doesn't feel threat and bother in the middle of the night when she heard ton of flapping. She opened her eyes and sat up to hear more clearly and smelled different scents in the air.

Listening carefully to the flapping, Fang knew what it is and something going to happen. A horn was heard with many doors opening loud and shouting everywhere.

"_Dragons!_"

Fang quickly headed to the door to break it down, but couldn't. As she was going to the hay stock to use the secret tunnel again, a Monstrous Nightmare crashed inside breaking through the roof. She covered herself from the broke wood piece and the heat from the Monstrous Nightmare.

Fang watched the dragon flew off as she saw her exit is from the roof top. She jumped up quickly as possible while some of the woods broke. She ran through the village to see all the Vikings and Dragons are fighting each other. She never knew why they can't get along.

Fang quickly headed to the door to break it down, but couldn't. She then headed to the hay stack to use the secret tunnel again when she heard a crack. The Dragon Child looked up to see the woods slowly breaking above her head.

Jumping out the way, a Monstrous Nightmare crashed down to the floor while Fang hid behind a shield to protect her from flying wood pieces. She peeked out glaring at the dragon who noticed her and smelled her scent.

"_What are you looking at?" Fang asked the blue green Monstrous Nightmare shaking her body to the impact._

The Monstrous Nightmare opened its eyes wide in shock and took off lighting itself in fire. "Oh. Thanks. Burning my house on fire is one of the way to make a big entry." Fang muttered out of anger as she climbed out from the roof with wooden clamped to the bottom.

Fang landed on the ground and looked around to see the way has begun. Watching the fight between Vikings and dragons, she began searching for Hiccup or Astrid when she felt a grab on the band.

Fang looked down to see she is in the air and glared up to meet the same Monstrous Nightmare. She growled louder to grab its attention. The dragon doesn't know how much trouble it is in.

"_Hey! Do you mind?!" Fang shouted escaping the grip of the Monstrous Nightmare._

The Monstrous Nightmare looked down seeing it have grabbed the Dragon Child which her uncle told all dragons not to grab. "Oh no! My apologizes!" It quickly apologized dropping her on top of the house, which it is not burnt yet, while flying away scared to face her fury.

"_You better be sorry or I have to kick your sorryâ€¦!" Fang was cut off threating the Monstrous Nightmare from a loud explosion next to her._

Fang quickly hid on the other side of the house as she looked to see Hiccup laying on the ground from flown backward from the blast. "Arrr! Morning!" Hiccup was greeted by a male Viking with his beard burnt and his axe in his hand as he ran off.

Fang jumped down to Hiccup avoiding the hurrying grownups. "That is strange." She said sitting on the ground.

Fang jumped down to approach to Hiccup while avoiding the hurrying grownups. "You're okay?" She asked looking down with her Hiccup who slowly sitting up.

"I'm fine." Hiccup said sitting up while dusting himself.

Hiccup then realized Fang is next to him out of nowhere. "Fang. How did youâ€¦ where did youâ€¦ what?" He couldn't ask the question looking around where she could possible came from in the raid.

"The sky." Fang pointed up shocking Hiccup _a lot_ more.

Hiccup gasped in shock couldn't believe what he heard. "Oh, if my dad, the other Vikings, _even Astrid_, they will not only _murder_ them, but _murder us_ for getting you _dragon napped_ again!" He shouted soft while panicking of the most important rules of Fang keeping away from the dragons.

Fang pouted can't believe he is reacting the same way Astrid's reacted, but better than her. "I am fine. I told the Monstrous Nightmare to put me down knowing he and _all _the Dragons are not supposed to snatch me out of nowhere." She told him getting upset.

Hiccup couldn't say another words knowing he will make her upset or Astrid will_ murder _him for making her sister upset. He is still died either way if she found out about the dragon napped. If he kept quiet about it, she won't kill him except nearly upsetting her sister.

Hiccup have Fang following him to the armory to assist in the raid. They jumped on the bridge to get across as they encountered the grownups who aren't happy to see them.

"What are you two doing here?!" Hoark shouted carrying a barrel over his shoulder.

"Get inside!" Burnthair shouted jumping down from the edge to land in front of them carrying an axe and shield.

"What are you two doing out?!" A Viking shouted at them running by with a sword and shield in his hands.

"Get back inside!" Phlegma ran by yelling as she carried a different axe and shield in her hand.

They ran by the last two Vikings while the last Viking is different from the other. He stood by the pole waxing his ear with his spear and shield on each side. There, even, an explosion behind him. Fang found that surprising how he doesn't react to the explosion.

Fang glanced up to see a Monstrous Nightmare flying by while breathing fire lava at the ground. She saw Hiccup not looking up and going to run into the fire. As she was about to stop him, a Viking caught him _and _her from the back doesn't sound too happy to see us outside.

"Hiccup?! Fang?! What are they doing out agaâ€¦?! What are you two doing out?! Get back inside!" Stoick asked waving them around in the air as he asked them with a toss to one of the houses not burnt yet.

Fang trembled on the ground as she growled ready to murder the chief when Hiccup grabbed the loop and pulled dragging her away from his father and to the armory. They jumped over the pole on the ground at the same time the Vikings lit the two torch lifting them in the air.

Fang smelled a familiar scent and glanced up to see a Deadly Nadder flying in circle higher in the sky. She saw Hiccup and the other not noticing her as she ran toward the cove. The Dragon followed to the cove remaining silence so no Vikings noticed it flying off.

Fang smiled a scent that she stopped and looked up to see a Deadly Nadder flying in circle higher in the sky and away from Berk and other dragons. Seeing the Vikings and Hiccup not noticing her, she ran toward the forest heading to the cove to meet the dragon.

The Deadly Nadder followed heading to cove where they always meet or at the other side of the island. Fang jumped over roots, fallen trees, and rocks as she glanced up to see the dragon diving down and picked up her speed.

The Deadly Nadder landed on the ground first as it glanced up to watch Fang jumped off the edge and landed on all four at the bottom of the cove. The Dragon squawked couple of times while she shook her body from the jump.

"_You never get injured from that height as you jumped down." The Deadly Nadder said walking over to Fang to give a nudge on the head. "You don't have to worry about the height."_

"_Uncle Stormcutter!" Fang whined being nudge with a lick from Stormcutter._

Stormcutter continued licking Fang all over the body and head. "Uncle! You are ruining my main!" She whined to her uncle as she felt the lick lift her hair sticking up.

Fang opened her eyes wide in shock as she glared at Stormcutter who smiled down titling his head. "Okay! Okay! I'm clean, can I nap now?" She asked her uncle escaping from his grasp and shook her body and fix her head.

"_Ah, you don't want to see your own uncle you haven't seen for a long time?" Stormcutter faded pretending to feel hurt of avoiding the family reunion._

Fang narrowed her eyes of unbelievable and irritating. "Seriously, Uncle?" She asked her uncle making a face of irritation and not amuse.

Stormcutter saw Fang's different about and her behavior, even her eyes showed the different in her. He cleaned himself for a bit from flying and fire ashes. Fang walked over to the lake to drink some water.

Stormcutter pulled her head back shock to see the look he never expect to see before. Fang walked over to the pond to drink water. She lowered her head in the water drinking some when she heard her uncle behind her.

"_Something about you change, Fang." Stormcutter said lifting his head to see the different of his niece as he faded of concern._

Fang lifted her head out the water to look back of emotionless. "So many years after what happen to you on the day my sister, your mother, died, you have change in so many ways since you was nearly capture by those Dragon Hunter." She heard her uncle watching him approach her.

"_During the times with the other dragons, you have a lot of change to train yourself to fight against the human who killed Shiftcutter and gave you that scar on your face."_

Fang touched her face where the scar is as she glared remembering the Viking's face and his scent. Stormcutter looked down and opened his eyes wide pulling his head back far back form what he saw. Whoever the Viking is, he has done very bad damage to his niece then her emotion.

"_They not only changed your emotion, but something __else__ inside of you."_

_Fang raised an eyebrow curious what he mean when she felt something hot and hard on her right hand. She looked down to see her hand in different shape with the nails sharper like the dragon claws._

Stormcutter watched Fang moving her hand around examing it. He noticed through the reflection from the water a heat stream surrounding the hand. "What is happening to you?" He asked watching the heat around the hand cooling down and going back to her human hand.

"_I don't know. It has been happening whenever I get angry or too hot from the sun." Fang waved her hand gently to remove the remaining heat on her head._

Fang faded of depression as she slowly became something far more than a Viking or Dragon Child. A freak, every Vikings called her even at Berk, but something else than a freak.

Stormcutter squawked rubbing his head against Fang's head. He can feel the sadness inside of her as he lay down with her laying on him as she went to sleep. The uncle glanced up to hear the dragons slowly vanishing.

"_I will be going now." Stormcutter told Fang nudging her head. "Stay out of trouble and signal me if you want to leave this island. I will be here in time to grab you." He grabbed her on the band and carried her to stand up and set her back down._

Fang nodded giving a yawn long and loud. Stormcutter flew up in the air then to the sky heading somewhere so the Vikings doesn't know he is on their island. Fang got comforted at the spot where she is and lay down to sleep for the rest of the night.

While Fang took her nap, Hiccup ran up to the cliff where no Vikings nor dragons are seen. He set up the Mangler preparing to fire at the dragon that is unholy offspring of lightning and death itself.

The Night Fury.

Hiccup glanced up at the dark sky waiting for the Night Fury to fly down. He tapped his fingers impatience for the Dragon to come mumbling anxious. "Come on. Give me something to shoot at. Give me something to shot at." He stared at the sky looking for any movement.

Waiting and hearing the war back in the village, Hiccup noticed a black figure flying in circle in the sky. Knowing it is the dragon, he took position hearing a sound from the Night Fury getting louder every second.

Hiccup looked through the loop to get a target on the Night Fury. Hearing the sound louder and forcing on the watch tower, the Night Fury easily destroyed the tower in one swipe while flying very fast.

Hiccup knew he couldn't hit it, but launched the Mangler anyway with his eyes closed. Launching the bola spinning in circle rapidly fast, he was threw backward from the powerful launch when he heard a capture.

Hiccup quickly stood up to see the Night Fury flying toward somewhere in Raven Point. He has caught the dragon _no Vikings _ever done. "I hit it?" He said in the shocking voice with his eyes opened wide.

"Yes, I did it!" Hiccup cheered and jumped up waving his arms in the air of joy. "Did anybody see that?" He asked turning around as he forgot there was no Vikings around him.

Over the edge, a red Monstrous Nightmare creeped out growling soft as it approached Hiccup from behind. It crashed the Mangler destroying it and alerting its present to the teen who shrugged startle by the crash.

Hiccup turned around disappointed with his shoulders shrugging. "Except for you." Monstrous Nightmare growled for a second as it roared starting chase after Hiccup.

Cove

Fang sat up from her nap from something that tick her off. She looked around to see no one in the cove as she gone back to sleep. She used her arms as her pillow sleeping on her side.

Back to the Chase; Berk

Stoick heard a familiar scream and turned around disappointed to see the Monstrous Nightmare chasing after Hiccup. Hiccup has disobeyed his order again and don't see Fang anywhere.

Stoick shook his head annoyance grunting of irritating. "Do _not_ let them escape!" He ordered the other Vikings as he ran off to save his son.

"Right!"

Astrid heard Hiccup's scream as well as she remembered about Fang. She grabbed her axe and ran off to find her sister. The other noticed her hurrying to somewhere they don't know where she is going.

"Yo! Astrid! Where are you going?!" Snotlout shouted asking just finish putting out the fire.

Astrid ignored the shouting as she arrived to the house to see destroyed, again. She slammed her axe at the door to rush inside and see Fang not in the house. She noticed the hole in the roof as she believed a dragon crash into the house.

Astrid sighed relief to see Fang safe and not here. "Fang better not got dragon napped again." She muttered anxious while having a bad feeling about Fang alone.

Meanwhile with the chase, Hiccup ran away from the Monstrous Nightmare and its lava flame who kept missing him and climbing around. Hiccup hid behind the torch pole as he felt lava fire hitting the wood burning. He tighten his arms avoiding the lava from touching him.

Hiccup heard the lava stop and looked at his right searching and panting hard in fear. The Monstrous Nightmare popped its head out from behind him as it was going to bite him when Stock kicked it at the mouth.

They rolled on the ground away from Hiccup as they came face to face. The Monstrous Nightmare growled at Stoick who fixed his helmet in place as calmly than some of the Viking in Berk. The dragon glared and breathed fire lava only to be out.

Couple of times of breathing lava, the Monstrous Nightmare whined pouting to see it is in a disadvantage. The Monstrous Nightmare tried again to see it is really out and whined of the disadvantage. "You're all out." Stoick told the dragon shaking his shoulders and approaching ready to punch.

Stoick punched the Monstrous Nightmare three times with a kick to the face. He pushed the dragon as he watched it fly off couldn't fight back against him.

Stoick sighed frustration as he faced the pole glaring. He watched the bottom burnt destroyed from the weight of the upper half to reveal Hiccup standing there awkward. They watched the pole fall the torch, which it is lit on fire, rolling down crashing everything in its way.

Hiccup flinched to each crashes the torch hit into as he sensed his father's disappointment. "Sorry, Dad." Stoick glared harder exhaling out of frustration.

The Vikings, who helped Stoick hold couple of Deadly Nadders down, saw the torch and moved out the ways. The torch rolled on top of the net burning it and freeing the dragons. Berk watched all the dragons fly off with their foods in their claws.

Hiccup turned couple of time awkward of the solution he has created. "Ok, but I hit a Night Fury." He said trying to lighten of the destruction he made, but fail.

Stoick grabbed Hiccup from the back of the tunic dragging him to the house. "It's not like the last few times, Dad! I really, _actually_ hit it!" Hiccup tried to get his father to listen he shot down the Night Fury. The other gathered around to watch the chief dragging his son of disappointment.

"You guys were busy. I had a very clear shot." Hiccup pointed where the Night Fury was last seen taken down. "It went down off Raven Point." Gobber came from behind knew he will not listen, but still can't believe it.

"Let's get a search partyâ€¦" Stoick had enough of Hiccup's bragging. "Stop!" He yelled stopping and turning his son around.

Hiccup had stopped talking and looked at his father more awkward. "Just stop." He heard softly, but still disappointment, in his voice.

"Every time you step outside, disaster follows." Stoick didn't held back telling the truth. "Can you not see that I have bigger problems? Winter is almost here and I have an entire village to feed!"

"Between you and me, the village could do with a little less feeding, don't you think?" Hiccup sarcastically said while two Vikings in the back felt insulted touching their stomach.

Stoick got into Hiccup's face doesn't need for his sarcastically joke. "This isn't a joke, Hiccup!" He then sighed loudly demanding need to know of his action. "Why can't you follow the simplest orders?" He asked calming down.

"I can't stop myself. I see a dragon and I have to just kill it." Hiccup examined himself as he twitched his arms like he has a Dragon head in his arms. "You know. It's who I am, Dad." Then he stood straight shrugging his shoulders.

Stoick rubbed his forehead. "You're many things, Hiccup. But a dragon killer is not one of them." He said very honest not holding back the truth.

Hiccup shrugged his shoulders couldn't look into Stoick's eyes feeling hurt. "Get back to the house." He heard him sounding he doesn't have time to deal with him.

Stoick turned to Gobber. "Make sure he gets there." He ordered his friend pointing where the house is..

Gobber came toward them. "I have his mess to clean up." He smacked Hiccup's head getting him to move. They heard the twins laughing as they headed their and the other teens way.

Tuffnut gave Hiccup a thumps up. "Quite the performance." He said sarcastically and enjoyed the destruction he made.

"I've never seen anyone mess up that badly." Snotlout got into Hiccup's face. "That helped." He then pointed to the mess he made.

"Thank you, thank you. I was trying." Hiccup sarcastically responded doesn't need to hear this from them now.

Snotlout stood in Gobber's way, who isn't placed, as he was grabbed at the helmet and knocked to the ground. Astrid and Fishlegs watched him fall while the twins laughed harder. He stood up fixing his helmet as he continued to laugh.

Snotlout noticed Astrid leaving shaking her head. "Hey, babe. Where are you going?" He asked her flirting with a grin that irritating Astrid. "None of your business." Astrid said giving a cold shoulder while glaring back at Snotlout.

The twins glanced at each other and laughed harder grabbing each other. They ignored Snotlout's glare who doesn't need this from them and walked away in shame, but not giving up on Astrid. Astrid walked into the woods to find Fang.

Great Hall

"Either we finish them or they'll finish us!"

The entire Vikings gathered the center of the Great Hall as they listened to Stoick and his speech. "It's the only we'll be rid of them. If we find the nest and destroy it, the dragons will leave." Stoick grabbed a dagger next to him.

"They'll found another home!" Stoick slammed the dagger on the left top corner where the dragon nest is."One more search before the ice sets in." Son the other began feel uneasy and uncertain about searching for the dragon nest.

"Those ships never come back." A Vikings spoke out in the crowd worry and have a bad feeling.

Stoick reminded them who they are and tried to get motive their Viking instincts inside of them. "We're Vikings. It's an occupational hazard. Now who's with me?!" "He asked them glancing around to hear what their respond.

"Count me out." A Viking said in the crowd.

"Today's no good for me."

"I have to do my axe returns."

Stoick then came up another _motive_ to change their mind. He saw a direct and definitely answers from them.

Stoick then came up a motiving to change their mind and answer. "All right. Those who stay will look after Hiccup." He said as he saw a change of heart in their answer.

"To the ships!" A female Viking shouted raising her hand along with the other following her.

"I'm with you, Stoick!" Spitelout said in one breathe.

"That's more like it." Stoick grinned as he proud himself for another success as a chief.

Gobber smacked his lip wrapping with his arm while the other started to leave to start packing. "I'll pack my undies." He said slowly standing up to start packing.

Gobber wrapped smacking his mouth while the other leaved to pack. "I'll pack my undies." He said slowly standing up to pack as well when he has different task from Stoick.

"No, I need you to stay and train some new recruits." Stoick said stopping him to pack as he approached to the table.

"Perfect. And, while I'm _busy_, Hiccup can cover the stall and Fang can walk freely in the open." Gobber sarcastically said pointing the outside of Great Hall while Stoick sat down next to him.

"Molten steel, razor-sharp blades, lots of time to himself, and her, causing destruction, wonder around in the middle of the night to be dragon napped. What could possible go wrong?" Gobber looked up asking about the future as he drank in his mug.

Stoick sighed worrying while doesn't know what to do not only a chief, but a father as well. "What am I going to do with them, Gobber?" He asked his friend and advisor for advice.

Gobber risked it of telling him knowing he won't like the idea. "Put him in training with the other and trust her to be outside alone." He told preparing for the over-protective father and chief's answer.

Stoick opened his eyes wide in shock of what he heard. "What? That is impossible. He'd be killed before the first Dragon is out of its cage. But leaving her outside? Alone?! I can't let that happen." He told his answer in the most stubborn, over protective, and panicking voice.

Gobber chuckled a little. "Oh, you don't know that." He shook his hand telling he is over thinking it.

"I do, actually." Stoick disagreed shrugging his shoulders.

"No, you don't."

"No, actually, I do."

"No, you don't." Gobber turned his body completely to Stoick knowing his son will be killed in the first dragon training.

"Listen, you know what they're like." Stoick stood up from his seat remembering the days in the past.

"From the time he could crawl and she has arrive to Berk, they areâ€¦" Stoick walked around behind Gobber while he tried to think a word to describe Hiccup and Fang. "â€¦Different." Gobber rolled his eyes as he drank from his mug.

Stoick sighed continuing. "They don't listen. He has the attention span of a sparrow and she has an attitude of a Dragon." Gobber then chocked and spitted out his rock tooth falling into his interchangeable mug hand.

Gobber searched for the rock tooth as he found it. He then began trying to reach for it, but couldn't due to his huge hand. "I take him fishing and he goes hunting forâ€¦ for trolls." Stoick slammed his hand to his side still don't believe his son searched for the troll.

Gobber turned his body believing in Hiccup's searching for trolls. "Trolls exist. They steal your socks. But only the left one. What's with that?" He then tried to think why the trolls attracted to the left side of the sock.

"And the time I let her out for stretch her legs, she ran around like a baby dragons who doesn't listen to anybody." Stoick rubbed his forehead remembering the chase around Berk.

"Well, she listened to Astrid and the Hofferson, mostly Astrid. She has this thing who she listen to only." Gobber scratched his head remembering Fang followed Astrid like a baby chick.

"When I was a boyâ€¦" Stoick began telling when he was young and their ages.

Gobber rolled his eyes. "Here we go." He listened as he tried to get his rock tooth in the mug.

"â€¦my father told me to bang my head against a rock and I did it." Stoick walked in circle and Gobber peeked inside the mug again. "I thought it was crazy, but I didn't question him." Gobber drank the mug to get his rock tooth back.

Stoick asked Gobber. "And you know what happened?" Gobber examined the rock while being sarcastic. "You got a headache." He rolled his eyes.

"_That_ rock split in two." Stoick walked past Gobber who put his rock tooth back and hammered it inside. He used his tongue to check the rock if it inside and good.

"It taught what a Viking could do Gobber." Stoick raided on about what happen after he smashed the rock with his head.

"He could crush mountains, level forest, tame seas!" Stoick sat back down next to Gobber now talking about Fang and her Dragon problem.

"With the Dragon Childâ€¦ I don't know how to channel that anger of her."

"So true." Gobber agreed nodding his head.

Stoick sighed rubbing his forehead. "I never heard or seen a child raise by dragon and act like one, yet she give this look you know she is very dangerous to have outside and need to be contain." He said frighten.

Gobber nodded. "I know what you mean. Every times I noticed that look in her eyes thatâ€¦ she is somewhat changing not from the outside, but the inside." He had goose bumps on his arms remembering the look.

"Even as the boy, I knew what I was, what I had to become. Also don't have ability to tame a beast that look like us and act like them."

"Hiccup is not that boy and Fang is not one of us." Stoick turned to hear Gobber's advice for this one.

Gobber turned his head. "You can't stop him and the beast inside of her, Stoick." He said with honesty.

"You can only prepare him and trust her." Stoick listened carefully to make right choice.

"I know it seems hopeless, but you won't always be around to protect him. Also putting chain and lock her up will not always work." Gobber turned his body completely.

"He's going to get out there again." Gobber pointed outside beyond the Great Hall with his mug. "He's probably out there now." Stoick thought knowing Hiccup _is_ out there again don't know where.

"As for Fang, it may be hopeless when handling her dragon instinct, but it won't help locking her up to calm her dragon side." Gobber placed the mug down. "If you have Astrid and Hiccup watch over her and believe in her that she stay out of trouble, you won't have to worry a lot of thing." Stoick looked at Gobber then at the ground thinking what he should do as a father and a chief.

Cove; Noon

Fang snored soft couple of times as she opened her eyes. Sitting up to stretch her arms, she smacked her mouth still sleepy as she gave a good long yawn. She looked around to see to see the sky blue and hear the birds chip.

Remaining silence in the cover, Fang heard a branch snapped and jumped into battle stance crouching on all four. She glared at the rocks and giant tree rots growling left to right. She smelled an unknown dragon in the cove that she growled louder.

"_If you don't want to feel the pain tomorrow, you better come out now before I __hunt__ you down." Fang threated the dragon warning it as she heard the growl._

The dragon creeped out behind the rock to reveal a Night Fury. Fang heard a growl from it as she glared irritating. "Even though you are the Night Fury, you boys are so annoying than you guys alone." She told him who narrowed his eyes

"_For the Dragon Child, you are more irritating to deal with." The Night Fury made a call back pulling his head back narrowing his eyes._

_Fang narrowed her eyes shrugging her shoulders. "I swear you guys are __so__ than the humans who act like idiots." The Night Fury found insulting as he growled._

They got into face glaring and growling. "You want to go then? I won't hold back just because you are a human." The Night Fury threated Fang who narrowed her eyes more.

"_You are __really__ asking for a butt kicking dragon." They were going at it when they heard a thump and looked up._

"What is going here? What are you doing to my niece?" Stormcutter asked the Night Fury glaring and ready to defend his niece.

"_Niece?" The Night Fury pulled his head back shock while Fang ran over to Stormcutter. "She is your niece?"_

Stormcutter lowered his wings, but alert for any surprise attack. "You're never meet her before?" He asked raising an eyebrow of curiosity.

"_I just heard rumor of her, never seen in life." The Night Fury sat down twitching his tail which caught Fang's attention._

"_What happened to your tail?" Fang asked walking over to the tail to see a missing left fin._

"_During my last attack, I lost my tail fin from this human weapon and flew toward Raven Peak. I was unconscious for a few hours as I regained my conscious and meet the human who took me down."_

Fang smelled the scent on the Night Fury as she recognized Hiccup on him. He actually shot down a dragon? It has to be a Night Fury.

"_I found he didn't kill you." Stormcutter raised his eyebrow titling his head. "Good thing. I gave a parting gift and fly off to learn I lost my left tail fin." The Night Fury told the uncle leaving Fang a raised eyebrow._

"_I can imagine what you have done." Fang said imagining Hiccup out cold somewhere in the wood._

A splashed was heard with the fish jumping up out the water and a growl then heard from the Night Fury's stomach. Fang knew he is hungry and grabbed some fishes for him. The Night Fury watched from the background to see what she is going to do.

A splashed was heard and they looked over to see a jump jumped up. Stormcutter flew over of the pond to grab some fishes. Fang sat around to examine the tail of the Night Fury.

"_What did the human name you?" The Night Fury asked looking down to the Dragon Child._

"_They name me Fang." Fang looked up playing with the tail and the fin._

The Night Fury pulled his tail out of Fang's grip while narrowing his eyes. Stormcutter arrived to barf out the fishes to the Night Fury and Fang.

Fang grabbed two fishes quickly eat them as she approached to the stone wall. Stormcutter and the Night Fury watched her jump up climbing each rocks as she have reached to the top.

"_She is one amazing hatchling I ever meant." The Night Fury said and Stormcutter nodded agreeing._

Fang jumped over roots, fallen tree, and rock heading to Berk. She found Hiccup still unconscious and decided to leave him to let him get up on his own. Jumping down the cliff and sliding on the dirt, Fang landed on her feet and dodged to see an axe hit a tree behind her.

Astrid popped out behind the tree and saw Fang sitting on the root with blank emotion. "Hi Astrid." Fang waved showing no shock of the axe flying toward her.

Astrid chuckled showing apologize for throwing the axe toward her head. "I see you didn't get dragon-napped again." She then said of joy grabbing her axe out the tree.

"_I see you didn't get dragon-napped again." Fang switched language mocking Astrid's worry._

"You worry too much and need to chill Astrid." Fang stood up dusting herself when she was smacked behind the head. "Ow! What was that for?!" She watched her sister while rubbing the back of her head.

"That for Dragodragonn talk which I told you countless times to stop doing that and mocking my worrying." Astrid told her reason for the smack and Fang rolled her eyes.

Astrid then patted Fang's head hearing an annoyance growl. "And that for you didn't get Dragon-napped." Again, Fang rolled her eyes smacking the hand off her head.

They headed home to eat lunch when they decided to have a race to the Great Hall. They then soon wrestled each other rolling down toward Berk not knowing where they are going.

_That for _Chapter 'Two'_, I will have the next chapter up and ready for you to read. Plx leave a comment._

4. Chapter 3

Dragon Child
>_Chapter 'Three_

Dragon Translation *Talking

Later that Day; Midnight

Fang watched the stars sparkling in the dark sky while managing to see a shooting stars. She couldn't believe she see another shooting stars in ages. Watching the stars for few more minutes, a call was heard at the window.

"Fang!"

Fang crawled over to see Astrid peeked her head out without her shoulder pads. "Dinner is ready!" Astrid shouted as she stuck her head back in.

Fang climbed down to the window then entered the room quietly. Astrid chuckled pushing her head back as she put her axe under the pillow. The younger sister walked over to the bed to jump on to sit when they heard their mom shouted from the bottom.

"_What did I say about entering through the window?!_" Kara shouted from the bottom of the house.

Fang rolled her eyes and Astrid sighed annoyed of Kara and her rules. "Sorry, Mom!" She shouted not in the mode to look over the edge.

"And how many times did you apologizes when she enter from the window?"

Astrid opened her eyes wide of shock of the call back as she heard laughter from her sister. Fang held her gut laughing uncontrolledly. The older sister glared narrowing her eyes at her.

Alerk arrived to the house after meeting Stoick and Kara set up dinner when they heard banging and crashing from upstairs. They looked up to see the ceiling moving with the dust falling.

They knew what is happening and Alerk helped Kara setting up dinner. Continue hearing the crashing and banging, the two sisters rolled downstairs wrestling and around the bottom. They punched and kicked each other while rolling around.

Kara and Alerk gave each other a look then back to them with their eyes narrowing. Astrid had Fang in a head lock when she was smacked on the head along with Fang grunted in pain from the smack on the head.

They looked up to see Alerk hold his fist in the air along with Kara raised an eyebrow crossing her arms. "She did it." They pointed and blamed each other in a union.

The parents looked at their daughters with their narrowed eyes. They let go of the lecture and ate dinner. Astrid tried to get Fang eat her foods who are avoiding them of disliking. The parents laughed watching them arguing back and forth.

Finishing dinner, Kara cleaned the dishes, Alerk stepped out the house for a moment to speak with Stoick again, and the two sisters sat by the fire. Astrid leaned back with her hands at back as support while Fang have the other foods that barely finish.

Astrid forced Fang to eat her food, which the Dragon Child slowly started to like them. "Astrid. We have something to discuss about. "Alerk spoke out entering the house from speaking with the chief.

"What's up?" Astrid asked what the discussion is as she watched her parents walking up to take a seat.

"Me and your mouth are going with the other to search for the dragon nest." Alerk told his older daughter while Fang growled with chuck of chicken in her mouth.

Kara patted her younger daughter's head. "When are you coming back?" Astrid asked again resting her arms on her right knee.

"In couple of days." Alerk shrugged his shoulders. "I will have Gobber to check up on you two, which it is not I don't trust you two to be alone." He told them on the rules when they are away.

Astrid looked over to Fang to see her grabbing the last food and putting them in her mouth fast. "We will have no problem with that." She told them shrugging her shoulders of no arguing.

Alerk and Kara looked at each other wondering if they should be worrying about that. They glanced over to Fang and saw her look up with her check pop up from consuming the remaining food in her mouth.

"Okay. I can trust you two for now. Still, remember the rules and make us proud in the Dragon Training." Alerk told them as he and Kara sat up to grab the basket over his shoulder.

"Of course." Astrid nodded smiling.

Fang swallowed the foods and wrapped her mouth of the remaining of the foods. She knew they won't be able to find the nest, so she don't have to be worry about it.

"Work hard and watch over your sister, Astrid." Kara told Astrid grabbing her basket as she gave them a kiss on the forehead.

Fang growled leaning back of the kiss. "I'm going to miss you, too." Kara teased her and her disgusted comfort.

"Watch yourself, be good, and don't cause trouble." Alerk and Kara stepped out the house meeting the other at the harbor.

"Okay!" Astrid shouted smiling and the door closed.

"Dragon Training?"

Astrid glanced down with her eyes opened wide as she saw Fang with confusing look. "Yep, Dragon Training." She said patting her sister's head.

"Is that what you been training in the forest with Papa?" Fang asked titling her head.

Astrid nodded. "You will see all that training for tomorrow training." She said with proud and her head lifted up smirking.

Fang whined can't wait to see all that training for tomorrow. "Make sure you don't get in the way or you will be hurt by the other." Astrid wrapped the foods off her face with a rag on her. Fang nodded understand what she mean by that.

Next Day; Dragon Training

"Welcome to Dragon Training!"

Gobber lifted the gate up leading the recruits inside the arena. He faced them to see the excitement and pump inside of them. Fang can smelled it from them as she climbed at top to get a better view.

Astrid exhaled the emotion out to stay cool. "No turning back." She muttered entering the arena with the other smirking and grinning behind her.

They walked inside examining the arena feeling their time of becoming the Viking come true. Astrid shook her head pulling the braid back as she span around walking forward and letting the braid fall. The other span in circle seeing the arena and followed the Hofferson to the center.

Fang climbed to the top glancing around the arena to see her sister leading the group. She jumped down landing on all four to see all the weapons around. Astrid glanced over smiling to see the excitement in her to see her in action.

"Look at the Freak being a freak as always." Snotlout spoke out loud getting irritating.

Fang stopped at glared back heard that while Astrid smacked Snotlout's head doesn't need to hear that from him. Gobber shook his head also doesn't need that in his training. The twins made thing some worst or not from one of their things of _fun_.

"I hope I get some serious burns!" Ruffnut said pumping his hand into a fist showing his excitement.

"I'm hoping for some mauling, like on my shoulder or lower back." Tuffnut agreed rolling her right shoulder where she wanted the maul at.

Fang growled titling her head with dull expression about the twins and their pain and destruction. "Yeah, it's only fun if you get a scar out of it." Astrid sarcastically said rolling her eyes and Fang agreed jumping around to get a better view of the arena.

"Yeah, no kidding, right?"

Fang stopped pushing her head back in shock along with the other as they turned to the entry to see Hiccup entered with an axe in his hand. They looked at him while thinking is Stoick serious about letting his son train with them.

"Pain. Love it." Hiccup sarcastically muttered fading like he isn't pleased to be here at all.

Fang growled surprise to see the son of the chief here. She believed Gobber has got to say something Stoick to get his son to Dragon Training. The other isn't pleased to see him here, or at all.

Fang jumped over to Astrid to see her glaring. "Oh, great. Who let _him_ in?" Ruffnut asked sounding disappointment shrugging her shoulder with the other Vikings agreeing.

"Let's get started!" Gobber shouted startling Hiccup. "The recruit who does best will win the honor of killing his first dragon in front of the entire village." He twisted his hook as he then waved his real hand showing where the other Vikings will be around the arena.

Fang knew who it will be between Astrid and the other. With Hiccup here, she doesn't know who will the one out of them. She have a feeling about him he will be a threat to Astrid in this training.

"Hiccup already killed a Night Fury, so does that disqualify him?" Snotlout asked Gobber being a jerk.

Ruffnut and Tuffnut looked at each other grinning then laughed following Snotlout and Astrid. Fishlegs nodded going along with them as he followed. Fang whined fading knowing they will be like this when he entered the arena.

"Can I transfer to the class with the cool Vikings?" Tuffnut asked out loud still laughing. Fang followed to Astrid feeling sorry for him and being treated different.

Hiccup sighed. "Don't worry." Gobber placed his arm around Hiccup leading him to the other.

"You're small and weakâ€¦ that'll make you less of a target. They'll see you as sick or insane and go after the more Viking-like teens instead."

Gobber chuckled patting Hiccup's shoulder. "Behind these doors are just a few of the many species you will learn to fight!" He pushed him next to Fishlegs bumping him to Tuffnut and Ruffnut as he started the class.

Fang sat between Ruffnut and Astrid to hear the lesson. "The Deadly Nadder!" Gobber pointed the first door with Deadly Nadder banged the door growling.

"Speed 8, armor 16." Fishlegs muttered the status of the Deadly Nadder.

Fang glared at Fishlegs then leaned back. "The Hideous Zippleback!" Gobber walked to the next door with the Hideous Zippleback banged the door as well growling.

"Plus 11 stealth. Times 2."

Fang growled narrowing her eyes and lowering her head. "The Monstrous Nightmare!" Gobber walked to the next door feeling the same way while the Monstrous Nightmare banged the door harder growling loud.

"Firepower 15."

"_I'm going to murder him if he doesn't stop." _Fang whispered growling loud.

"_No you won't."_ Astrid whispered glaring down to Fang to see her getting irritating in her.

Ruffnut lowered her head a little grinning. _"I can help you with that."_ She joined in having some idea what to do with Fishlegs.

"_Ruffnut!"_

"_What?"_ Ruffnut looked at Astrid to see her glaring and doesn't want her to make thing worse.

"The Terrible Terror!" Gobber walked to the next door with the Terrible Terror banged the door growling.

"Attack 8, venom 12!" Fishlegs shouted louder opening her eyes wide that made Gobber and Fang snapped.

"Can you stop that?!" Gobber yelled at Fishlegs reaching his limit of his knowledge and mumbling out loud.

"Can you stop that?!" Gobber and Fang shouted yelling at Fishlegs while Astrid held Fang back.

Fishlegs jumped back startle by their out bust, mostly Fang, growling louder and dangerous. Astrid patted Fang's head calming her down while the twins laughed leaning against each other. Hiccup sighed rubbing his forehead and Snotlout leaded against Astrid grinning.

"So much being an obeying sister." Snotlout mocked Fang and Astrid glared exhaling doesn't need to hear that from him.

Astrid don't looked at grinning Snotlout as she grabbed the helmet and pushed him to the ground hard. Snotlout grunted in pain while the twins and Fang laughed at him harder. Gobber cleared his throat getting their attention.

"And the Gronckle." Gobber grabbed the level sounding devilish.

"_Jaw strength 8."_ Fishlegs whispered to Hiccup who looked up while Fang crouched away.

Astrid and Ruffnut watched the Dragon Child crouching away confuse. _"What in Thor is wrong with her?"_ Ruffnut asked and Astrid shrugged doesn't know.

Snotlout caught every Vikings' attention to him of his out bust. "Whoa! Whoa! Wait, aren't you gonna teach us first?" He asked Gobber getting scared knowing what Gobber is going to do.

Fang whined knowing what is going to happen. "I believe in learning on the job." Gobber said pulling the level.

The Dragon Training has begun and Fang gasped in shock. "Run away!" Fang busted getting them scared and looked at the door to see chain pulled the log up and the Gronckle slammed the door open growling.

The recruits screamed running away from the Gronckle. "Today is about survival. If you get blastedâ€¦" The Gronckle flew forward getting Fang to flip out the way as it slammed into the wall.

"â€¦you're dead!" The Gronckle struggled to get up as it ate some rocks on the ground.

Fang looked away of the Gronckle slammed into the wall. "That got to hurt." She heard the dragon growling annoyance.

"That's gotta hurt." Fang muttered when Snotlout found this chance to punish her for humiliated him in front of Astrid.

Fang was about to head somewhere to get out of Astrid's way when she heard a loud bang with a scream and jumped up in the air very high. The other Vikings gasped in shock to see how high she can jump. The Gronckle quickly flew toward Fang to grab her on its back.

Astrid ran toward Snotlout to fly kick him to the ground. "I'm going to hurt you right after training!" She shouted at him being hold back by Hiccup.

"_You okay?" The Gronckle asked watching Fang climbed on its back._

"_No!" Fang shouted clutching on the Dragon for her life depended on it._

"_I'm Fang, by way." Fang told the Gronckle barely calming down. "Hello. I never met the Dragon Child at front and out in the light." The Gronckle smiled and continued flying after the recruits._

Snotlout quickly stood up grunting from the kick when he looked at his left to see the Gronckle glaring at him flying fast. He screamed flying away from it as he made a sharp turn to his right. The Dragon couldn't made a sharp turn, so it flew to around the arena glaring at every Viking recruits down there.

"Quick! What's the first thing you'll need?" Gobber quickly asked hurrying them before the Gronckle could killed them.

"A doctor?" Hiccup shrugged his shoulder watching out for the Gronckle and Fang on its back.

"Plus 5 speed?" Fishlegs replied worrying.

"A shield." Astrid answered the correct answer watching out for Fang who still has the panic look on her face.

"Shield! Go!" Gobber shouted signal them to go.

The Viking recruits quickly rushed over to the shields picking them up. "Your most important piece of equipment is your shield!" Gobber told them walking over to Hiccup.

"If you must choose between a sword or a shield, take the shield!" Gobber helped Hiccup lift up the shield, equipped, and pushed him into the training.

Fang saw ton of shields and jumped down landing on her feet and next to the shields calming down. "Keep away from Fang!" Gobber shouted at Snotlout who received a glare from him, Astrid, and Hiccup.

"Okay! I won't!" Snotlout shouted making the _promise_ to them, which he won't.

Ruffnut and Tuffnut soon grabbed the same shield with a skull as they fought over it. Fang looked at them they can't be serious about fighting over a _shield_. "Let go of my shield!" Tuffnut yelled at his sister trying to pull the shield out of her hands.

"There are a millions shields!" Ruffnut yelled back trying to pull the shield out of his hands.

"There _are_ a million of shields, why do theyâ€¦ arg never mind." Fang muttered to herself as she grabbed a shield and equipped for fun.

Tuffnut suggested a shield next to them with a flower on it. "Take that one. It has a flowerâ€¦ girls like flowers." Ruffnut snatched the shield out Tuffnut's hands and hit him on the head offending by it.

"Oops, now this one has blood on it." Ruffnut acted like girl being disgusted of the shield has some blood, which it doesn't.

Fang shook her head _really_ don't understand why they have to fight and argue over something tiny. While still fighting over the shield, the Gronckle flew above them and blasted a fireball at the shield spinning them rapidly fast.

Fang screamed jumping in the air and landed on the Gronckle again.

She shook her head and kicked the dragon at the head upset who growled apologizing. The twins fall to the ground completely dizzy of all that spinning.

Ruffnut, Tuffnut! You're out!" Gobber announced. "What?" They asked in a union sounding confuse.

"Those shields are good for another thing." Gobber pointed out a tip.

The Gronkle turned around to the remaining Viking recruits. "Noise! Make lots of it to throw off a Dragon's aim!" The teens started banging their weapon on their shield.

The Gronckle started to get dizzy losing focus what in front of it. It saw ton of them in front of them still banging their weapon on their shield. Fang felt sick clutching herself on the Dragon like she wanted to barf out.

"_Don't barf on me." The Gronckle warned Fang feeling the same way._

Fang wanted to speak, but ended up with a nod. She couldn't speak from the funny feeling in her stomach. She wanted the banging gone right now.

Gobber noticed the noises effected to Fang as well. "All dragons have a limited number of shots." He continued the training while the recruits stopped banging.

The recruits circled the Gronckle who recovered from the noises. "How many does a Gronckle have?" They heard Gobber asking them a question as they ran away from the angry dragon and Fang sitting up.

"Five?" Snotlout guessed the question since he never study.

"No, six!" Fishlegs raised his shield knowing the answer..

"Correct, six!" the Gronckle noticed Fishlegs waving his shield. "That's one for each of you!" The Dragon blasted the shield destroying it out of his hands to the wall.

Fishlegs jumped from the blast startle in shock. "Fishlegs, out!" He screamed running away and tossing his weapon behind him.

Gobber noticed Hiccup hiding behind the wooden wall. "Hiccup, _get in there!_" Hiccup attempted to crouch, but was nearly hit and crouched back hiding.

The Gronckle snickered flying around while Fang felt better and decided to stay on the Dragon for safety. Astrid noticed Fang is going to stay on the dragon since she started to don't trust to stay on the ground. She doesn't blame her since _certain_ Viking will bother her during the training.

"So anyway, I moved into my parent's basement." Snotlout tried to grab Astrid's attention flirting behind her. "Come by sometime and work out." Astrid ignored him focusing on the Gronckle as she flipped away from him and the incoming Dragon.

Snotlout is more focus on Astrid than the Gronckle. "You look like you work out." The Gronckle blasted Snotlout's shield flipping him off his feet.

Fang laughed trying not to roll off the Gronckle's back. "Snotlout! You're done!" Gobber shouted sounding he knew this will happen.

The remaining two recruits on the floor are Hiccup and Astrid. Astrid landed in front of Hiccup as he tried be friendly to her. "So it's just you and me, huh?" Hiccup said chuckling behind focus Astrid.

Astrid opened her eyes wide. "Nope, just you." She ran away confusing him.

Hiccup looked up and then has his shield knocked out his hand from the blast. Fang flinched from the loud blast jumping around frighten. Astrid saw her sister getting scared from the loud blast.

"One shot left!" Hiccup ran after his shield with the Gronckle on his tail.

"Hiccup!"

Fang saw the Gronckle chase after Hiccup so fast they are heading to the wall. Hiccup was countered to the wall and tripped with the Gronckle flying fast toward him. Fang saw the Dragon is going too fast as she jumped off the Dragon and to the stone wall.

The other, Hiccup, and Gobber gasped in shock to see Fang _on_ the wall. Fang looked at her hands and moved to see the tip of her fingers sharped out like the Dragons. Distracting of the shock, the Gronckle glared at Hiccup and about to blast him when Gobber stepped in.

The fireball hit above Hiccup's head who covered himself from the blast and next to Fang who jumped off the wall. She then climbed out the arena to glance down panting hard from the loud blast.

"And that's six." Gobber muttered struggling to pull the Gronckle.

"Go back to bed, you over grown sausage!" Gobber span around tossing the Gronckle into the cage.

Gobber lifted the level locking the door and letting the Gronckle to bang the door. "You'll get another chance, don't you worry." He walked over to the exhaustion Viking teens.

The other recruits gathered around each other listening to Gobber's another tips. "Remember, a dragon will always, _always_ go for the kill." They saw him look down at Hiccup getting him to remember this.

Gobber lifted Hiccup up to his feet as he walked off and Hiccup stared at the burn mark then remembered something about something with the Night Fury. Astrid heard a whine and looked up to see Fang made a frighten look on her face.

"Fangâ€¦" Astrid ran out the arena to check on her sister.

Astrid rushed over to Fang to see she haven't got over the shock from the blast. "Fang." Fang looked up to see her big sister.

Hiccup then remembered Fang and climbed up the wall to with all the strength from his muscle. The other looked at him shock can't believe some Viking pathic and weak can able climb up the wall twice his size. Hiccup lifted himself up and looked over to see Fang slowly coming down.

"You okay?" Hiccup asked with a smile on his face.

Fang whined feeling calm while Gobber guided the other out the arena. "Look at the big baby is cuddling close to her big sister." Snoutlout spoke out mocking Fang to earn a laughter from Ruffnut and Ruffnut.

Astrid and Hiccup glared at Snotlout doesn't need to hear that from him. Fang whined holding in her anger while Gobber smacked behind Snotlout's head glaring.

"You watch Fang." Astrid told Hiccup getting up while he knew what she mean and nodded.

"No problem." Hiccup stood up and walked off with Fang behind him.

Raven Point

Hiccup walked down in the forest while Fang hopped ahead. "You know where we are going, right?" Hiccup asked jumping off of the log.

"I know where _I_ am going, but I don't know where _you_ are going." Fang said crouching on the large rock telling what she knew as she flipped off the rock wondering off.

Hiccup sighed. "Don't wonder off far!" He shouted at top of his lungs as he placed both hands over his mouth to sound louder.

Waiting for a second, Hiccup heard a human dragon roar from far distance. He sighed again shaking his head knowing her sister will murder him if anything happen to her. Astrid can be over-protective to Fang who handle _almost_ everything.

Hiccup arrived to the cove that he used to play with Fang when they were kids. He listened to the sound of bird chipping flying across of the cove. "This was stupid." He muttered to himself do not know what he is doing.

Glancing down by his feet, a trail of black scale leaded to the cove. Hiccup bent down to pick one up to examining it when a fast dark figure fly up with roar and growl. Hiccup fall backward of the startle appearing as he sat up to see what he never thought he will ever found and meet again.

The Night Fury scratched the stone wall attempting to climb out as it started to fall and flew down next to the pond. Hiccup panted hard couldn't believe he meet it again and started climbing down to get a better view. He nearly fall, but made it, as he observed the Night Fury to fly again.

Hiccup remembered and started drawing the Night Fury who used the log as a support to fly up. What he doesn't know, Fang jumped over a log away from the cove with Stormcutter chasing after her on ground. He panted hard couldn't catch up to her as he stopped to rest from all that running.

"_You are slow, Uncle!" Fang laughed sitting on top of the log._

_Stormcutter glared at his niece being amused to his exhaustion. "You think this is __so__ funny, huh Fang?" He asked showing his not amusement on his face._

Fang smirked watching Stormcutter clean himself under his wings. She glanced down and bent still smirking while he finished cleaning under the wings when he has mud on his face. He glared letting the mud slide off his face.

Slowly glaring to his right, Fang has some mud on her hand smirking wide. Stormcutter wrapped the mud off with his wing while still glaring at her. She opened one eye and ran away with another chase is on.

"_When I get my claws on youâ€¦ __you are grounded!__" Stormcutter shouted at top of his lungs furious._

They ran toward the cove where Hiccup and the Night Fury are. They stared each other after Hiccup dropped his pen. A minute has passed for them and they got an unexpected guest from Fang. They heard the rocks fall and looked up to see Fang jumping down and landing on top of the Dragon.

Hiccup watched Fang trying not to fall off the Night Fury when Stormcutter landed beside them to grab Fang into his claw. He saw him growling at her glaring like he is giving her a lecture. The Night Fury glared as well while Fang chuckled innocent.

"I have met a family member from Fang's mom." Hiccup muttered to himself couldn't believe what he is seeing.

Hiccup met Stormcutter to know his name and he is Fang's uncle. He and Fang headed back to the village and eat dinner when the sky turned dark and started to rain. Fang quickly ran for her life to get out the rain. Hiccup knew how the rain made her feel on the day when she saw Shiftcutter's death.

They have arrived and entered the Great Hall hearing the lightning in the background. Entering the hall, Fang shook her body rapidly fast getting the rain off of her. They saw Gober and the other teens inside dry and eating. They gone over what they have done in the training.

"All right, where did Astrid go wrong in the ring today?"

"I mistimed my somersault dive. It was sloppy." Astrid answered honestly. "It threw off my reverse tumble." Fang appeared next to her while Ruffnut sarcastically agreed with Astrid.

"Yeah, we noticed." Astrid and Fang glared at her when Snotlout disagreed doesn't accept what both of them said.

"No, no, you were great. That was so "Astrid"." Snotlout said sounding like a gentlemen when the twins grunted rolling their eyes along with Astrid. Snotlout glared at them when Gobber gave a tip to Snotlout with an irritating look on his face.

"She's right. You have to be tough on yourselves." Gobber pointed Astrid agreeing. "Right, Fang?" He glanced at the younger sister to see her already eating.

Fang looked up swallowing the piece of chickens and holding the whole chicken. "I wasn't pay attention thank to _some_ Viking." She said honest on what she remembered when she turned and glared at Snotlout who glared back.

"Eh, what did Snotlout go _wrong_ in the ring?" Gobber asked the group raising an eyebrow.

"He was being a moron." Ruffnut answered grinning. "He was flirting." Tuffnut answered as well grinning along with his sister.

"He shouldn't mess with Fang during Dragon Training and need to focus on the training itself than focusing on Fang _and_ flirting with Astrid, which I'm the one to speak." Hiccup spoke out loud grabbing a cup.

Snotlout scouted blocking his ways and feeling insult while the twins held in their laughter. "Burn!" Tuffnut shouted at top of his lungs of the callback. Hiccup rolled his eyes grabbing a plate of the chicken leg only for Snotlout to scout blocking the seat.

Fang glared growling at Snotlout who glared back. "Thanks you, Hiccup. _Now_, where did Hiccup go wrong?" Gobber appreciated the answer as he then asked about him.

"Uh, he showed up?" Ruffnut chuckled like Snotlout _answering_ the question.

"He didn't get eaten." Tuffnut chuckled like his sister and Snotlout.

"He _never_ where he should be." Astrid answered correctly glaring.

Fang lifted her head up and looked at Astrid confused. "What kind of answer is that?" She asked her sister who raised an eyebrow decided not to answer that.

Fang grunted irritating and continued eating the chicken. "_Thank_ you, Astrid." Gobber thanked Astrid knowing one of them knew the true way of being a Viking and be tough as a Viking.

"You need to live and breathe this stuff." Gobber walked by elbowing the twins at the back of their head.

Gobber gave Fang a rough pat on the head who isn't appreciated for that. "The Dragon Manual!" Gobber took out a book giving Hiccup one look who played with his food laying his head on his arm.

Gobber knocked some of dishes away to toss the book on the table between Astrid, Fang, and Fishlegs. "Everything we know about every dragon we know of." He told them about every dragons they know inside the book.

A lightning was heard getting Gobber concern about it and Fang whined startle of the lightning. "It's okay, Fang." Astrid comforted Fang calming her down.

"No attacks tonight. Study up." Gobber gave them an order walking off.

"Wait." Tuffnut stopped playing with knife. "You mean read?" He turned doesn't look please of it as he saw him gone.

"While we are still alive." Ruffnut agreed with her brother while Astrid rolled her eyes of their reaction.

Fang sighed eating the bread as she felt a pat on the head. "Why read words when you can just kill the stuff the words tell you stuff about?" Snotlout asked slamming his fist on the table.

Snotlout and the twins doesn't see the point reading a _book_ to know a Dragon, so Fishlegs helped them letting them know what he read and remembered

Fishlegs helped them telling why they need to read the book. "Oh! I've read it like, seven times. There's this water dragon that sprays boiling water at your face." Snotlout turned to him raising an eyebrow.

"And there's this other oneâ€¦" Tuffnut stopped him as he and his sister made this look similar to Snotlout.

"Yeah. That sounds great." He interrupted. "See, there was a chance I'd read itâ€¦" Ruffnut agreed looking dull.

"But nowâ€¦"

Snotlout stood up. "You guys read. I'll go kill stuff." He walked off with the other follow.

The twins pushed each other while Fishlegs continued telling what he had read. Hiccup walked up to Astrid and Fang. Fang looked up finishing the bread and drank water.

Astrid patted Fang's head about to leave when she looked over to Hiccup who walked up to her. "Is there anything I should know before I leave?" She asked standing up.

"Beside how _wild_ and _uncontrollable_ your sister is and doesn't know _when_ to listenâ€¦" Hiccup started telling what they days was after they left the other. "It was same old days." He told her with a smile.

Astrid nodded leaving to get to her house for tomorrow training. Fang looked up with some breads in her mouth. "You're not gotta follow your sister?" Hiccup pointed to Astrid failing to catch her attention.

Fang titled her head for second as she shallowed the food, drank water from the cup, and followed Astrid to the house. "Yeah, just like little hatchling following her mother." Hiccup muttered amusing to see her caught up to her sister heading home.

_That for _Chapter 'Three'_, I will have the next chapter up and ready for you to read. Plx leave a comment._

5. Chapter 4

Dragon Child
>_Chapter 'Four_

Dragon Translation *Talking

Later that day; Hofferson' House

Fang and Astrid returned to their house and Fang shook her body removing all the water on her while Astrid backed away from the body shaking. Astrid told Fang walking over to grab a towel.

Astrid and Fang entered their house soaking wet. Fang then shook her body removing the rain on her. "Watch it Fang! I don't want to get anymore wet." Astrid shouted covering herself from the body shake.

Fang stopped and looked up to see Astrid glaring and more wet than before. She chuckled innocent and guilty while the older sister removed the shoulder pads and walked away to start the fire.

In a minute, the fire is light, Fang hopped over to dry herself with the fire, and Astrid searched for the towels. Gobber arrived to watch over them for an hour. He settled the fire higher as he sat down on a seat.

They sat around the fire for a minute till they are warm enough to head to bed. Astrid already removed the shoulder pads and dried herself removing extra water on her. Fang done the same as she lay on Astrid's lap staring at the flame.

Astrid shook the towel on Fang's head while removing the band on her. "She really hate the rain, does she?" Gobber said glancing over to notice Fang's upsetting face.

"I know." Astrid agreed as she removed the towel and Fang shook her head to get her spiky hair.

"I will never get tired seeing that." Gobber chuckled along with Astrid nodded smirking.

They sat around a few more minutes and Gobber left the house to his. Fang lay on Astrid's lap staring at the fire dance. Astrid patted her head countless times while trying to feel calm before bed.

"Tomorrow will be a little bit different from today." Astrid spoke out breaking the silence. "So I need you to be careful and stay outâ€¦" She stopped talking to stare down to see Fang sleeping.

Fang snored soft cuddling close to Astrid and wrapped the towel around her. Astrid smiled glancing down as she picked up her sister removing the towel and headed upstairs to head to bed.

Placing her on the bed and the shoulder pads and band on the night stand, Astrid crawled into bed pulling the fur blanket over them. She closed her eyes wrapping her arms around her sister who cuddled close to the chest.

They slept through the rain resting for the tomorrow and new adventure. Astrid also protected Fang from the lightning and rain.

Morning, the cove

Fang ran through the forest jumping over the logs and roots when she jumped off the edge to land inside the cove. The Night Fury lifted its head up and looked up to see Fang not so far from where it is. Stormcutter landed as well to walk over to Fang.

The Night Fury walked over to ask them a question that has been in his mind for a while. Fang smelled and looked back to see him behind her. She hopped over to land on top of him who isn't bother by it while he glanced up to Stormcutter.

"_Tell me, how did your sister found her? How did she even found her in the beginning?" The Night Fury asked getting Stormcutter shock to have to hear that question. Fang made a look that she couldn't breathe nor move having to hear that question as well._

The Night Fury looked at both of them to see how much of shock they are in, mostly Fang. He saw pain, sorrow, loneliness, and anger in her eyes. Stormcutter took a breath an exhaled doesn't know where he should begin.

Stormcutter was about to tell the Night Fury when someone beat him to it. "My human family abandon me and my mom, Shiftcutter, has to take me in as one of her own." Fang said out loud while the Night Fury gasped in shock, but Stormcutter narrowed his eyes knowing she will say that.

"_They abandon me and different kind of humans killed my mom and my brothers and sisters." The Night Fury shook his head couldn't believe that._

Her human family abandoned her and her Dragon family was killed by different humans? For what? Why they killed them? What is it they are after?

The Night Fury was about to ask another question when they heard a shout calling for Fang. Fang ran to the wall and started climbing up what they saw her hands are shifted into a claw. They watched her vanish from the bottom that they couldn't see her anymore.

"_What she said is half true and half lie."_

The Night Fury looked over to Stormcutter to watch him sit down. "What you do mean?" He asked laying down.

_Stormcutter made a look that shock the Night Fury. "Her birth human family didn't abandon her, but couldn't rescue her from the evil humans who are after them." The Night Fury opened his eyes wide as he continued listening to the story._

Astrid waited for Fang near to Berk when she heard the bushes move and Fang jumped out of there. "Hey. I knew you would be in the coveâ€¦" She stopped talking to see the anger in her sister's eyes.

"What wrong?" Astrid asked out of concern.

Fang looked away. "Just remembering my mom." She said honesty since that is the only thing that will make her look like that.

Astrid sighed knowing she can't stop thinking about her dragon family since she did _raised_ her. She tried to think of something to make her feel better. Fang looked over and saw Astrid's smiling on her face.

"Why are you smiling?" Fang asked having a bad felling.

"I have something to show you in the Dragon Training that you will like." Astrid told her sister that made her raised an eyebrow.

Dragon Training

Fang stuck her head out behind a wooden wall as she stuck her tongue at _someone_ and ran away. She made a sharp left turn while a Deadly Nadder jumped on top of a wooden wall growling irritating. It saw her gone when Snotlout appeared on the right getting caught its attention and the chase is on.

"Today it's all about attack!" Gobber announced today training.

Gobber had set up a maze inside the arena. Astrid asked him if Fang can be in the maze as well since she told him about being upset. He doesn't mind as along she doesn't get in the way of their training. Fang, however, is too focus to get the Deadly Nadder's attention and playing prank on it.

Fang climbed on top of the bars to glance where the Deadly Nadder is going and who it chased. "Nadders are quick and light on their feet." She heard Gobber told about Deadly Nadder's skills when she found Fishlegs's going up against the dragon.

"Your job is to be quicker and lighter!" Fishlegs gasped looking up in shock to see the Deadly Nadder.

The Deadly Nadder roared raised its tail to show the spine and swung the tail to send them flying. Fishlegs ran covered himself with his shield that few got caught screaming. "I'm really beginning to question your teaching methods!" He shouted slamming into the wooden wall and breaking the spines of the shield.

Fang narrowed her eyes believing he won't be the one of the best. Knowledge, yes, in combatâ€¦ no. She let herself landing on top of the Deadly Nadder who growled in shock. It looked up to see her smiling and pushed off of it nearly fall. It growled glaring and started another chased not losing its sight.

"_When I get my claw on youâ€¦ you better beg for mercy!" The Deadly Nadder shouted glaring at Fang._

Fang ran backward. "If you can catch up!" She shouted back nearly ran into Hiccup who followed after seeing the Dragon behind them.

"_Slow poke!"_

"Look for its blind spot!" Gobber said lying on the bar. "Every dragon has one." Hiccup and Fang ran passing the twins who ran their direction as they encountered the Deadly Nadder.

"Find it, hide in it, and strike!"

Ruffnut hid behind Tuffnut as they leaded back seeing the Deadly Nadder don't see them. While sniffing, she sniffed her brother smelling a disgusting smell on him wanting to barf right now. "Do you ever bathe?" Ruffnut asked as they followed the Dragon's movement.

Fang jumped on top of the wooden wall to see the twins fighting again. The Deadly Nadder saw Fang and about to chase after her when it noticed her looking what it's in front of it.

Fang jumped on top of the wall to see the twins fighting again. The Deadly Nadder saw Fang and about to chase after her when it heard voices in front of them and noticed her trying to tell it something.

"If you don't like it, than just get your own blind spot!" Tuffnut answered Ruffnut's question as they shoved each other losing their focus on the Deadly Nadder who shook its head and finally found them glaring.

"Goodbye." Fang muttered sitting down with her right leg inside and left leg hanging.

Ruffnut slammed her head against Tuffnut's head. "How about I give you one?!" Tuffnut slammed against her back glaring at each other.

They heard a growled slamming their each other against each other and Ruffnut quickly got her and Tuffnut out of the Deadly Nadder's spark flame in time. Fang laughed at the twins as she didn't know that Snotlout is behind her smirking.

"Blind spot, yes." Gobber looked amuse resting on his hand. "Deaf spot, not so much." He titled his head as he chuckled.

Fang was about to jump to another wooden wall when she heard a screamed that made her jumped in the air instead. Gobber, Fishlegs, Hiccup, Astrid, and the twins looked up to see Fang and the Deadly Nadder caught her on its back.

Gobber watched Astrid, Snotlout, and Hiccup ran by while Astrid bring pain to Snotlout who grunted in pain. "Oh, that lad is going to have a big hearing after thisâ€¦" He muttered glaring when Hiccup caught his attention with one of his Night Fury's question again.

"Hey, so, how would one sneak up on a Night Fury?" Hiccup asked not even focusing on the training.

"No one's ever met one and lived to tell the tales. Now, get in there!" Gobber replied rubbing his forehead as he yelled snapping to the training.

"_You okay?" The Deadly Nadder asked looking back out of concern._

Fang held on to the Deadly Nadder like her life is depending on it. "Noâ€¦" She said honesty clutching on the back. "He is a big jerk."

"_Don't worry. I will handle this. Just hang on." The Deadly Nadder said searching for Snotlout._

"_Okay."_

Hiccup backed up still asking. "I know, I know, but hypotheticallyâ€¦" He was cut when a Viking called out to him.

"Hiccup!" Astrid whispered shouting.

Hiccup turned around to see Astrid and Snotlout crouching against the wooden wall. "Get down." Astrid whispered signaling with her shield and Snotlout nodded glaring.

Astrid peeked her head out to see the Deadly Nadder coming out from the corner sniffing. She pulled her head back quickly as she looked over to see Fang has the frighten look on her face like yesterday. She glared Snotlout who shrugged his shoulders 'Why are you glaring at me for?' look.

Astrid glanced inhaling and exhaling for an opening as she rolled to the other side. Snotlout followed along Hiccup who failed and got the Dragon's attentions. It chased after him smelling he is not the one.

The Deadly Nadder has lost Hiccup, which doesn't bother it, and jumped on top of the wooden wall roaring to land in front of Astrid and Snotlout. They stopped to see the Dragon crouching and glaring at _one _of them.

"Huh, is it just me, or is that Dragon is glaring at me like it has something against me?" Snotlout asked pointing with his hand holding a mace.

They watched the Deadly Nadder shaking its body glaring _definitely _at Snotlout. "It's just you." Astrid told Snotlout guessing why.

Fang peeked out to see them in front her and the Deadly Nadder. "That is him." She told the Dragon looking at Snotlout.

Snotlout knew Fang told the Dragon on him as he glared and threw his mace toward the Dragon to miss, but nearly hit Fang's head. Fang pulled her head back in time to see the mace hit the wooden wall. The Deadly Nadder laughed mocking him slowly approaching them.

Snotlout stood there and looked over to see Astrid completely glaring at him wanting to kill him. "The sun was in my eyes, Astrid!" Snotlout said making an excuse.

Astrid glared at the Deadly Nadder then Snotlout as she ran. Snotlout looked over and ran as well to dodge the spark flame covering himself with the shield. "What do you want me to do, block out the sun? I could do that but I don't have time!" He made another excuse to see she is not paying attention to him

Snotlout turned left leaving Astrid to be chased by the Deadly Nadder not knowing he is not in front of it anymore. Fang was about to tell the Dragon when she saw Astrid is going to turn left and Hiccup in front of them still talking to Gobber about the Night Fury.

"They probablyâ€¦" Hiccup stopped watching the dragon chasing someone he doesn't know who. "â€¦take the daytime off, right? Like a cat." Hiccup continued.

The Deadly Nadder slammed into the wooden wall knocking every wall down to chase after Astrid. Fang shifted left and right on the back to avoid the broken piece from the wood. "Not liking this!" Fang shouted at top of her lungs.

"_Well tell that boy to stop running so I can hurt him!" The Deadly Nadder snapped back trying to catch up to Astrid._

"_That is not the human you are chasing though."_

"Has anyone ever seen one napping?" Hiccup asked being slammed into by Ruffnut, Fishlegs, and Tuffnut.

Gobber shouted. "Hiccup!" He got him to turn around to see what is going on behind him.

Astrid jumped on top the wooden wall with the Deadly Nadder behind her. Fang held on watching the Dragon chased Astrid and climbed, well destroyed, the wooden wall. Astrid jumped two walls as she got to the end with Hiccup below her.

"Hiccup!" Astrid yelled with the Deadly Nadder behind her and jumped down toward Hiccup.

"_Watch out!" Fang yelled going to fall off._

Hiccup started to panic watching Astrid falling toward him. Fang gasped as she fall off the Deadly Nadder. The Dragon Child rolled on the ground while the dragon crashed into the remaining wooden wall.

The woods flew toward Fang burying her underneath. She opened her eyes to see herself bury and completely stuck cause of the loop connected to something with her legs bury as well. Astrid is on top of Hiccup with her axe stuck in the shield.

The twins laughed seeing them on top of each other. "Oh!~ Love on the battlefield." Tuffnut pointed how funny looking they are in. "She could do better." Ruffnut told her brother leaning over.

Astrid struggled to get up with her axe stuck in Hiccup's shield. "Let meâ€¦ why don't youâ€¦?" He tried to help her out, but that isn't helping in her option, when Astrid finally stood up glaring at Hiccup.

The Deadly Nadder knocked the woods off getting Astrid's attention and tried to retrieve her axe out the shield. Struggling to get the axe out, Hiccup grunted in pain from each pull he felt from Astrid. So she grabbed the shield out his hand. She swung the shield to the Dragon hard.

The Deadly Nadder grunted in pain walking away from Astrid. "Well done, Astrid." Gobber said giving her credit.

Astrid panted then turned around glaring down at Hiccup, who covered himself after she hit the dragon.

"Is this some kind of a joke to you?" she asked seeing him uncovered and looked up.

"Our parent's war is about to become ours." Astrid lectured coldly with the other behind her.

"Figure out which side you're on." She then pointed her axe close to his face.

Hiccup saw the axe moved away and the other leaving. He had mess up this training and thinking what she had said. He had to figure out which side he is _really_ on.

Vikingâ€¦ or dragon?

Fang struggled to escape while she felt the loop connected to something and her legs bury something heavy. She slowly started to panic couldn't escape as she cried not knowing what the cry. At the same times, she slowly remembered she did the same cry some time ago.

Gobber, the recruits, and the Deadly Nadder heard the cry from Fang. They found the cry unusual and unheard before. Astrid started to panic as she searched for her sister along with Hiccup's help.

"Fang!" Astrid shouted rushing over to where Fang is when the Deadly Nadder beat her to it.

The Deadly Nadder smelled Fang's scent and dug the woods away to found Fang, but also found the loop is connected to the wooden and her left leg buried. It released the spines and swung the tail luckily they did not hit her.

The Deadly Nadder smelled for Fang's scent as it found her. The dragon dug the woods kicking them off Fang's legs.

"_I am stuck!" Fang shouted trying to move._

The Deadly Nadder knocked the wood to the left with Fang following it. The dragon saw the band is connected to the wood as it bit on the leathers. Fang watched the leathers slowly torn as she was freed.

Fang walked off to shake her body from the impact. The Deadly Nadder walked over to check on her. The Vikings watched the dragons cleaning the Dragon Child from the dust and concerned for her. Gobber knew Stoick won't like this if he found about the dragon and the band.

Gobber saw Fang is fine since they are in the arena. He decided to keep this a secret from the chief. He found her having so much fun with this, which he couldn't ruin her fun this time. What will Stoick do if he found out about his?

Will he goes berserk or found this adorable?

Cove

Fang slept with Stormcutter after Gobber have to put the Deadly Nadder away. She got all upset and ran off for that. Hiccup have her with him again when he saw the other around Astrid and it is best to Snotlout away from Fang since Astrid has a bone to pick with him.

Getting something from the village, Stormcutter and Fang slept under ton of trees close to the cove. Fang lay upside down with her feet hanging in the air as her legs slid to Stormcutter's head hard. He lift his head up fast knocking his niece to sit up as they yawned loud.

Fang gave a stretch on her arms as she scratched her stomach. She, suddenly, smelled fish and followed the scents. Hiccup and Astrid agreed, even Gobber that Fang have the band off since what happen at the arena. Stoick doesn't need to know what Fang has been up to except following.

Walking over to the edge, Fang saw a fish laying around with a shield few inches away from the fish. Hiccup peeked out from behind looking around for the Night Fury. Stormcutter came over to see him behind the shield as well.

"_This will be interesting." Stormcutter said to Fang sitting down beside his niece._

"_Yep."_

Hiccup found this a chance to walk in the opening when he tried to push the shield. He raised an eyebrow looking at the shield to pull. Going under the shield, he pushed and pulled the shield between the two rocks to found it completely stuck.

Sighing can't use the shield the anymore, Hiccup picked up the fish and walked through the opening field with no protection. Fang lay on her side resting her head on her left hand. She smelled the Night Fury and looked down to found him behind a rock glaring down at Hiccup.

Hiccup heard a sound and turned around to found the Night Fury glaring down at him. He watched him crouching down to the ground while not leaving his sight off of him. The dragon smelled the fish as he stood in front of the Viking teen glaring harder.

"_You think this will end badly for him?" Stormcutter asked seeing the connection between them happenings._

Fang glanced down seeing something about them that they are meant to meet. "No. Something good is going to happen." She told her uncle not giving some direct answer.

Hiccup stretched out his arm to give the fish nervous and frighten. The Night Fury crouched over to get closer to retrieve the fish when he saw the Viking teen lean forward with a weapon showing. He crouched back glaring and growling.

Hiccup pulled back panting as he revealed the dagger in his fur belt. Slowly reaching the weapon, the Night Fury growled alert for any wrong move.

Hiccup gasped in shock and grabbed the dagger to pull and drop it on the ground. The Night Fury watched him grabbing the weapon with his foot and tossing it into the water.

The Night Fury knew right away the Viking teen isn't a threat as he quickly sat down looking adorable with his eyes opened wide. Fang whined suddenly getting their attention to her who looked at them with a confusion look.

Hiccup shook his head with his arms spread out wondering why she didn't tell him where she was. Fang doesn't understand why he is looking like that as she titled her head adorable while growling. He shook his head again turning back to the Night Fury still sitting with his eyes open wide adorable.

Hiccup reached out his arm against with little confidence and fear. The Night Fury crouched over lowering his body still alert as he opened his mouth reveal teeth less. The Viking teen found that stranger remembering he saw him with teeth.

"Huh, Toothless? I could've sworn you hadâ€¦" Hiccup muttered to himself confused and let his guard when he saw the Night Fury retracted the teeth out of nowhere and bit the fish in half eating them both.

Hiccup watched the Night Fury ate both half while swallowing and licking his mouth. "â€¦teeth." Hiccup spoke out holding his hands together still in shock and his eyes opened wide unable to blink.

The Night Fury turned back to Hiccup as he leaned him back for some reason Hiccup doesn't know why. The Viking teen walked backward toward the rock while knowing what he wants.

"No, no, no." Hiccup told the Night Fury as he fall backward to see his eyes silt still staring at him. "I-I don't have any more." He shook his head in fear doesn't want to be eaten by him.

Fang knew he won't him since that is not in him. She jumped down quietly to try not to startle the Night Fury. Stormcutter glanced over to see the dragon barfing something out from his stomach. The Night Fury regurgitated half of the fish tail on to Hiccup's lap.

Hiccup made a disgusting look and sound to see the fish on his lap. The Night Fury sat on his back leg panting hard while staring. They stared at each other while Hiccup sat up comfortable with the fish in his hands. Fang walked over sitting next to the dragon.

Fang walked over to sit next to the Night Fury saying hi to him. The Night Fury growled saying hi back as he stared back to Hiccup who quickly looked back and forth to her and the dragon. _"What does he want?"_ Hiccup whispered asked Fang trying not to leave his sight on the dragon and move.

Fang answered along with the Night Fury with a look to the fish then him. Hiccup quickly looked down at the fish then them who expected him to eat it. Sighing doesn't have a choice, he slowly raised the fish to his face trying not to think about the taste and ate with a disgusted look.

The Night Fury looked shock to see a Viking _actually_ ate the fish raw. Hiccup raised the fish showing he has took a bite nodding. The dragon then told him to swallow by gulping, which he couldn't believe he _have_ to swallow the fish.

Hiccup turned to Fang with a look 'Is he serious?' and saw her nodded. He made a quick pray and swallowed holding by the puking and finally ate the fish shivering disgusted from the taste.

"_He is clearly different from the other humans." The Night Fury said as he smacked his mouth to Hiccup._

"_He is." Fang said looking up. "You think he can be trusted?" She asked him smiling._

Hiccup answered with a smiled _showing_ he like the fish, which he doesn't. The Night Fury narrowed his eyes thinking if the smile is good or bad. Seeing him still smiling, he then copied him as he tried to smile.

Hiccup watched the dragon is _actually _trying to smile. The Night Fury has smiled growling while Fang held in the laughter to see how goofy he looked. Hiccup set the fish down, which Fang grabbed, and reached out his hand toward him.

The Night Fury saw the hand and snarled flying away from him. Hiccup stood up watching from the other side to see him breathing fire at the ground while spinning circle. Fang walked over eating the fish in her hand.

"That is his way when he is laying down, if he wanted to breathe at the ground or not." Fang told Hiccup with her mouth half full.

Hiccup looked over seeing her eating a raw fish. "How can you handle eating the fist like that?" He asked and watched her look down at the fist.

Fang shrugged doesn't know and walked away taking another bite. The Night Fury stomped on the burnt ground as he got comfortable to sleep. He heard the bird chipping and looked up to see the bird and its flying away.

The Night Fury then glanced down to see Hiccup sitting in front of him with another smile and waving. He dropped his ears narrowing his eyes as he switched position. Hiccup saw him used his tail fin to cover his face to avoid looking at him.

Thinking this is a good chance, Hiccup scouted up getting close to touch when the Night Fury lifted his tail up seeing him. Hiccup quickly sat up walking away awkward and the dragon then walked away as well finding another place to sleep.

Fang followed the Night Fury to sleep as well since Stormcutter have left to do something. She wanted to know what he has been doing when he is gone.

The sun is setting while the Night Fury hanged upside down sleeping on the tree and Fang lay against the tree lowering her head and arms crossed. He moved his tail blinking from waking as he saw Hiccup still at the cove doing something on the dirt.

Fang slowly woke up and gave a big yawn stretching her arms as she smacked her lip. She glanced down to see the Night Fury on the ground walking toward Hiccup. She jumped and followed him to see what he is doing over there as well.

Hiccup drew the Night Fury's head resting his head on his knuckle, which he doesn't know they are awake. While drawing, he heard breathing and saw the shadow over him as he continued to draw. Fang climbed on the back to get better view of the drawing.

They watched him drawing on the dirt following the movement on the hand. Seeing he has finished the head and half of the body, the Night Fury has an idea and walked off to grab something.

Hiccup heard heavy footsteps and tree snapped as he looked up to see what is going on. The Night Fury has a tree in his mouth and started drawing on the ground like Hiccup. Fang is still on the back telling where to go and draw.

"_Go there. Now there. Don't forget over." Fang pointed every direction while the Night Fury followed her direction._

Hiccup followed the Night Fury and saw him stop to look at him and make a dot continuing drawing. The Night Fury draw a line behind him while the leaves hit the back of his head. Hiccup looked at the ground surprise while the Night Fury and Fang looked at the ground as well nodding.

The lines are around Hiccup of the big success while Hiccup looked at the lines and walked around to step on the line not knowing. The Night Fury growled getting him to flinch and look down to lift his foot up. He stopped growling with a soft purr.

Hiccup found this interesting and stepped on the line again to hear him growl. Lifting the foot back up to hear the growl stopped, Hiccup stepped on the ling one more times see The Night Fury leaned forward growling.

Hiccup lifted his up and stepped _over_ the line to see the Night Fury purred titling his head. Smiling, he stepped over the lines watching where he is stepping with Fang watched him whining.

Hiccup made around the lines to stop in front the Night Fury who breathed on his head. He turned around to see him looking down with his eyes opened wide. Reaching out his hand, the Dragon pulled his head back couple of times as he growled uncomfortable.

Hiccup pulled his hand back to see him looking back up stop growling. He took deep breath and exhaled as he looked away and reached out his hand again waiting for the pain from him.

Fang looked at both of them whining of concern. She saw the Night Fury glance at the hand then Hiccup. He slowly reached his hand to touch with his nose who flinched in fear as he looked up. Hiccup saw the Night Fury has finally trust him.

The Night Fury pulled his head back as he snorted and ran away. Hiccup looked at the ground thinking on what just happen. Fang walked over to poke the face of concern who isn't happy with that. "I am going to die very soon." Hiccup said walking out the cove.

"Why?" Fang asked following.

"Your sister will murder me if I'll be the one who will have to _kill_ a dragon."

Fang stopped thinking about it as she whined and continued to follow. Astrid will _definitely_ kill him and be at her if he _did_ win the honor. Their life is in the line when it came to Astrid and her competitive thing.

_That for _Chapter 'Four'_, I will have the next chapter up and ready for you to read. Plx leave a comment._

6. Chapter 5

Dragon Child
>_Chapter 'Five'_

Dragon Translation *Talking

Later that Day; Berk

Hiccup and Fang arrived to Berk going to meet the other at the watchtower when Gobber told them where to meet up before departure. Fang jumped around chasing after chickens and baby yaks. Hiccup couldn't stop thinking about Toothless, which he named from his retractable teeth.

They approached the steps to the Great Hall when they saw Astrid sitting and waiting for them, mostly Fang. "Astrid!" Fang shouted ran over to pressure on her big sister's head.

Hiccup chuckled to see the bond between them. "Fang. What did I told you about doing that?" Astrid chuckled struggling to push her younger sister off.

Fang stopped and sat down like a good obey dragon hatchling. "What have she been doing out there with your?" Astrid then turned to Hiccup questioned him like an over protective sister she is. Fang soon wondered off not so far from them.

"Fang ran off when I leave my sight off of her, I searched, she popped out and scared me _really_ good, passed out for hours, and she hanged around till I woke up."

Hiccup told Astrid the _exact_ same thing happened to him when they were kids. When they were kids, Hiccup was tasked to watch Fang for a moment when she vanished. He went to search for her at the entry of the forest when Fang jumped down from a tree scaring him.

Hiccup screamed in fear when he passed out of exhaustion. Astrid gave a look thinking should she believe him. She was there at that moment when he was scared and passed out.

Remaining silence, Astrid walked off to meet other and Fang saw her leaving and followed hopping like a rabbit ahead of her. Hiccup sighed relief that the big sister of the Dragon Child believed him. She always made him nervous when he have to lie to her.

"I need Fang to teach me how to lie while staying calm. Astrid always made me nervous when she made her look."

They arrived to the watchtower to see Gobber, Snotlout, Fishlegs, and the twins arrived as well with foods. Walking up to the top and eating dinner, Gobber started telling a story from the times how he lost his left hand and right foot.

Fang ate a chicken and five fishes sitting behind Astrid. "â€¦And with one twist, he took my and swallowed it whole!" Astrid patted Fang's head while Gobber told them when the dragon ate his left hand.

"I saw the look on his faceâ€¦ I was delicious." Gobber said thinking what the dragon was thinking, which Fang rolled her eyes. "He must have passed the word, because it wasn't a month before another one of them took my leg." He saw to the other, who pay attention, the wooden right leg.

Fishlegs, Snotlout, and the twins gasped amazed seeing the leg. "Isn't it weird to think your hand was inside a dragon?" Fishlegs soon asked a weirdest question to other getting their attentions.

"Like if your mind was still in control of it, you could have killed the dragon from inside by crushing his heart or something." Astrid lifted her head up and turned her head of stun while Tuffnut made a dull look on his face on one of Fishlegs crazy and dumb statement.

Fang looked at Fishlegs as well having the chicken leg in her mouth. She hanged on wooden with a dull expression like Tuffnut. Fishlegs looked at them with a confusion why they are looking at him like that.

"I swear, I'm so _angry_ right now." Snotlout spoke out clutching his fist on the stick in the chicken in anger. "I'll avenge your beautiful hand and your beautiful foot." He told Gobber making his promise.

"I'll chop off the legs of every dragon I fightâ€¦ with my face." Snotlout pointed to his face what he will do when he came face to face of one of the dragons.

Fang rolled eyes grunting as she sat back down eating one of the fishes. Astrid smiled as she looked back agreeing with her about Snotlout's promise. Gobber then shook his head disagreeing with Snotlout's method as he broke a chicken leg.

"It's the wings and the tails you really want." Gobber told Snotlout then the other recruits. "If it can't fly, it can't get away." He waved the wing around.

"A downed dragon is a dead dragon."

Hiccup opened his eyes wide remembering Toothless' tail fin and combined to Gobber's tips. Fang growled finishing her foods while doesn't like the training method. She wanted to leave and don't want to return to Berk, but couldn't.

Something kept Fang from leaving Berk, is it from liking the villageâ€¦ or is it from Hiccup and Astrid doesn't want her to leave? Maybeâ€¦ Gobber yawned standing to stretch his arms. "All right, I'm off to bed. You should be, too." He tossed the wing to Fang who caught it and started eating it right away.

"Tomorrow we get to the big boys, slowly but surely making our way up to the Monstrous Nightmare." The recruits started to get excited and thrill for tomorrow than Astrid who remained calm.

"But who'll win the honor of killing it?" Tuffnut put his chicken down on the torch grinning.

"It's gonna be me. It's my destiny." He pointed himself resting back, his feet by the torch, and hands behind his head.

"See?"

Fishlegs gasped. "Your mom let you get a tattoo?" He asked unbelievable what he saw while Astrid looked up from something else.

Astrid saw Hiccup's gone with his fishes still whole. "It's not a tattoo, it's a birthmark." Tuffnut told Fishlegs in the background.

"Ok, I've been stuck with you since birth, and that was never there before." Ruffnut said disagreeing what her brother said.

"Yes, it was. You've just never seen me from the left side until now."

Walking up to the steps, Astrid saw Hiccup rushing down to the steps like he is in a hurry. She doesn't know should be worry why he is in a hurry, which it shouldn't matter her. She headed back to sit when then Snotlout's shout caught her and the other's attention.

"Hey! Where did my chicken go?!" Snotlout glared at them asking furious.

They glanced to see Snotlout's chicken gone along with their foods, even the fish and Gobber who jumped surprise. Looking around to see no Vikings to vanish like that with their foods, they heard chomping and looked up to found their culprit and foods.

Fang sat at top eating all the foods fast. "You little thiefâ€¦ get down here with our foods!" Tuffnut shouted at top of his lungs ordering to give back their foods.

Suddenly, chicken and fish bones started to fall on top of the twins and Snotlout also the torch. Gobber chuckled shaking his head as he looked back to see his interchangeable hand is still intact. Fang is one silence hatchling to sneak around like a true dragon.

"Come Fang. Let's go home." Gobber glanced over watching Astrid headed home before calling her sister.

Fang jumped down on the steps safely when she felt so full that she started to roll to the bottom screaming in shock. Astrid followed wondering how that happen while the twins and Snotlout laughed.

Gobber smacked their head hard while glaring of disappointed. "Hm. That wasâ€¦ interesting." Fishlegs said of shock and concern.

Early Morning

Astrid sat up and stretched her arms from a good sleep when she heard grunting. Glancing over, she saw Fang is still home haven't left like she always do every morning when the sun first raised. She chuckled seeing the face of discomfort on her little sister's face.

"Ya'll alright, Fang?" Astrid asked smirking while knowing this will happen. "Have a good _sleep_?" She asked another question getting off the bed.

Fang growled couldn't speak as she glared watching Astrid equipped the shoulder pads on and grabbed her axe. She slowly sat up and stood on her feet to fell on the bed grunting long. Astrid chuckled dropping her head amusement to see her like this.

"I have an idea that you will feel much better." Astrid said walking downstairs while Fang looked up wondering what it is.

In the arena, Gobber has six empty buckets and settled it down as he smiled having everything prepared. "There. Now, I have to fill these buckets." He muttered to himself.

Gobber soon heard shouting and looked up gasping in shock to see Fang jumped _through_ the bars. He backed away knocking the six buckets to watch her roll on ground grinning and no wounds. Astrid grabbed the bars in time to stop herself startling the old Viking from the bang.

"Fang! If I haven't grabbed the bars, I will end up with a broken bones or limbs!" Astrid shouted glaring at her sister panting hard.

Fang started to laugh and turned around to shake her butt at her sister. "Okay, that does it." Astrid muttered jumping down.

Astrid managed to land on her feet as she dropped her axe on the ground. "Oh, boyâ€¦" Gobber grunted taking a step back.

Astrid tackled Fang into the ground hard as they started wrestling each other. They punched and kicked each other while Gobber walked over to pull them apart. "Astrid. You know you will be training soon, so save _that_ energy for the dragon." He remained her who nodded agreeing with him.

"As for you, little _Dragon Child_â€¦" Gobber then turned to Fang who hanged upside down. "You need to leave your sister alone so she can get ready for training." He chuckled seeing how adorable she is.

Fang stared at Gobber for a moment as she escaped from his grasp and wondered off like a dragon. She smelled on the ground searching to play with something while the two Vikings chuckled shaking their heads.

Fang soon came across a door that have the Monstrous Nightmare scent. She approached the door to be push by the dragon banging on the door roaring. She growled at the door glaring as she kicked the door to be roared at again.

Gobber and Astrid watched Fang kick the door then run off to bang the door. "You're not going to stop her?" Astrid asked Gobber looking up.

"She's your sister. You're stop her." Gobber told the older sister with a grin.

Astrid rolled her eyes when they heard a giant roar and watched Fang running up to them whining loud. She ran behind her big sister hiding while the Monstrous Nightmare's laughter was heard behind the door.

Gobber pulled his pants up glaring and exhaling strong. "Ai. I'll have a big talk to that lava pit torch for a second." He told the two girls marching over to the door.

Astrid bent down checking up on Fang. "You're okay?" She asked patting her head.

Fang panted hard getting the last torch inside of her out like a dragon. Astrid calmed down her sister with a pat on the head smiling. The Monstrous Nightmare gave a last bang on the door that Gobber had enough and walked over to the two sisters.

"He won't be mean to you again, Fang." Gobber told Fang smiling.

"Don't you worry, lass, that big bully won't be mean to you again." Gobber told Fang with a smile.

"_We'll see about that in the future." The Monstrous Nightmare muttered behind the door._

Fang quickly faced the door glaring as she last heard a growl sounding the Monstrous Nightmare is going to sleep. "Ai. While I am getting everything prepare, why don't you girls wonder off till the Dragon Training start after breakfast? He told the girls who nodded and walked off.

They exited the arena to head to the village. "Alright. Why don't you wonder off?" Astrid told Fang pointing with her axe. "I don't want Snotlout and the twins mess with you when they wake up."

Fang nodded rapidly fast and ran off to the cove. Astrid shouted to Fang reminding her about the training.

"Okay!" Fang replied jumping in the air then landing over the entry to the bridge.

Cove

Fang ran through the forest as she arrived to the cove. She jumped over the edge to land on top of Stormcutter who he and Toothless expected her. "Wow! You scared me, Fang!" Hiccup shouted jumping from his spot surprise as he looked up where she has jumped off to.

Fang laughed of Hiccup's reaction when she noticed he is holding a heavy basket and something in his arms. She wondered what it is as she was licked by her uncle. She jumped down and shook her body getting to Hiccup to laugh along with Toothless whose she ignored completely.

"_Ready to go flying?" Stormcutter asked grabbing Fang on the band._

Fang laughed showing she is ready. "Going for a small trip?" Hiccup asked dropping the basket.

Fang nodded. "Bye-bye!" She waved and Stormcutter took off to the sky.

Stormcutter flew around the sky while avoiding the clouds. Fang dodged couple of them, but ended up with some hitting her face. He laughed as he dove down a little so his niece can see Berk.

Fang glanced over to see how tiny the houses are, but the Vikings are tinier than the houses. Without knowing her sky blue eyes changing blue eyes and pupils slit, she glanced down to see the grownups walking around, shopping, and talking.

Fang turned her head to found the twins fighting each other, Snotlout and Fishlegs standing behind them, and Gobber and Astrid watching them. Astrid shook her head irritating of the twins' fighting.

Stormcutter flew over the ocean and swift left and right avoiding the stone pillars in the ocean. He glanced up to see Fang having fun in the sky again. Looking back in front of him, Fang glanced around seeing how much this is.

Feeling back in the sky again, Fang doesn't want anything else to replace this as she took a deep breathe. She smiled happy hearing the wing blowing in her ears when she came across a sound she never heard before.

Stormcutter heard silence and looked up to see Fang looking out at the ocean with a blank expression on her face. "Fang." He called out to notice no respond from her.

"_Fang?" Stormcutter heard no respond again._

Stormcutter believed she is thinking about her mother, but doesn't know, since Fang made a look he never seen before. Fang looked around to ocean beyond the point where she can't see. He flew back to the cove landing next to the pond.

Right before Fang could jump down, they heard a loud splash and quickly looked up to see both Hiccup and Toothless in the water while Hiccup cheered trying to stay in the surface.

"_Do I even what to know?" Fang asked her uncle looking shock, confuse, and dull of them in the water._

"_Iâ€¦ have no idea." Stormcutter replied narrowing his eyes feeling the same way, but calmer._

Dragon Training

"Today is about teamwork."

The door blasted open with a gas coming out of the cage. The gas then turned into a mist surrounding the inside of the arena. Fang gasped of joy smiling as she jumped toward the mist leaving Astrid's side.

Fang jumped around playing with the mist. "Now, a wet dragon head can't light its fire." Gobber said walking backward. "The Hideous Zippleback is extra tricky." He told the recruits, which he paired them into two.

Gobber teamed Hiccup and Fishlegs, Snotlout and Tuffnut, and Astrid and Ruffnut. Fang bumped into Astrid accidently, luckily she didn't spilled any drop of water. "Be careful where you are wondering around, Fang." "Watch where you are going Fang." She shouted to her sister seeing her vanish in the mist.

Fang's laughter was heard in the mist. "I have to admit. She is actually adorable when she laugh and wonder off like a baby." Ruffnut told the big sister chuckling.

"You have no idea how it _feel_ if you have her in the house."

Gobber chuckled knowing the feeling while the Hideous Zippleback growled sounding like a gecko. "One head breathes gas, the other head lights it." The recruits walked around in circle of each caution and alert for either head of the Dragon.

"Your job is to know which is which."

Fishlegs started mutter of the Hideous Zippleback states in fear. "Razor-sharp serrated teeth that inject venom for pre digestion.

Prefers ambush attach, crushing its victims..." Hiccup snapped at Fishlegs getting annoyed and wanting to stop his mumbling.

"Will you please stop that?!" Hiccup whispered yelling which Fishlegs jumped startle and stopped mumbling.

Fang laughed hearing the whole thing as she walked around trying to find the dragon in the mist. Searching with careful and patience, she smelled two scents and slowly turned around to see Tuffnut and Snotlout popped out into her face.

Fang screamed running away as she ran into something making a loud crash. The other heard the crash and Fang's scream while Astrid clutched her hands on to the bucket handle in anger. She is not the only one concern when Fang whined in pain and looked up to see _someone_ glancing down.

Snotlout and Tuffnut laughed leaning on each other while couldn't breathe. "Did you see that look on that Freak's face?!" Snotlout asked Tuffnut through the laughing.

"Yeah! She will "Ahh!" and ran into things!" Tuffnut made the expression of Fang's shock face responding through the laughing.

They stopped laughing and continued their training. "Ah. Still, if that dragon shows either of his faces, I'm gonnaâ€¦" Snotlout said searching for the Hideous Zippleback's head when he saw a shadow beyond the light.

"There!" Snotlout signal Tuffnut as they tossed the water at the _dragon's head_.

"Hey!"

They heard two girls scream as the mist absorbed the water to reveal Ruffnut and angry Astrid. "It's us, idiots!" Ruffnut told them glaring and furious, but not that much furious than Astrid with her death glare on her face.

"Your butts are getting bigger. We thought you were a dragon." Tuffnut told the girls with his one of excuses as he chuckled making fun of them.

Snotlout stood there smirking soon making a stun look of that statement. "Not that there's anything wrong with a dragonsque figure." He replied that Astrid punched him _real _hard that he fall and Ruffnut tossed her bucket at Tuffnut's face making him fall as well.

Tuffnut lifted his head up feeling the pain on his face when he was dragged into the mist screaming with his helmet fall off. "Wait." Ruffnut was about to rush to her brother's side when Astrid stopped her.

Astrid ready her bucket for any heads popped out when she and Ruffnut was knocked off their by a tail swift. The blond Viking has her bucket also knocked out her hand while the twin sister was pressed by her brother knocking off her helmet on her head.

Tuffnut screamed at top of his lungs. "Oh, I'm hurt! I am very much hurt!" He shouted running past Fishlegs and Hiccup.

"Chances of survival are dwindling to single digits now."Fishlegs said out loud with Hiccup turning to him.

Now it's their turn.

One of the head of the Hideous Zippleback popped out within the mist heading to Fishlegs gecko growling. Fishlegs screamed trumping left and right as she remembered the bucket and splashed the head to see him breathing out gas gecko chuckling.

"Wrong head." Fishlegs said chuckling nervously.

The gas head breathed out gas fast at Fighlegs who screamed frighten a lot more. "Fishlegs!" Gobber shouted watching him running off screaming like Tuffnut.

The gas head chased after Fishlegs breathing out gas still when he saw Hiccup. The spark head appeared in front of the scrawny Viking sparking his mouth twice. They lifted their head up revealing the whole while Gobber gave the signal to Hiccup to use the bucket.

"Now, Hiccup!" Hiccup ran up and tossed the water up to the sky.

However he didn't give so much strength into the toss, the water splashed down between Hiccup and the Hideous Zippleback. Hiccup shrugged his shoulders he is in trouble now, disappointed, and in fear.

"Oh, come on." The Hideous Zippleback lowered both heads and growled knocking him to the ground and spreading their wings.

"Hiccup!" Gobber ran forward when he stopped stun to see what is happening now.

"Back, back, back!" Hiccup slowly stood up as he pushed his arms while the Hideous Zippleback pulled their heads back backing up toward the cage.

Each comments and the dragon pushed back to the cage, the other Vikings watched what it's happening stun and can't believe what they are seeing. The elder of Berk appeared to see what it's happening for herself.

"Now, don't you make me tell you again! Yes, that right. Back into your cage." He told the Hideous Zippleback as he realized the dragon is in the cage.

Hiccup looked back as he turned to the dragon. "Now think about what you've done." He removed the fur coat to reveal an eel on his shoulder.

The Hideous Zippleback watched the Viking toss the eel inside as they scouted away from it as far as possible afraid. Hiccup closed the door hearing the fear from the dragon and rubbed his hands on his fur coat to see the other looking at him stun still, even the bucket fall out of Fishlegs' loose grips.

"Ok, so are we done? Cause I've got some things I need toâ€¦" Hiccup began walking away from this awkwardness. "Yep, I'll see you tomorrow!" He shouted leaving when he remembered about Fang.

"Fang?" Hiccup called out getting Astrid snapped out of her stun and looked around as well.

The other followed, which Snotlout and Tuffnut backed away, when Gobber and Ruffnut stopped them. "Fang!" Astrid shouted looking up see Fang outside the arena whining.

Both Hiccup and Astrid ran out the arena to Fang to see her left foot is stuck inside the bucket. "Hold her. I will pull it off." Hiccup told Astrid who didn't show no issue being order around.

Hiccup started to pull the bucket while Astrid pull Fang the opposite direction struggling hard. Fang grunted from the pulling as she didn't know a strange feeling coming from her foot. The Dragon child looked at her foot to see different sharp and color on her skin.

Fang screamed destroying the bucket as she, Astrid, and Hiccup fall backward. The sharp of her feet returned to normal while the other rushed up to see the Dragon Child free from the bucket.

Astrid, Fang, and Hiccup sat up while Astrid hugged Fang happy to see her sister alright. They slowly stood up when Fang saw Snotlout and Tuffnut and growled. The two gulped in fear trying to escape if wasn't for Tuffnut and Gobber holding them and Astrid _released_ the beast.

Gobber and Tuffnut moved out the way while Snotlout and Tuffnut screamed at top of their lungs. They and the other watched the Dragon Child _destroyed _two boys. Fishlegs looked away once a while and Tuffnut laughed clutching on to herself from falling.

"Y'all deserved that and don't ask for help from either of us." Gobber told Snotlout and Tuffnut crossing his arms.

Astrid stood there crossing her arms and Hiccup stood next to her with a grin on his face. "I teach her well." Astrid muttered smirking and proud to see her training done well.

"I can completely see that well." Hiccup told not leaving her sight off the _punishment_.

The next couple of days, Fang spent her times with Hiccup since Snotlout and Tuffnut, mostly Snotlout, kept picking on her during training. So she stayed with Hiccup for safety and wanted quiet times to sleep. She lay on her uncle in the cove as they looked up to see Hiccup arrived a saddle.

Hiccup smiled showing it to Toothless who shook its butt and ran away with Hiccup chasing after it. "You think they can make a change between both humans and dragons?" Fang asked Stormcutter watching the chase.

_They ran by again with Toothless sticking his tongues at Hiccup behind him. "I thinkâ€¦ probably." Stormcutter answered his niece shaking his head doesn't know how to answer that question._

Hiccup finally equipped the saddle on Toothless as they took off for a flight test one. He even tied a rope on the rope so he can pull the fan to change direction. In the air, the scrawny Viking pull getting the Night Fury flew left roaring in shock and him fall forward into the water.

Fang and Stormcutter looked away from the impact and fail of flight test one. They sighed doesn't know how they will make it out throughout the days.

Day two, Hiccup returned with another attachment to saddle so he won't fall off. He tied the rope on the fin and his left ankle as they took off doing flight test two. Fang and Stormcutter watched them as they saw Hiccup pull the fin to cause fall on top.

Hiccup trembled through the tall grass and heard Toothless to rush back and see what he is seeing. Another fail, Hiccup trembled through the tall grass while Stormcutter flew above him. The scrawny Viking and Fang heard Toothless while he rushed back to see what's happening. Toothless rolled around on the grass enjoying the feeling and scents.

Hiccup glanced up to see Fang jumped down to feel and smell the scent of the grass. She growled and fall on the grass rolling around like Toothless. He opened his eyes wide surprise to see that effected to her the same ways

Hiccup brought the same grass with him to Dragon Training. He looked up to watch the Gronckle tackled Tuffnut back knocking the weapon and shield out his hands. The dragon made a sharp turn to notice him and dashed forward glaring. Hiccup quickly reached out his hand to avoid any impact from the dragon.

The Gronckle stopped sliding on the ground to smell the grass as she smiled and opened her eyes wide growling happy. Hiccup looked up to see it work and scratched the dragon on the nose causing her to scratch her side and rolled on her side.

The other Vikings gathered around outside the arena to see what it's happening. Glothi observed analyzing among the recruits who will be the chosen one. Fang appeared afterward to play with the Gronckle on the stomach. The elder chuckled seeing how happy the Dragon Child is.

The recruits walked through the bridge while Hiccup was ganged up _question _by Fishlegs, Snotlout, and the twins. Astrid walked behind the group with Fang jumped beside her not paying attention since Gobber grabbed her ruining her fun.

"What was that? Some kind of trick? What did you do?"

"How'd you do that?"

"It was really cool."

"Hey, Hiccup!"

"Hey, Hiccup, I've never seen a Gronckle _do_ that!" Fishlegs, Tuffnut, Ruffnut, and Snotlout asked him question all at the same times giving him pressure Hiccup have to escape from to head to the cove.

"I left my axe back in the ring. You guys go on ahead." Hiccup stopped and turned around nearly bumped into Astrid. "I'll catch up with you." He quickly ran off through the bridge.

Astrid pushed her braid back glaring while thinking _how_ he did that in the ring. Fang sensed the anger in her and quietly ran off to escape her rage. She knew one thing about Astrid, she doesn't want to be there when she is in that mood or she will shed you into tiny pieces.

Third day in the cove, Hiccup removed the saddle and began scratching Toothless on the back of his neck. Toothless really enjoyed the scratch all over his neck when he felt a scratch under the chain and fall asleep right away.

Hiccup watched his friend drop to the ground falling asleep like that surprising him. Fang hopped over seeing Toothless really asleep when he have a thought come to his mind. He scratched her behind the ears seeing she enjoyed it.

Hiccup scratched under the chin to cause Fang to fall asleep as well. He chuckled seeing how that effect to her well when he felt a pressure and looked up to see Stormcutter glaring down at him for doing that. "Sorryâ€¦." He apologized in his nervous and innocent voice.

The recruits gathered to the Dragon Training with more Vikings gathered around to see and hear about the training, mostly Hiccup. Astrid tossed her axe at the Deadly Nadder to have her axe knocked by the dragon's horn.

Astrid flipped out away leaving Hiccup to drop the mace to the ground. The Deadly Nadder stopped to look at Hiccup and the mace seeing he is not a threat to her. They heard a battle cry watching Astrid dashing toward the dragon and raising her axe in the air.

Hiccup quickly began scratching under the Deadly Nadder's chin to put her asleep. Astrid stopped resting her axe on her shoulder to look at the dragon then up shock. Fang whined hiding outside of the rings having a great feeling that Hiccup is going to be murder by her sister.

Fang ate dinner with Astrid and the group. Hiccup walked by and sat at the table next to them when he was seat down to be gathered up by every Vikings question and amazed of his talents in the training. Astrid slammed her cup on the table in anger going to know his secret.

Glaring to her left to see the group, Astrid noticed Fang is missing and began looking around for her. She soon found her hiding behind a pillar close to the torch. She sighed doesn't blame her for running away for something she didn't do.

Hiccup and Fang arrived to the cove and didn't go flying that day.

Hiccup brought his hammer as he used the metal of the hammer to reflect the light off the metal. Toothless began chasing the small light with Hiccup guiding the light around.

Out of nowhere, Fang joined in and chased after the light beside Toothless. Hiccup chuckled and moved the hammer around to cause the two to separate and knock each other on the head hard. The scrawny Viking quickly lowered his hammer and gulped in fear for what he done.

Hiccup slowly turned to see Stormcutter glaring narrowing his eyes. "Sorryâ€¦ againâ€¦" He apologized again shrugging his shoulders.

"Meet the Terrible Terror."

Gobber announced at the Dragon Training with the lock lifting up, but the mini door was heard opened.

The Terrible Terror panted hard looking around while sticking out its tongue and touching its eye. The recruits, who gathered around, chuckled of how small the dragon is. "It's like the size of myâ€¦" Tuffnut laughed making fun of the dragon and telling the other who chuckled agreeing with him.

Before they knew it, the Terrible Terror tackled Tuffnut to the ground while the other ran away from the shock. Fang laughed rolling inside the ring with the grownups looking down.

"Get it off!" Tuffnut shouted in pain through his nose while the Terrible bit his nose shaking countlessly times.

The Terrible Terror suddenly felt something and opened its eyes to see a small light. The dragon soon got off of the twin brother to chase after the light. "Oh, I'm hurt! I am very much hurt!" Tuffnut shouted repeating the motto what he said back with the Hideous Zippleback.

Hiccup used his shield to lead the Terrible Terror to its cage. Fang held in the chase promising to stay put while Tuffnut regrouped with the other rubbing his nose."Wow! He's better than you ever were."

He said out loud for Astrid to glared back at him not moving her head.

The Terrible Terror struggled to enter through the door till it entered and Hiccup stopped with door with his foot. He glanced up smiling hearing the growling and Fang walking up to the group. She growled scaring the life out the Snotlout, Fishlegs, and the twins.

After training, Astrid has been training in the forest half an hours to improve her skill to rank to the top and furious of Hiccups improvement. Fang finally can spend her day with her big sister for once. She hanged in the tree watching the axe throwing and napping.

Astrid quickly grabbed her axe in the tree and rolled to stop and see Hiccup in front of her. Fang noticed the axe throwing stop and looked to gasp in shock to see Hiccup in his flight armor and held the tail fin in his arms.

Fang gulped in fear as she watched the scrawny Viking quickly dashed off, but with her big sister behind him. Astrid climbed on top the rock to peek over to found him vanish. Looking around, she slammed her hand on the rock can't believe she lost him.

Fang sighed soft relief when she heard something snapping beneath her. Astrid heard a crash along with a scream as she quickly turned around to see the dust vanishing in the air. Rushing over, she saw her sister under a ton of tree branches.

"How did that even happen?" Astrid asked herself rushing over to Fang and began lifting the branches.

Getting to the last branch that is heavy, Fang slowly sat up while building strength inside of her she never knew she has. Astrid opened her eyes surprise of her sister' strength and watched the branch roll off. The Dragon Child sat up shaking her body when her big sister quickly checked her body for injury.

They soon returned to Berk and headed to Glothi so Astrid have her to check on Fang's injury. Glothi heard what happen and quickly checked Fang's body to found no broken bones. She couldn't understand why, but sent them home telling them to be more careful in the forest.

They returned to the house to see Gobber waiting for them for one of his checkup. Heading to bed early and Gobber headed home, Fang couldn't sleep that night from hearing something out from the ocean. Astrid decided they take a walk to see if help.

Fang ran up ahead with Astrid behind and hid from her for every second. "No scaring. There are people sleeping around here." Astrid told her sister rolling her eyes.

Fang stuck her head out and chuckled sticking her tongue as she ran off again. They past many houses for hours when Astrid heard crashes from the armory. The Dragon Child heard it as well as she smelled Hiccup and Toothless' scent and saw Astrid running toward the army.

"Uh, oh." Fang whined and followed

"Hiccup? Are you in there?" Both Hiccup and Toothless looked up shock and stun, mostly Hiccup.

Fang walked around the window when she heard crashes and footsteps from the other side. She quickly moved out the way to watch Hiccup jumped out the window wearing his apron. She walked inside to see Toothless and entered completely noticing a rope connected to the saddle.

"Astrid. Hey." Hiccup greeted nervous and panicking. "Hi, Astrid. Hi, Astrid. Hi, Astrid."

"_Should I even asked about this?" Fang asked Toothless pulling the rope to make a wave._

"_No."_

Toothless shook his head then looked up found a sheep in front of him. The sheep noticed him and stopped eating in shock. Fan held in the laughter how funny the solution is happening now.

"I normally don't care what people do, but you're acting weird." Astrid told Hiccup pointing what he has been doing in and outside of the Dragon Training.

Astrid saw Hiccup being pulled back chuckling with a smile. "Well, weirder." She said backing up while being weird out.

Hiccup chuckled nervously as he was lifted up higher and higher to be pull inside rapidly fast. Astrid quickly ran up to the window to open and found him gone. Looking around, Hiccup was mounted on Toothless who took off to the sky.

"That was _too_ close." Hiccup muttered to himself feeling his heart beat rapidly fast.

"No kidding."

Hiccup screamed soft and looked back to see Fang behind him. "How did youâ€¦ why are youâ€¦How?" He couldn't ask the question while Toothless agreed with him.

"Don't forget, Hiccup, I am very sneaky." Fang responded about herself proudly. "I will be there without you knowing where I am, where I will be, or where I will coming out from."

Hiccup rolled his eyes shaking his head. "Just make sure that Astrid doesn't murder me for this." He asked a promise to Fang who smiled wide nodding.

"Okay!"

_That for _Chapter 'Five'_, I will have the next chapter up and ready for you to read. Plx leave a comment._

7. Chapter 6

Dragon Child
>_Chapter 'Six'_

Dragon Translation *Talking

Next Day; Noon

The remaining Vikings on Berk headed to the harbor as they watched their friends and family have returned from their search for the dragon nest. By the look on their face, they didn't found the nest, but found only trouble and destruction on their ships.

Some of the Vikings are wounded with of their ships and men power gone. They were helped out the ships while one of the Vikings pulled the chief out holding his basket in his arms. Gobber watched Stoick walking over with a glare of disappointed on his face.

"I trust you found the nest, at least?" Gobber asked watching Stoick past him not making eye contact.

"Not even close." Stoick sounded more disappointment in his voice.

Gobber grunted knowing this will happen. "Excellent." He sarcastically followed from behind sighing.

"I hope you had more success than me." Stoick asked about his days while Gobber tried to catch up.

"Well, if by success, you mean that your parenting troubles are over, then yes." Gobber told taking the basket into his arm which it left Stoick made a confusion on his face doesn't understand what he mean.

"Congratulations, Stoick!" They looked up to see Phlegma shouted of joy to the chief. "Everyone is so relieved!" She walked off to the left.

"Out with the old and in with the new, right?" Starkard agreed walking off to the right.

"No one will miss that nuisance!" Hoark the Haggerd shouted walking backward then followed to the dock.

"We're throwing a party to celebrate!" Ack said walking off with the other Stoick watched two Vikings walk by him getting a lot more confuse. "He's gone?" He turned to Gobber asking what has happened to his son then the Dragon Child when he was away.

Gobber gathered his thought for a moment. "Yeahâ€¦ most afternoons, but who can blame him? The life of the celebrity's very rough." They walked talking about Hiccup. "He can barely walk through the village without being swarmed by his new fans." Stoick couldn't believe what he is hearing.

"Hiccup?" Stoick turned Gobber around wanting to be very sure what he is hearing.

"Who would have thought it, eh? He has this _way_ with the beasts."

Stoick couldn't believe what he heard as he thought he has to talk with Hiccup when he found him. The most questionâ€¦ where _is_ Hiccup? Thinking about his son, he suddenly remembered Fang when Alerk and Kara walked up just heard about Hiccup.

"How is Fang and Astrid? Did anything happen to them when we were gone?" Alerk asked with a worrying look on his face, mostly Kara who has the most concern and worry on her face as a mother.

"Fang." Gobber thought about it again. "Well, she didn't cause much trouble that everyone expected." He said walking off to the village with them following.

"Fang?" Alerk turned Gobber around wanting to be sure he is hearing right.

"On the first Dragon Training, she made things amusing since the dragon was out their cage. Anyway, there _was_ trouble, but not from her. Also, there was an interesting thing happen during training. Like the dragons, she has the effect with the noise that confuse her senses." Gobber scratched his head remembering the noise effected did to Fang.

"Are you certain?" Kara asked and Gobber nodded.

"On with the training, which I have to say, I must _speak_ to the parents of Snotlout and the twins about messing with Fang. They caused so much problem I don't know where to start."

Alerk and Stoick shrugged their shoulders needing to speak with them as well. "Luckily for me, Fang really enjoyed being around in the training, cause of amazing in the lessonâ€¦ _and _one lesson with the teamwork _amazed_ her _more_." They and Kara heard that from Gobber got them curious what she did.

"The following days is always the same, Fang stay to watch the Dragon Training, Snotlout and Tuffnut messed with Fang, she followed Hiccup to stay away from them, and always act adorable when I watched her and Astrid at their house for a moment."

Stoick have to stop Gobber there... "So, let me get this straight, no trouble from her?" He replied and saw him nodded.

"No destruction?" Gobber nodded again.

"No death or killing?" Gobber nodded once more narrowing his eyes can't believe Stoick said that.

"No trouble, wrestling, and fighting from the girls?" Alerk asked wanting to ask that so badly.

"Calm like born child when they took their naps." Gobber told Alerk remembering no wrestling and fighting from Astrid and Fang.

"Is there anything else I should know?" Stoick asked couldn't believe what he is hearing.

Gobber tried to remember that one. "Fang like the shiny light if you use the metal to reflex the sun ray. Moving the metal everywhere, she will follow the light, like a lost puppy." He replied chuckling.

Stoick doesn't know what to believe anymore. He never knew Fang can be that _well_ behaved when she is left alone and he is away. He will have to trust Fang to be out to see for himself. That question more things than before, where is Fang? With Hiccup or Astrid?

Hiccup and Fang

Far from the harbor and Berk, Hiccup mounted on Toothless flying for the final flight test with Fang mounted on Stormcutter next to them. They watched them to see the final flight test and the new improvement of the saddle and Toothless' tail.

"_You watch out for yourself and Hiccup while flying." Fang told Toothless standing on her feet looking over to them._

"_Alright." Toothless nodded._

They flew above the ocean and away from the island so no Vikings will spot them in the sky. Stormcutter flew close, but far enough, so Fang can watch them flying together that no Vikings and dragons ever done.

"Ok, bud. We're gonna take this nice and slow." Hiccup told Toothless settling his friend as he patted him on the neck who glanced up.

Hiccup then glanced down on the chest sheet he drew out of the tail movement. "Here we go. Here we go. Positionâ€¦" He tried to remember which do what.

"â€¦threeâ€¦ no, four." Hiccup looked down lifting his foot and the tail fin opened out.

Toothless glanced up from looking at his tail as he shook his head growling soft. Flying on the side slowly and carefully, Hiccup checked on the saddle shaking it and looked at the tail when the Night Fury then flew straight settling himself.

Hiccup glanced back one more time to see everything stable and working fine. "All right, it's go time. It's go time." He soon nodded taking a deep breath and looked forward for a dive.

Toothless soon roared diving down toward the ocean while Hiccup leaned forward standing on the saddle. Stormcutter followed roaring as well as he and the Night Fury flew above the ocean. Fang held on the horns and glanced at ocean to see the fishes chuckling loud.

"Come on, buddy! Come on, buddy!" Hiccup shouted and Toothless titled that the left wing touched the water then leaned back straight.

They flew under the pillars that is connected and shaped like an upside down U. Hiccup and Fang looked up to see seagull flying above them high enough for them to touch the pillars. Hiccup smiled of joy that the tail fin is working.

"Yes, it worked!" Hiccup looked around him to see everything is alright.

Hiccup looked up and leaded Toothless to make a right turn, but hit the pillar. Fang looked away from the impact. "Sorry!" He apologized to Toothless as he tried again turning left.

They hit the pillar again with a roar of pain heard. "It was my fault." Hiccup apologized again getting Toothless to fly straight while Fang shook her head of fail attempt of the turn.

Toothless smacked Hiccup with his right ear glaring. "Yeah, yeah, I'm on it. Position four." Hiccup nodded. "Uh, three." He pulled the level on the tail fin as they flew up toward the sky.

"Yeah! Go, baby!" Hiccup shouted through the wind and Toothless roared.

Stormcutter followed them to the sky as well when Fang snapped moving her head toward ocean. He stopped to look back to see his niece looking out the ocean again.

"_What is it, Fang?" Stormcutter asked getting concern of Fang's behavior._

"_It's nothing, Uncle." Fang responded not leaving her sight from the ocean._

_Stormcutter doubted Fang knowing there is something bothering her, but don't know what it is. Out of nowhere, they heard Hiccup's screaming and Toothless' roar as they looked up to see them falling. They fall pasting them which Fang made a shock look._

"_Uncle!"_

"_Alright!"_

Stormcutter flew down angling them and himself as they are heading toward the forest below them. Fang watched Toothless struggle to angle himself to Hiccup. He accidently slapped him on the face with his tail trying to following his order.

Hiccup has managed to get himself on top of Toothless grabbing the saddle and mounted right back on the saddle. Stormcutter tried to catch up to them, but the wind is too strong and hard for Fang to hold on to him, he has to slow down which losing distance to them.

Hiccup placed the sheet in his mouth and pulled the saddle getting Toothless to spread his wings opened. The wings helped slowing them down, but headed toward to the pillars the Night Fury couldn't slow down.

Hiccup grabbed the sheet difficulty to see with the paper flapping rapidly fast. Looking back and forth of the sheet and what they are heading to, he let go and took position on Toothless pulling the level on the tail to flap open.

Fang and Stormcutter watched from above the pillars seeing them _flew_ through the pillars avoiding each one of them. She knew Hiccup has that in him from the very beginning when she knew he met Toothless in the forest. They watched them flew out the pillars with no wounds and perfectly fine.

Hiccup soon realized panting hard as he lifted his arms out cheering loud in the air very happy. "Yeah!" Toothless smiled breathing plasma fire in front of them which flame up into a giant fire ball.

"Come on." Hiccup soon grunted fading as he dropped his arms to his side flying toward into the fire ball.

Later after flying toward into the fire ball, Hiccup made a blank expression with his hair stuck in a style like his hair is still blowing by the wind. Also his root of his hair became darken from his brown hair color, Fang held in her laughter laying against Stormcutter while he sat in front of Toothless.

They took a break sitting around the fire and eating fish. Hiccup glared at Fang who continued to laugh when they heard a gag and looked over to see Toothless regurgitated half of the fish head. They watched him glancing over to his friend giving the fish head to him showing his thanks.

Hiccup chuckled doesn't want to mean, but don't want to go through the taste of the fish again. "Uhâ€¦ no, thanks. I'm good." He told him showing the cook fish in the stick.

Fang rolled his eyes knowing he won't let that go as she ate her fish. Soon, they heard a growls and saw a herd of Terrible Terror flying toward them. Hiccup looked frighten as he heard a growl and turned to see Toothless growling at them protecting his fishes.

Fang rolled her eyes knowing he don't want to let that go and ate her fish raw. Hiccup made a disgusted look doesn't know _how_ she can eat like that when all four of them heard growls from far distance. They looked up to see herd of Terrible Terror flying toward them.

Hiccup looked frighten as he heard a growled and turned to see Toothless growling protecting his fishes. Stormcutter done the same while Fang looked at her uncle then up to watch of curiosity. The reddish orange Terrible Terror tried to grab a fish from Toothless, but only got a growled from him.

They soon saw the green Terrible Terror dragged the headed fish away as it took a bite titling its head. The orange Terrible Terror was about to the take the head when the green Terrible noticed and glared breathing fire at it to protect its food. The orange Terrible ran away with the fire behind it.

The orange Terrible Terror was about to take the head when the green Terrible Terror saw and breathed fire at it. The orange Terrible Terror ran away with the fire following and vanishing when it came across from Fang.

Fang chuckled watching the orange Terrible Terror ran toward to her. "Want some?" Fang asked tossing from fishes to the herds.

Couple of the Terrible Terror started eating the fishes with Hiccup chuckled watching them eat. He and Fang heard a growls as they looked to see Toothless and the yellow green Terrible Terror fighting over a fish.

They growled pull the fish each side which it was bad for the yellow green Terrible Terror to grab the tail _fin_. Toothless soon just _pulled _his face back and ate it whole with the Terrible Terror sat on the ground with the tail fin in its mouth.

Toothless laughed mocking the Terrible Terror for failing to get the fish. With the mock settle in, the small dragon tossed the tail fin and glared at the Night Fury who narrowed his eyes. Fang and the other Terrible Terrors watched amused wondering what will happen.

Hiccup watched the small war between the Night Fury and Terrible Terror when the small dragon opened its mouth. Preparing to breathe fir, Toothless beat it to it by one fast small plasma fire into its mouth causing and a small explosion.

The yellow green Terrible Terror leaped into air cause of the explosion from the inside and fall to the ground growling in pain. Fang and the Terrible Terrors pulled their heads back shock and painful that is. The wounded Terrible Terror struggled to walk for a moment when it approached to the scrawny Viking.

Hiccup chuckled leaning on his knee grinning. "Not so fireproof on the inside, are you? There you go." He tossed the fish to the yellow green Terrible Terror which it gladly accepted the fish and ate it whole.

Hiccup sat back down to watch the Terrible Terror walking over to him. The small dragon crawled under his arms to lay down next to him with its eyes close. The shock scrawny Viking soon saw a different view about the dragons as he slowly lowered his hand to pat the small dragon hearing it panted hard.

"Everything we know about your guysâ€¦ is wrong!"

Fang watched Hiccup start to see it now while she have all the Terrible Terror on her and Stormcutter. She happy that he knew the _truth _about the dragons, but she has another thing that she have to be worry _more _than this.

Will Berk see the truth about the dragons like Hiccup? Or how will they handle to see one of their own _rode_ a dragon than _kill_ a dragon? How can she get Astrid to see this way as well?

Midnight; Hofferson House

Fang messed with Alerk by the fire pit after they had dinner. Kara cleaned the dishes from dinner while Astrid has her axe in her hand and sharped the blades acting completely strange. Fang pressured on Alerk's head harder which he had enough chuckling.

"Alright, you over size beast. Get off of me!" Alerk tossed Fang away to his left.

Fang rolled on the floor and hit the wall while Alerk sat comfortably back on his seat shaking his head chuckling. She shook her head of the impact and glared at the father pouting. He sighed wanting to feel relax when he was pressured again by his younger daughter.

"Where did you get even stronger, Fang? I can't handle this kind of strength of your." Alerk asked Fang standing up to grab her from the back of the shirt.

Fang laughed daggling in her father's grip. "You _sure_, you are not getting weaker, dear?" Kara asked walking over to hear what her husband has said while teasing him.

Alerk gave Kara a look of her doubt and betray as his wife. "Kara. _I am not getting weak!_" He told her feeling hurt and Fang laughed hard.

"You could _be_ getting weak from old age, Dad." Astrid muttered stop sharping her axe to see the sharpness of the blades.

"_Astrid. _Watch it." Alerk gave a father look to his elder daughter glaring.

Astrid ignored her father's warning and glare as she continued sharping her axe. Fang has escaped Alerk's grip and rushed over to mess with her big sister to be knock down with an elbow to the face. Fang rolled backward of the pain covering her nose.

The parents chuckled missing them and their usual fighting and wrestling. "So how was Dragon Training, Astrid?" Alerk asked Astrid wanting to know about her process.

"Great. I'm in the top to be chosen to win the honor and kill a dragon." Astrid said examining her axe while sounding suspense to the parents.

Alerk and Kara knew she _will_ be in the top in her class, but sounding like that. They can tell something is up and guessing why it is. "Is Stoick's son also in the top of the class?" They knew that will strike her.

They saw Astrid stop examining her axe as she glared at her axe clutching on the handle. They noticed a glare in her eyes they haven't seen from her for a long time. Fang whined soft backing away from her which their theory is correct.

"So, he _is_ in the top as well."

Astrid didn't answer, but exhaled the anger out of irritating. Alerk and Kara looked over to Fang to watch her walking away slowly. They believed she knew about the change in Hiccup and his training.

Before they could talk to her, an axe stopped Fang from leaving hitting the wall two inch away from her face. Astrid stood on her feet glaring at Fang as she stood back straight. Fang whined wider seeing the axe in front of her knowing _she will_ get mad.

"_Astrid!_" Kara shouted glaring at Astrid to watch her letting out her anger on her sister.

Fang slowly built her anger glaring at Astrid as she growled showing her sharp teeth. "I don't know what happen on the ring, but don't take your anger on your sisâ€¦" Alerk was lectured Astrid stepping forward when Fang tackled her across the room _fighting_.

"Astrid! Fang!" Alerk shouted louder watching the two girls fighting each other while rolling.

Stoick and Gobber heard the shouting as they rushed over to see Astrid and Fang fighting out the house punching and kicking. Alerk and Kara rushed out as well to try and stop the fight. Other Vikings stepped out the house to hear noises outside of their houses.

The teens stepped forward to see Astrid and Fang fighting again. Hiccup arrived running from the armory to see them fighting. "Oh, boy." He muttered fear this will happen.

"Astrid! Fang! Stop this fighting right this instinct!" Kara shouted at her daughters as she watched them rolling away didn't hear her.

"Alerk! Kara!" The parents looked up to see Stoick and Gobber ran over to them with question.

"Stoick!" Kara said really glad to see Stoick here.

"What happen?!"

Alerk started first on the explaining. "They started fighting when we asked about Dragon Training. Astrid then let out her anger on Fang for no reason!" He told the Chief still don't know what tick his elder daughter off.

"Oh! Jealously! We can just pull them apartâ€¦" Kara stopped Gobber with a serious look.

"They are _actually_ fighting, Gobber! Like when they were kids."

Stoick and Gobber looked at each other believing she is right. Astrid and Fang _did_ fought like that when they first met. They looked over to see Astrid had Fang in a head lock standing. Fang growled showing her teeth when they noticed a change of the teen sharped differently from her normal teeth.

"What in Thorâ€¦" Stoick leaned forward looking closely at the teeth noticing the change.

Fang elbowed Astrid at the ribs, which she felt the loose in the arms, and tossed her across from her. "You shouldn't be jealous and letting out your anger on me, Astrid! I didn't do anything!" Fang told Astrid doesn't understand why she have to let out her anger on her.

"Yes you did! You have help Hiccup in his training to get better in the ring!" Astrid yelled at Fang standing to wave her arms around in anger.

"Teach him? _Why would I teach him anything?!_ He is smart to know by himself! Even on the days of training!" Fang shouted feeling betray while the inside of her slowly started to change from the anger.

"If you didn't then _why_ have he know _all_ those tricks?! You _might_ told him about the dragons so he can use them in the ring!" Fang growled clutching her fist tight and her mouth opened wider showing the teeth.

"I will _never betray my family!_ Why should I tech you _humans_, or _Vikings_, anything to kill my kind?!" All the Vikings gasped in shock while Astrid clutched her fists and tackled Fang to the ground.

"Your kind?" Astrid raised an eyebrow getting more irritating. "You _also _a Viking! They are oversize lizard reptile that can breathe fire, fly, and have claws, fangs, and wings! _You don't have any of them!_" She shouted at her sister's face grabbing her collar into her fists.

"Does it matter?!" Fang gathered her strength to get Astrid to let go of her and tossed her off to tackle _her_ to the ground. "It doesn't matter what you are! My mother took me in as one of her own after those humans came and tried to kill me and my human family!" She has Astrid pin down glaring showing her eyes change color.

Astrid didn't care as she pushed her off and swift kicked Fang off her feet. "They killed Vikings like our generations! Your _mother_ killed your Vikings family before taking you!" She shouted insulting Fang's dragon mom, which tick her anger.

"_Don't _you _dare_ say talk about my mother like that!" Fang stood up to punch Astrid at the face.

Astrid fall on the ground with blood fall from the tip of her lip. "She will _never_ lie to me! She has told me _everything_ right before _those humans_ came and killed her and my brothers and sisters!" Fang let out her anger holding in the tears what she have been feeling for a long time.

"The only one who is a liar is _you humans!_ You're the one who started the wars!"

"Oh, yeah? Then why the dragons kept stealing food from my _kind_?! Turning the theory, it's _those dragons_ who started these wars! Not us!"

"I _could_ get the answer from them on why they _steal_ if you _Vikings_ let me!" Fang pointed herself willing to ask the dragons of their reason of stealing.

Astrid chuckled can't believe what she is hearing. "Right. We should leave our trust to a _human_ who can speak_ dragons_ and _won't_ help her own kind." Fang growled scratching her head of irritating.

"Why can't all you trust me?!" Fang asked demanding to know why Astrid don't believe in her.

"What do you think?! Arg, I don't even know why are you even here in Berk?" Astrid muttered the last part which Fang caught that.

"Excuse meâ€¦" Fang stepped forward raising an eyebrow to demand her to repeat what she said.

"Why are you even here?" Astrid asked a little louder. "You're just cause of trouble, destroyed our supplies, nearly killed some of the people here, _and _be a freak who isn't human nor dragon!" She finally said the words that Fang gasped in shock couldn't breathe.

The Vikings gasped in muttering to each other what Astrid had finally said about Fang. Snotlout and the twins chuckled to each other knowing she _will_ say that to her finally. Fishlegs gasped in the air of shock while turned to Hiccup see the shock in his eyes can't believe she has said that to her.

Stoick and Gobber looked at the girls couldn't move nor breathe, but mostly Astrid. Alerk and Kara couldn't breathe while Kara held her hands on her mouth wouldn't believe what she said. Astrid has finally said the word that every _Vikings _thought of Fang when she came to Berk.

"Whâ€¦ what did youâ€¦ said?" Fang couldn't speak from what her sister _actually_ said about her.

"You hear what I said. A freak. A monster that doesn't belong in Berk!" Astrid yelled telling how she felt when she first met her.

Fang felt her heart beating rapidly fast in shock and pain. Her blood boiled so fast and her hands started to shake uncontrolledly. Stormcutter felt his niece's pain inside of him and flew back toward Berk. He knew it is time to leave.

"I hated your guts ever since you came to Berk! You're not like us, but freak who act like a dragons! _You don't have a place in Berk who doesn't belong in the Vikings life!_" Astrid shouted even louder telling how she feel, but doesn't know what she said will end terrible in their relationship.

"Astrid!" Alerk yelled at Astrid, which it is too late.

Fang panted hard doesn't know how to breathe or think. Kara and Gobber stepped forward to try to calm her down when they saw her face them. They noticed her eyes silt like the dragons and color completely different.

In her eyes, Fang saw everything surrounding her going too fast and the vision colors changed to red. Stoick noticed something coming from the feeling in his gut. "Everyone! _Get back!_" He shouted at top of his lungs.

Astrid, Hiccup and the rest of the teens looked at the chief confuse then turned back to Fang. "Fang!" Kara shouted which it was a bad idea to do.

"_Just leave me alone!" _Fang shouted at top of her lungs louder than Stoick. The Vikings heard something that they never knew will ever happen coming from her. Within the shout, Fang roared at the sky long and loud they covered their ears looking away and stepping away from her.

Astrid covered her eyes as well, but held her ground when she looked up to finally see the notice of Fang. She saw the part of the skins changed into scales slightly, the hands and feet shaped like a dragons' claws and feet, and eyes changed color to blue and silt.

Fang soon stopped and glared at Astrid who saw a reflection of herself when she felt something she have forgotten for a long time. The Vikings started to calm down from the roar when the Vikings in front of forest screamed in shock.

They were knocked down by the Dragon Child jumping over them to run toward the forest. "Stop her!" Stoick shouted ordering to bring Fang back in shock still.

Five Vikings chased after her down while Alerk and Kara rushed over to Astrid who is on the ground staring at the forest eyes opened wide. "Astridâ€¦" Kara called as they noticed a stun look on her face.

Alerk watched his hand in front of her face to see her not flinching. "Astridâ€¦" He called out to hear no respond.

They, Stoick, and Gobber, whose walked over, looked at each other with a confuse look on their face. They don't know what is wrong with her, but knew believing she saw something. They have one question in their mind is a same, what did Astrid saw to have her like this.

The Vikings searching everywhere in the forest for Fang when they came across Stormcutter appeared out of nowhere in front of them roaring. They screamed falling backward as they watched the Deadly Nader flew off to the sky with Fang on his back.

"Fang!"

Stormcutter flew faster and higher to the sky away from Berk while Fang hanged on her uncle holding in the tears. The thing inside of her started to cool down with her muscles, bones, and body parts becoming normal.

Fang gasped for air after each struggled to don't cry. Stormcutter arrived to an island he never been to which he believed Berk haven't been here as well. Landing in the center of field, he lay down forming a circle as he let his niece to slide down under his wings.

"_Fang?" Stormcutter called out lowering his head of concern._

Fang remained silence struggled to breathe. Stormcutter let her calm down for a bit longer to ask again. "What happen?" He asked in the soft voice doesn't want to use force.

Fang shallowed in the pain cuddling close to her uncle. "Astridâ€¦ sheâ€¦" She struggled to say what happen.

"_Sheâ€¦ doesn't trust me anymore. She thoughtâ€¦ I helped Hiccupâ€¦ with his trainingâ€¦ andâ€¦" Stormcutter felt the pressure on his body with Fang shaking in shock, fear, alone, and betray. "And she called me what those other humans first thought of me since I was brought to that island." Fang gasped for air couldn't handle the pain anymore._

"_Shh." Stormcutter wrapped his wings around Fang comforting her._

Fang wanted to cry to let out the pain inside of her, but couldn't. She rubbed her head against his chest slowly calming down. They lay in the field for three hours with silence in the air. Fang slept under Stormcutter's wings when he heard something and lifted his head.

Fang heard something as well and opened her eyes to see what it is. Looking carefully, they only saw nothing in the forest as they heard a roar above them. Stormcutter looked up to see the other Deadly Nadder flying away giving a warning roar.

"_Get out of there now! They're coming!" One of the Deadly Nadders shouted following the other herds._

Stormcutter's eyes silt of the warning and grabbed Fang to place on his back. He flew up in the sky close to leave the forest, but wasn't fast enough, that he was caught in a net. He brought her into his wings as they fall to the ground with a loud thump.

Stormcutter saw the net is made the chains and the chains, connected to the net, moved. "Hang on!" He shouted clutching Fang close to him.

Fang hanged on to her uncle as they were pulled into the darkness. While being dragged to somewhere, she noticed bright light of red orange at the end. She smelled the air as she froze up reorganizing the scents from her past.

"_It's them." Fang said out loud in her sounding anger tone._

"_What?" Stormcutter gasped in shock with his eyes opened wide_.

They exited the forest as they came across of Dragon Hunters laughing and chuckling of their capture. Stormcutter breathed magnesium fire at them to keep their distance from them and Fang. Fang hid under her uncle when she heard the familiar footsteps and scents.

Fang growled in anger while Stormcutter looked over and growled at their leader of these Dragon Hunters. The leader stood in front of the uncle glaring down showing no emotion and mercy in his eyes.

The leader wore armor with black fur spikey shoulder pads, leather spike braces and belt, black pants with leather spike ankle braces, boots, black fur cape, and has prosthetic right hand. He has long black braids hair, green eyes, and scars on his face and body.

Stormcutter growled glaring at the leader while hiding Fang from both him and his men. The leader chuckled evil stepping forward. "Well, done boys. _He _will love this dragon in his Dragon Army." The leader told his men who chuckled behind him.

Fang growled soft with her right hand show body heat shifting shape. The leader felt a feeling in his gut seeing the uncle in the position like he is hiding something. He narrowed his eyes looking carefully to see what inside.

"What else's with the dragon once you brought it down?" The leader asked one of his men not leaving his sight off Stormcutter.

"We couldn't tell in the darkness, but it seem it toss something not a dragon like off its back." One of the Dragon Hunters with prosthetic right leg answered stepping forward.

"Something not dragon like."

Stormcutter knew the leader know Fang is under him. He growled crouching his body and wings closer to avoid him to see his niece. The leader waved his hand up signaling for nets and ropes. The Dragon

Hunters took position surrounding the uncle.

Stormcutter glared at the Dragon Hunters then the leader. "Released the net." The leader gave the signal and the battle begun.

The net is removed and Stormcutter killed three Dragon Hunters behind him with his spines. The other tossed the ropes on the tail and mouth while Fang struggled to keep up with her uncle's movement. She then heard something flying and looked up to see the net landing on top of her and dragged away.

"_Uncle!" Fang cried _

Stormcutter looked as he roared in anger. "Fang!" He reacted breaking the rope on his mouth.

"_Uncle!" Fang was dragged away further till she got in front of the leader._

Fang glared growling at the leader who chuckled. "Hello, Dragon Child. We had finally meet again." He said very glad to see her again.

Fang growled louder showing her fangs at him, which it changed sharp, but he doesn't know that. "Wellâ€¦ you haven't change at all. You still have that look in your eyes." The leader bent down still grinning to see the look he has saw when he first met her.

"Take her away."

Fang watched the Dragon Hunter who has her in the net pull her away to the camp site. Stormcutter watched his niece drag away from him. "Cage the dragon! I want also give him as bonus for the capture of the Dragon Child." The leader ordered the remaining Dragon Hunters who held the uncle down.

"Yes, sir!" They shouted tossing more ropes, chains, and nets on Stormcuotter while the leader walked off to follow where he will keep Fang in. Stormcutter growled being pulled into a cage still chains. He growled out of anger toward the Dragon Hunters then concern for his niece.

Fang was tossed into a tent still in a net while two Dragon Hunters entered in a union. They removed the net as they quickly grabbed her by both arms. Fang struggled to escape while being chained on the neck, stomach, wrists, and ankles.

They let her go to watch her growling and roaring at them while trying to scratch them. The leader entered the tent calmly and saw Fang acting out like a wild beast. He waved his hands to show the two Dragon Hunters to leave, which they did.

Fang glared at the leader showing anger in her eyes that she wanted to kill him. "Oh, don't give me that." He said chuckling and she growled glaring louder.

"At least you are being used for something what you are." The leader reached out his hand to Fang's cheek. "For a freak to by raised by dragons and speak their language, you should be proud of that gift." Fang leaned forward to bite the hand, but missed, as she glared growling while showing her teeth.

"It won't be long before I deliver you to _him_ so he can use you and ability to control more dragons for his army."

The leader stepped out the tent to glare the two Dragon Hunters who stood guards by the entry. "Make sure she has plenty of waters and foods. I need her alive to deliver to him." He told them whispering as low as he can to sound threaten, fear, and merciless.

"Most of allâ€¦ _do not_ leave you sight and hearing off of her. I don't want her escaping like what happen last time."

"To be honest, the last two was over confidence and over thinking that watching the beast is a piece of capturing a herd of Monstrous Nightmares." The Dragon Hunters with a scar on his right eye said what he remembered the last capture.

"And you are telling me you two _are not_, Ake? Asmund?" The leader asked Ake getting into his face who didn't flinch. "Depend _how_ she will _escape_ from us which we never _let_ our guards down. Plus most experiences than those here who have _no_ clue about dragons." The Dragon Hunter with a scar on his nose, Asmund, answered in the same respond like Ake.

The leader looked at both of them as he felt no worry and concern for. "Alright. Just watch her carefully. Those clothing might be from a tribe mean she have been leaving with them for a while. She might learn few things from them." He told them reminding them as he took his leave walking off.

Fang pulled on each chains on her wrists and ankles panting hard of panic. Remembering from the last captured, she saw the leader in front of her on the day he killed her mother then the three dragons in front of her.

Fang opened her eyes wide as the pupil slit like a dragon as she roared at top of her lungs like what she did back in Berk. All the Dragon Hunters looked at the tent to hear roar along with the dragons, Stormcutter, and the leader who expected that in her.

Berk

Astrid woken up as she sat up on her bed from something inside of her. Alerk and Kara heard the bed movement along with Stoick and Gobber as they looked up still talking about Fang and the Deadly Nadder. Astrid glanced out the close window thinking what the feeling was.

Thinking about the feeling, Astrid has to ignore it since she have to focus for the training tomorrow. She lay back down trying to get some sleep when she suddenly remembered Fang.

Astrid couldn't get Fang out of her mind from what she saw. She doesn't know what she should do or should matter of it. However she doesn't need her in her lifeâ€¦ or does she? She suddenly remembered how she have her in her life. Fang needed her in her from alone and sadness from her family lost.

Astrid began to think is she doing the right thing? Casting Fang away and calling her a freak? Astrid began to think what she did was right? Casting Fang away and calling her a freak what her uncle expected from her to do to his adoptive daughter?

Doesn't Fang deserve a family more than the other in Berk? A family took care of their own if they are related by blood or not. Should Astrid have believed in Fang more than the glory and honor as Viking to Berk?

_That for _Chapter 'Six'_, I will have the next chapter up and ready for you to read. Plx leave a comment._

8. Chapter 7

_Dragon Child
>Chapter Vii_

Three Weeks later

After Hiccup defeated Red Death along with Toothless three weeks ago, Berk now lived in harmony with dragons now. The teens rode on their dragons showing the other Vikings the new era working with the dragon.

Astrid stood on the spot of the cliff with her Deadly Nadder from the arena. They glanced at the ocean while Astrid has one thought in her mind of concern and worried.

Fang.

Hiccup showed Astrid about dragons isn't dangerous and wrong with Toothless help. What Astrid thought about them has change and then remembered what she has done and said to Fang. She regretted what she did to her and had to apologize.

But the problem is, Astrid don't know where Fang has gone to or where to start searching. Her Deadly Nadder walked over nudging her head against her growling.

"I know Stormfly. I miss her, too." Astrid muttered patting Stormfly's chin.

"I shouldn't have said that to her. Fang is just a kid and don't understand the human. If I have known how she felt _more_ I should haveâ€¦" A voice finished the sentence from behind.

"â€¦protected her like you did couple of days ago."

They turned around to see Hiccup in his leather armor and Toothless. They walked over to them as they glanced out of the ocean. Toothless and Stormfly walked away for a bit to give them some space.

Astrid sighed deeply while Hiccup noticed the look. "I know it's not your fault." He spoke breaking the silence.

"I should have tell you what she been doing while I just doing my business." Astrid glanced over hearing him out.

Hiccup faced Astrid with a honest look. "You know, Fang was telling the truth. She just lay around watching withâ€¦" He stopped scratching his head nervous.

"What?" Astrid asked notice the change.

"Fangâ€¦" Hiccup took his times trying to say it out. "â€¦has an uncle in the cove." He finally said it.

Astrid stepped back shock. "What?" Hiccup continued.

"From what she told me, her uncle has been here in Berk hiding since Fang was found the second time." Astrid couldn't breathe while thinking why Fang didn't tell her.

"So the reason she didn't tell me becauseâ€¦" Hiccup finished her sentence.

"â€¦she'll believe you will think her uncle is just a dragon and tell everyone, including my dad." Astrid sighed shaking her head.

"I should have listen more and be there for her. I shouldn't let my anger on her just because I want to become a true Viking in Berk." Astrid admitted to herself and Hiccup looking away.

Hiccup smiled and glanced at the ocean with an idea. "Do you remember how you become Fang's big sister?" He asked the question that she shock in startle.

"Why? That won't help with this solution." Astrid crossed her arms walking away from the edge.

Hiccup shrugged following. "Justâ€¦ wondering what you felt since the day you the first Viking to befriend the Dragon Child then I." He smiled seeing her turning around.

"When the day I send Fang away, _what_ I said to herâ€¦ that what I thought of her at first." Hiccup opened his eyes and mouth in shock.

"Fang, being raise by a dragon, is unhuman and unbelieved to see how she is still living. I don't want to be friend with _anyone_ who can do that."

Astrid rubbed her arms when she felt a hand on her shoulder. She turned to see Hiccup smile as she continued.

"But when I found Fang escape from the cell three months from the found, I had to hold her down till the chief come. Man, she sure knows how to fight. I can't keep her down for a minute, we might have fought like an hour and like we areâ€¦" Hiccup finished the sentence.

"Sister."

Astrid sighed deeply. "When Stoick and my dad stopped us and Gothi treated us bruises, we might have laughed like no Thor ever seen." She smiled finding funny.

"Yeah, I was there, just want to see Fang up close not behind bars."

Hiccup admitted what he saw scratching his head.

"Now you mention it, Fang then tackled you to the floor like adorable like baby sibling wanting to get a close up on the older sibling." Astrid crossed her arms raising an eyebrow smiling still.

Hiccup shrugged remember that day. "Man she sure do has a strength of a baby yak." Astrid chuckled.

"More like a dragon hatchling." They laughed remembering their childhood.

Toothless and Stormfly growled and purred seeing their friends are feeling better now. Hiccup stopped to bring up another memory.

"Hey do you remember when Fang was first out, she followed you like a baby chick?" He asked and heard her correct him.

"Eh, more like _annoying _and _irritation_ baby chick." Astrid said as they chuckled.

Hiccup calmed down as he looked with a knowing look. "Soâ€¦ what should we do with Fang?" He asked betting on the answer.

"Well, there two things we can doâ€¦ Let the grown-ups find Fang again." Astrid held up one finger.

"That will take years for them." Hiccup commented remembering the last two founds. "What's the second option?"

Astrid hopped on top of Stormfly with a smirk. "We can do that." Hiccup said hopping on top of Toothless.

Stoick and Gobber heard a Night Fury and Deadly Nadder roar up in far distance. They turned to see Hiccup, Astrid, and their dragons took off to somewhere no Thor knew where.

"Where of Odon are those two going?" Stoick asked placing his hands on his waist.

Gobber walked over. "No clue, but the way they are in a hurry I could guess what they are looking for. By what, I mean who." He replied scratching his head.

They thought in the same time when they knew the answer. "Fang." They faced each other in a union.

"How they will able to find Fang better than us? It took some years two times." Stoick asked looking where he saw them.

"Vikings' way, yes. With dragons, that might be easier than heading out in sail just the ship." Gobber fixed the chief's doubt.

Stoick sighed. "True. Now, will you excuse me, I had some explaining to do with Astrid's parents." He walked off thinking what to say.

"Good luck." Gobber waved and walked off as well.

Out of Sea

Hiccup, Astrid, Toothless, and Stormfly searched every island they could think off. They even went to Dragon Island and find no Fang. They rested on a beach with camp fire and fish for lunch.

Toothless and Stormfly slept behind Hiccup and Astrid who ate two fishes already. Hiccup looked up to see how concern Astrid is with Fang. He knew how close they are since the day they came sisters.

"Hey, we find her." Hiccup began comfort Astrid with a smile. "This is Fang we are searching for, she is one of the _most _Dragon Child in your family."

Astrid smiled. "You right, but what I said to her still hunt me, Hiccup." She faced him with a fade face. "I don't know what to say to her."

Hiccup watched Astrid turned away. "You don't know now, but in time you will." He saw her turned back and smiled.

"Thanks, Hiccup." Hiccup smiled.

Toothless and Stormfly lifted their head up hearing something. Hiccup and Astrid turned around to see them walking off.

"Stormfly?"

"What's wrong, bud?"

They asked when they saw them looking at an island. A ship sailed to the island few yards away from them.

"Thatâ€¦ is not our ship, right?" Astrid asked knowing the answer.

"An unknown ship sailing to an island we haven't search yet is heading we were going next is not a coincidence." Hiccup said knowing something over there is important.

They flew over there slowly and landed their dragon quietly far. They landed their dragons in the forest far from the beach so any welcome ship show up. Hiccup and Astrid slowly walked through the forest crouching.

Hiccup stopped with Astrid behind him stopping as well. "Huh, why did we stop?" She asked looking curious.

Hiccup waved his silence as he gave a lower sign. They watched few unknown Vikings walking away from them in small army. They heard struggle and groaning as they turned to see two Vikings pulling chain on a teen they are looking for.

"Fang!" Astrid gasped in low tune.

"Where are they taking her?" Hiccup asked watching them vanish deeper away from them.

Hiccup looked back. "Let's go." Astrid nodded.

They followed from behind, but not actual behind since the two Vikings can see them. Fang smelled Hiccup and Astrid's scents. She started to calm down since she don't want them to notice those two out there.

"Fang start to stop the struggling so we can come a little closer." Hiccup told Astrid getting a view.

Astrid peeked a little. "What are they doing to Fang? What do they want from her?" She asked not leaving sight on them.

"I bet to make her to lure more dragons to them for easy capture." Hiccup took a guess looking back.

The Vikings walked into their camp close to the beach. More Vikings walked around talking and working, Hiccup and Astrid came behind the tents with more stealth hiding.

"There are _a lot_ of them, what or who are they?" Astrid spoked out gasp in shock.

Hiccup shrugged. "Don't know, but do know they aren't normal Vikings and more danger if we were caught by them." He said what he thought of them.

"I can't agree more." Astrid nodded.

"We have return Floki!" They turned to voice heard in the center.

They saw the leader of these Vikings step out of the giant tent. Floki, the leader, has the scariest and rage Vikings they ever saw.

Floki has short black hair with many scars on his face, dark brown eyes, and blind left eyes. He wore a light green leather shirt and brown pants inside with an armor suit of dragon scales outside. The shoulders pads are Terrible Terror skull.

Hiccup and Astrid noticed Floki's whole left arm is gone and replaced by a wooden prosthetic arm. The hand is replaced with a war hammer.

Fang growled struggling through the chains. She glared at the leader watching him approaching her with a dangerous glare.

"Um, sir. It seem today is another fail, the Dragon Child has told the dragons to leaveâ€¦ that what I believe." The Viking with a scar on his left eye and down to his cheek reported barely control in his fear.

Floki slowly turned to the Viking then back to Fang. He remained silence as he grabbed Fang by the neck and brought her face to his.

"Don't take me lightly just because you are just a child, _Dragon Child_." Floki spoke in low and anger tone.

Fang isn't afraid of his tune and his glare. She glared back feeling her eyes change color and pupil shift. Floki tossed her to the ground hard barely break any of her bones. Few of the Vikings grabbed the chains before she could attack him.

"Take her to the ship! We're leave first thing in the morning!" Floki gave announcement to his men. "It's time to deliver the dragons to _him_." He glared down at Fang for the last time.

Fang roared nearly destroy few of the Viking's hearing. Floki has no effect as he turned around. He watched her pant hard glaring like a dragon.

"Also put a muzzle on her, don't want her to destroy the buyer's hearing."

The same Viking muzzled Fang quickly and possible afraid she bite his hand. Fang struggled to open her mouth as she was dragged into a cage. The Vikings pulled the chains through the bars and quickly pushed her inside. The chains connected around the cage.

Hiccup and Astrid watched them push and pull the cage to the ship. Hiccup pulled Astrid away slowly, but fast from the camp site to make a plan. They met Toothless and Stormfly who greeted them quietly.

"We have to go back there and save Fang now!" Astrid told Hiccup pointing where the camp was.

Hiccup tried to her calm her down. "I know, but we can't. You saw how many Vikings were there. We will be killed from one order from their leader who isn't stupid and an idiot." He reasoned her about what they saw.

"What are you trying to say, Hiccup?" Astrid asked calming down.

"_I'm _saying is that we quickly head back and warn my father about themâ€¦ about Fang! There are likeâ€¦ forty of them and two of us, what chances we will be if we both kill and our dragons being capture."

Astrid sighed had an idea that there will be a disagreement. "That is why I'm staying and try to get Fang out and you head back with the dragons." She said it all out with a straight look.

"_What?!_ Astrid, are you crazy?! Do you really want to die, which I know I will get punch later, and your parents on me? What do I say to them? "Eh, we found Fang out there capture and being sold to some stranger we don't know and Astrid is staying behind to get herself killed. Soâ€¦ can you hold back now the killing?"" Hiccup exploded quietly and imagined what will happen to him if he return to Berk alone.

Astrid made another straight look. "Okay, the idea isâ€¦ _crazy_." Hiccup corrected about the idea.

"More like ridiculous, idioticâ€¦" Astrid stopped Hiccup with a glare and a threat.

"Do you want me to punch you till you can't move and fly with Toothless again?"

Hiccup stopped gasped in fear. "No please, go right away on your explaining." He exhausted the fear inside of him.

"The idea is _insane,_ yes, but I need to do this. This will be my last chance to make it up with Fang. If I don't do it now, it will be all for nothing."

Hiccup let in build in as he took a deep breathe thinking about it. He gave a smile knowing what that mean to Astrid.

"You sure?" Astrid asked with curiosity. "No arguing?"

"I know that I shouldn't let you and I will be kill in the future by your parents, but I have no chance and choose death." Hiccup admitted what he thought.

"But like you saidâ€¦ _you_ had to do this to make it up with Fang. If not, _all_ these searches will be for nothing and can't go back to fix it again." Astrid smiled as she hugged him.

Hiccup hugged back as he got on Toothless. "I'll be back as quickly as possible." He promised getting ready.

"Make sure you get straight to the point before my folks kill you." Astrid reminded crossing her arms and smirking.

Hiccup chuckled. "I will." Astrid chuckled as well. "Let's go, bud. Stormfly."

Astrid watched them take up to the sky and head to Berk. She walked back into forest to sneak inside the camp site and to Fang.

Sunset, Mid-night

Astrid peeked out from the forest looking out for the guards. She found none around just five thinking what they are up to. Sneaking to the ship, she found no guard at the ships and headed over where she saw two cages on one huge ship.

The uncle glanced over to Fang seeing her awake and messing with the chain. He knew she is thinking about her _family_ in Berk, his sister, and Astrid. He sensed someone and saw a human girl above his niece age.

"Shh." Astrid approached the Deadly Nadder giving a quiet sign. "I'm here to break you two free." She held out her hand.

The Deadly Nadder reached his head out to touch Astrid's hand. He recognized the scent and growled happy.

"Huh, you know me as Fang's human sister. I bet she told you a lot about me." Astrid impressed smiling as she saw him nodding.

"Astrid?"

Astrid and the uncle turned to see Fang glancing up surprise. She rushed over to see the chains and the lock. Fang growled very worry.

"Astrid, you should not be here. Danger is comingâ€¦" Astrid cut Fang off.

"Yeah, I saw the leader. Scary, evil, really need a makeover." Astrid glanced comment what she first thought of the leader.

"He killed many humans who come his ways." Fang added extremely worry. "He killed my two dragons' family when he came for me."

Astrid stopped and looked up to see fear, worry, and loneliness in Fang's eyes. She sighed and brought her head to her staring into her eyes. Fang panted hard soft while Astrid smiled.

"I promise I will be there to protect you from _anything_ and _anyone_ that come _my_ way. That the promise of the big sister." Fang sucked in the moment calming down.

Astrid let go and began to search a way out. Fang looked up and growled glaring while getting Astrid's attention.

"Fang?" Astrid stood straight curious what wrong with her.

A thump heard behind loud. "Fang? That is her name? I can guess that is a suitable name for her." A voice also heard from behind.

Astrid turned around to see Floki and his Vikings army. She clutched her fist glaring while Fang covered from the inside of the cage.

"Get her." Floki gave the order and his men charged forward shouting a battle cry.

Astrid is tossed to the ground with her arms behind her back tie up. She sat in the middle of the camp site with many Vikings surrounding her. Floki walked forward with Fang behind him.

The chain wrapped around Fang's body and feet. The muzzle is still on Fang's mouth. Astrid stood up when two Vikings pushed her down almost broke two ribs. Fang growled at them while Floki noticed her reaction.

"What are you to the Dragon Child?" Floki asked turning to Astrid.

Astrid struggled in both Vikings' hands. "Her name is Fang the Dragon Child, _not_ Dragon Child!" She shouted glaring and showing whole of disrespect.

Floki glared and walked over to glare down. Fang pulled the chain while two Vikings held her down.

"Don't show me that kind of disrespect_ lass_." Floki warned Astrid. "I don't take it lightly for anyone _eve_ on children."

Astrid smirked. "That funny, I don't take it lightly for any muffinhead and idiotic Vikings treat me for being a child." She stood her ground not afraid to back down.

Floki glared showing so much merciless and killing in his eyes. Astrid glared like Fang did that Floki sign the two to lift her up. Astrid struggled in their grips when she was punched at the gut. She gasped out bit of blood as she clutched her teeth prevent of screaming.

"Astrid!" Fang shouted pulling hard tripping to the ground.

Floki watched Fang being hold down with five Vikings on her. Astrid lifted her head up clutching into the pain.

"Astrid." Astrid turned back to Floki. "What a lovely and suitable name for you."

"I thought about killing you since you invade my camp and trying to escape my search which took me _all years_ to find." Floki turned back with some interest on his face.

Astrid grunted hard. "Why not then?" She asked holding in the pain on her stomach.

Floki lifted Astrid's head up to get close to her face. "I tried _many_ ways to get that child to help me lure in more dragons, but hearing her speak like a humanâ€¦ that is worth _more_ and take that advantage to get more fortune." He told her with a evil grin.

Astrid doesn't take it fine as she head butted Floki on the forehead hard. Floki stumped back clutching his forehead. He slowly turned glaring at her not _joy_ for letting his guard down. She smirked holding in the pain from the head butt.

"If you want _Fang_ so badly, let handle this like _true_ Vikings would handle this." Floki suggested Astrid slowly approaching to Astrid.

"What?" Astrid started to have a bad feeling about this.

Floki glared deep into Astrid's eyes. "A fight decides who will take _Fang_." He turned back seeing Fang growling at him.

"Alright." Astrid accepted without hesitation.

"Astrid." Fang whined beginning to worry quickly.

"Don't worry, I won't let no one take you away." Astrid comforted with a smile.

Floki gave a signal to cut Astrid free as he grabbed an axe. Astrid grunted still feel pain on her stomach. He tossed the axe in front of her preparing for the fight.

Astrid lifted the axe in battle position as she held her stomach. Floki slammed his hammer down toward her head. She dodged the hammer and flipped to her right when her stomach gave away the pain. Clutching the stomach tight, Fang roared getting Astrid's attention.

"Too slow!" Floki shouted.

Astrid glanced up to see Floki has his hammer up in the air. She used the axe to block, but knocked out her hands and was hit on her right arm.

Few of the Vikings cheered for their leader, Astrid held her whole right arms close while Floki broke her left leg in front of her. She screamed in pain falling to the ground. He approached her in front of her raising his hammer.

Astrid slowly glared up to see the hammer coming down at her. Fang roared struggling to escape to assist her sister.

Midnight; Berk

Stoick had the rest of the Rider in front of him when Gobber noticed two dragons coming toward them.

"Stoick! Look!" Gobber shouted pointing to the dark sky.

Stoick, the rest of the Riders, and Astrid's parents glanced up to see Toothless and Stormfly landed with Hiccup, no Astrid. Alerk and Kara approached him with Stoick.

"Hiccup! Do you know I was about to send the other to search for you two and where is Astrid?!" Stoick began the lecture when he noticed the Rider of Stormfly is missing.

Hiccup hopped off controlling his breathing. "What's the matter with you? It's like you seen an Ordin ghost out of sea." Gobber walked over noticed a strange behavior.

"Give me a secondâ€¦" Hiccup took a deep breath exhaled long. "Okay, before all of you decide to hurt me from I about to tell you, can you promise you can do it later?" He asked looking at every Vikings.

The grown-ups looked at each other and nodded. Hiccup nodded as he took a deep breath. The other teens looked at him weird and confuse.

"Me and Astrid head out to sea to find Fang on our dragons. We know if you suddenly find Fang again, that will take _years_, so we decided to head out ourselves. We searched for hours long and rested on the island where we checked. While we were eating lunch, our dragons heard something and we looked to see an unknown ship is heading to an island we was about to head to. When we got there, we found also unknown Vikings we never seen before. Not only that, we came across Fang in chains and dragged into their camp site. We found and learned that their leader Floki something is capturing dragons even Fang. He is heading out to meet whoever he is meeting to maybe give the dragons _and_ Fang I believe he know she can talk to dragons. Astrid plan to free Fang and we had a disagreement when she said that she _has_ to free Fang and make up with her or we gone out there for nothingâ€¦" Hiccup took another deep breath. "â€¦So here I am, in Berk, without Astrid, and knowing I will be kill her parents. The point is Floki is taking Fang and the other dragons out to sea tomorrow morning and Astrid is there."

The grown-ups and the other stared at him with eyes opened wide. Hiccup took a deep breathe to get some air while Stoick snapped out the shock.

"Alright! You hear my son! Prepare the people, weapons, and dragons! We are living now to rescue two children from our tribe!" Stoick announced to the Vikings around him.

Gobber assisted. "Well, you hear the chied, move! Let's go!" He and the other headed out to prepare the ships.

Hiccup walked up to Alerk and Kara. "So umâ€¦ you are still going to murder me for letting your daughter out there with those Vikings alone? To let you know, I _did_ try to convince her to come with me, but sheâ€¦" Alerk lifted his hand up.

"I know that you know I'm going to kill you for leaving our daughter out there alone with those Vikings who knows what they are." Alerk gave a lecture with a glare.

Hiccup flinched waiting for whatever is coming. "However?" Kara stepped in.

"But this is Fang that you and Astrid is looking for. If she decides stay behind for a good reason, then I bet on Thor she is going to make up what she said to Fang three weeks ago." Kara said with a smile happy for Astrid, yet furious.

Hiccup let out the fear. "So we good, causeâ€¦ I need to get the other Riders ready to head out." He asked and saw them nodded.

"Thanks, Thor." Hiccup muttered rushing over to the other who waited for him.

"Okay, Hiccup. What's the plan?" Fishlegs asked excited for this.

"Are we doing this or what?" Snotlout asked pump for some excitement and adventure.

"Yeah, we want to destroy the enemies' ships now!" Tuffnut shouted can't hold in the chaos inside of him.

"Yeah!" Ruffnut as well can't hold in the chaos.

Hiccup smiled nodded. "Alright, gang! The plan is to rescue Astrid and Fang and bring them home!" He announced the mission to them.

Meanwhile;The island

Astrid lay on the ground bruises and broken bones. She has her seven ribs, left leg, right arm, and right shoulder broken. Blood poured out her nose, the tip of lip, and the right side of the head.

Fang growled panting hard glaring at Floki who stood over Astrid broken body. Floki flipped Astrid's body to see her clearly. Astrid opened her right eye to see Floki.

"You should have thought about this carefully lass." Floki began a lecture showing his killing and merciless look. "Don't show me this kind of disrespect and get in my way of my goal. Whatever I want, _I take it by force if you less expected._"

Astrid chuckled through the pain. Floki glared while his men and Fang knew what is going for her.

"Don't take me lightlyâ€¦ just becauseâ€¦ I am a child. I'm not afraid of you." Astrid told her with a straight look.

Floki hadn't made a move or speak. Fang panted hard while watching him lift his hammer and slam down many times as he can go.

Astrid screamed louder than before as she clutched her stomach rolling away. Fang struggled in the arms of many Vikings as she made up heat.

"Ouch! Boss! This brat is getting hotter and hotter!" The Vikings with green eyes shouted holding in the burn.

"Toss her back in the cage and get some water on her!" Floki gave the order and watched them leave.

Floki turned back to Astrid who is unconscious and clutching her stomach from the pain. He looked up to his men who waited for his order.

"Well don't you stand there, take this child to a ship and tie her up to the mass. I will give this Viking to him to use on the Dragon Child."

Two Vikings from the crowd walked over to unconscious Astrid grabbing her to the ship. They tied her to the mass standing as they stood guard.

Astrid lifted her head up barely conscious. She turned to her right to see five Vikings dumped a bucket of water on top of Fang. They tossed her in the cage and chained around the cage.

"Fangâ€¦" Astrid last said as she fall unconscious again.

_this is it for _Chapter Vii_ and Viii will have the next _Chapter _up soon. Please leave a comment and tx you_ sorry for a long wait, just having a family moment and work issue. I will have the chapters up and fast if it possible

9. Chapter 8

Dragon Child
>_Chapter 'Eight'_

Dragon Translation *Talking

In the ocean around the morning, Astrid lay against the wooden wall with her head down unconscious from the interrogation. Aker and Asmund stared down of the teen then looked at each other curious what they should do. If they continued, she will fall unconscious or die from bloods lose.

"Floki!" Floki lifted his head up and turned around hearing his name called.

"Should we continue with the interrogation? She will be stubborn and fall unconscious." Ake told Floki shouting while out of curiosity of the interrogation.

Floki sighed shaking his head of frustration while impressed of Astrid's hardcore and stubbornness as the Viking she is. Still, all that stubbornness and hard headed irritated him as he walked over to the edge and jumped over to the ship where Ake and Asmund are.

Ake and Asmund stepped away while watching him approach to the teen. "Wake up." Floki slapped Astrid across the face then grabbed the chin to watch her slowly opening her eyes.

"Yao are truly the Viking I ever meet. Hard headed, stubbornness, and irritating child I could _never_ images I will ever meet for one so young. I can take a guess you haven't finish your Dragon Training." Floki told Astrid admitting of her strength and experience.

"And yetâ€¦" Floki tossed Astrid's head against the wall. "A Viking who have to be used forced and get the answers the out of you from the hard ways." He stood up glance at the cage where Fang is "Why?"

Astrid chuckled glaring with all her strength. "Why don't you try ask your question again with my foot against your face?" She told him showing no fears in her eyes.

Floki stared at Astrid seeing there is no other ways to get the answers out of her. He jumped over to his ship and approached to the cage. Astrid struggled to get up grunting in pain when Asmund walked over to glare down of anger.

Astrid slowly looked up to see Asmund who kicked her at the head hard. She lifted to hold in the impact, but fall unconscious. The Dragon Trapper walked back next to his partner who smirked of the kick.

"Nice." Ake told Asmund punch him on the arm.

"Thank."

Floki approached to the cage to lean over and whispered to Fang. "You better listen and obey what you are told to do. If you don't do what you was told, your friend will never see the light again." He gave her a warning with a threat in his voice of serious and aren't joking to do so.

A growl was heard knowing that Floki knew the answer and walked off to see other preparation. In the cage, Fang's eyes glowed blue and body grew heat uncontrollable and visible in the darkness. She growled with small of blue lighted inside the muzzle.

Rescue Mission

Hiccup, Toothless, and Stormfly flew in the sky leading the other Dragon Riders and rest of Berk to the island. Stoick has the other on the ships followed the dragons from below as he stepped forward to see the island not in view.

Gobber followed behind the chief not seeing the island as well when something outside of bay and grabbed the spyglass. "Stoick!" Stoick turned around and faced his right hand man with the spyglass on his eye.

Stoick grabbed the spyglass from Gobber and peeked inside to see ton of ships away from them. "Are they the one Hiccup is talking about?" Gobber asked Stoick not leaving his sight off the ships.

"Afraid so."

Gobber waved his axe changeable hand to Hiccup what they saw. Hiccup glanced down then to his left as he took out his spyglass to what it is out there. He saw more ships he and Astrid saw, but a lot more.

"Oh, great." Hiccup muttered removing the spyglass of disappointment.

"Alright, gang." Hiccup turned to the other Riders who looked over to him. "They have moved and we need to hit them hard and fast so my dad and the other can come in with the ship." He told them giving the order as the head leader of the Dragon Riders.

"Remember! We are _only_ going after the ships that don't have Fang and Astrid in them. We are going after the other to decrease their men and weapons."

"Y'all got this?" Hiccup asked sounding concern of this plan and their agreement.

"No problem!" Snotlout agreed sounding pump.

"We are with you!" Fishlegs agreed as well hanging onto Meatlugs.

"Yeah!" The twins shouted raising their fists in the air.

Hiccup nodded. "Right. Let's move!" He leaded the air team heading toward the ships.

"Follow those dragons!" Stoick shouted at loud he can to all the Vikings on ship.

"Aye, aye!"

The entire ships shifted to their left heading toward the enemies' ships. Alerk and Kara stepped forward prepare not only for war, but rescued their daughters. They only hoped to get there on time before Floki and his men are further away from them to reach.

Floki's men, in the back, heard a roar and looked around while Floki stepped forward to hear the roar as well. Fang lifted her head up knowing the roar and smelled the scents as she growled of joy. Astrid grunted in pain and opened one eyes wondering what it is.

"What in Thor is that?" Ake shouted asking what the sound is while looking around.

Astrid lifted her head hearing the roar as she smiled a little knowing _they_ have come. "They're here." She muttered very happy to hear here and on time.

"_Dragons!"_

The two ships at the back shouted as they are under attack when Toothless plasma blast the ships. Stormfly followed with her magnesium flame as she found Astrid and Fang on the ship next to each other. She shot spines toward the two ships not hitting any of them.

"_Fang and Astrid are on those two ships!" Stormfly shouted following Hiccup and Toothless._

"_Got it!" Meatlugs shouted blasting lave ball at the ships she and Toothless hit._

"_Alright!" Hookfang dove down to knock the Vikings off the ships._

"_Okay!" Barf made a trail of gas while Belch lit it to cause an explosion._

"Hiccup! Look at the spines!" Fishlegs shouted pointing where he saw Stormfly sent her spines at.

Hiccup looked over to see Astrid beaten and unconscious and a cage he believe Fang is in. "Thanks, Fishlegs! Good job, Stormfly!" He heard Stormfly's squawking following him.

Floki watched all of his five ships destroyed and all the capture dragons flying free. Toothless and Stormfly dodged the weapons coming toward them as they combined their firepower and destroyed the ships, which have Stormcutter in.

Stormcutter destroyed the cage roaring getting the other attention to him and flew up to the sky to assist the Dragon Riders. "Fang!" He shouted at top of his lungs searching for his niece.

Fang managed to remove the muzzle off her mouth. "Uncle!" Fang shouted as well getting Floki startled by her roar and the other dragons shock what she said.

"_Did she just said "Uncle"?" Hookfang shouted asking the other dragons dodging the weapons._

"_Yep." Barf and Belch done the same answering the Monstrous Nightmare's question._

Meatlugs blasted the last ships freeing another pack of dragons. "Do any dragons knew about his?" She asked flying away to the sky.

They turned to Toothless and Stormfly reunited with them. "Really? You guys want to ask right nowâ€¦ with the whole things happening below us?" Stormfly asked them glaring irritating.

"_Fine." Hookfang muttered glaring away when Stormcutter appeared with a glare. "If you guys are done asking about meâ€¦ __are you going to help me rescuing my niece?!__" Stormcutter asked showing the rage in his eyes and voice that startled the dragons and the Riders._

"_Sure. No problem!" Hookfang said a little frighten of the uncle's worries over-protective to Fang_

"Are the dragons having a conversation while we are at war?" Snotlout asked his friends while looking down to see the fear in Hookfang's eyes.

"I guess so." Fishlegs glanced down as well to see Meatlugs' eyes open wide of shock.

"Yep." Tuffnut answered while he and Ruffnut looked at their dragons to see the shock.

"Guys. The war." Hiccup grabbed their attention as he has Toothless dove down along with Stormfly and Stormcutter.

"Right." The other followed the Night Fury Rider one by one.

Floki growled in anger to see _all_ his supplies, men, and dragons gone under his nose. He turned to the ships next to him to see it last standing. Out of nowhere, he felt a rough crash and turned to see ships of Berk crashed into his.

Stoick jumped over battle cry with an axe and the shield in his hands. Gobber followed with all of Berk behind him. Ake and Asmund were about to help their leader when couple of spines hit through them and fall on the board killed.

Stormcutter snorted finally got ruin of them since they are irritating to him. Floki growled glaring at the uncle who reunited with Toothless and Stormfly as he turned back to the chief of Berk. "You have nowhere to run." Stoick said readying his axe for any movement from him.

"You think I am done?" Floki said showing no surround to him and every Vikings in front of him. "Well, I'm not." He grinned showing the evil in his eyes.

"You have nothing on you now! All your men and fire powers are gone! You have no one else to help you!" Alerk shouted at top of his lungs.

Floki chuckled silence as he laughed loud. "But I still have one thing on me that you have to surround _to me_." He said that got every Vikings and dragons glaring at him.

"Oh, yeah. What?" Gobber asked which Stormcutter sensed the danger from Floki.

Stormcutter quickly reacted as his magnesium fire blasted the chains around Fang's cage. Floki jumped out the way to see him aiming for the cage. He then quickly headed to the other ship with the other behind him.

"_Fang! Can you remove the chains?!" Stormcutter shouted blasting the remaining chains that Fang can move freely._

"_I got it! But I can't remove the shackles!" Fang shouted back going to remove the cloth when she heard a scream that made her stop._

Astrid screamed at top of her lungs being pressure on the legs. Floki stood on top of her pressing on the leg with the blood pouring beneath the leg. Stoick, Gobber, and Alerk stood three inch away from them clutching their weapons and shields in their hands.

"One step and I will murder her here and now." Floki warned the Vikings pressing on the leg a little more.

Alerk glared trying to hold in his anger of what he is doing to his daughter. "And step away from the cage." Floki spoke out pointing at the cage with his hammer hand.

"Now."

The Dragon Riders glared doesn't know what to do, but have to listen to him. They slowly backed away from the cage while Hiccup signal Stormcutter to pull back, which he did. "Good. Now that you have surrounded to me, I have few conditions I want you to do." Floki said making acquiring a deal between them.

Fang didn't heard what he said as she was drifted into a shock of memory road. She heard shouting, battle crying, screaming, crying, and roaring in her head.

Alerk shouted in anger of Floki's acquiring. "_You want me to expect us to follow your acquiring?!_" He glared showing his rage while seeing Astrid grunted in pain on her leg.

"One moveâ€¦ and I will kill her." Floki warned Alerk pressing Astrid's leg who grunting in pain.

"Alerk." Kara calmed Alerk down grabbing him on the arm.

Fang panted hard seeing her memory six unknown Vikings and an infant in front of her with another unknown Viking giving a glare that frighten her. She grabbed the bar clutching on to it losing control on her breathing.

The dragons heard hard breathing and turned to cage wondering what it's wrong with Fang. "Hey! No funny move to the cage!" Floki shouted stomping on Astrid's leg making her scream.

Fang's eyes opened wide changing color and silting as she remembered crying in fear at top of her lungs. She cried calling for help as she felt something inside of her heating up and met Shiftcutter for the first time.

Floki lifted Astrid up cutting the rope and held her at the neck. "I will return her to you till you get off this ship and bring that cage to me." He told them squeezing her neck while she gasped for air.

"Please, don't hurt her!" Kara cried trying not to provoke him.

"Give me the cage and I will let her go!" Floki shouted glaring at the Vikings of Berk as he swung his hammer off to reveal inside.

"Now!"

Fang blocked all the sounds surrounding drifting more into her memory hearing the exact words. _"Please, don't hurt her!"_ She heard a woman cried echo in her head.

Fang opened her eyes to see the five men stood in front of her and the Viking, who held her, readying their weapons. The woman, with another infant in her arms, stood behind them crying along with the infant's crying.

Fang looked around doesn't know what to do as she first felt her blood boiling inside of her. The enemy Viking shouted something that made her cry with the sword in front of her.

"Alright!" Stoick shouted standing his level. "We do as you said." He told him as he order his people to jump across.

Floki smiled smirking evil while he walked forward while Hiccup had Toothless grabbed the cage. Once they are above the cage, they felt extreme heat that they hurried across that worried Floki. "Hey! Easy!" He shouted pointing the dragger to Astrid's face.

Toothless quickly dropped the cage next to him while Floki and the Vikings and dragons watched them dive into the water for unknown reason. "What is he doing?!" Floki asked Stoick glaring at him.

Stoick shrugged his shoulders. "Iâ€¦ have no idea." He admitted to him haven't left his sight at the water where they have dove into.

Toothless came back up and landed on the ship as he shook his body and licked his paws. "Whoa! That was hot!" Hiccup shouted shaking his head and body from the heat he felt.

Floki understood what he mean as he felt the heat as well. "Hiccup! What was that about?!" Snotlout asked while making a confusion look.

Hiccup held his finger up showing give him a minute to cool down. "You _don't'_ want to know." He told them still feel the heat.

"Was it _that_ bad?" Snotlout asked again mocking him wuss out because the heat. "Yes!" He saw him made a serious face that he stopped.

"We have done what you ask us to do!" Alerk caught every Vikings' attention. "_Now give back my daughter!_" He shouted at top of his lungs clutching his axe.

Floki snickered shrugging his shoulders. "I will give her backâ€¦" He pushed the ship making it move. "â€¦lifeless." He said that made every Vikings' and dragons knew what he meant by that.

"_No!_" Kara shouted at top of her lungs which Fang's head has snapped back hearing the exact words again.

Floki tossed Astrid in the air to slash her back to make her scream in pain. "_Astrid!_" Hiccup shouted this time watching her fall into the water drowning unconscious.

"_Astrid!_" Alerk, Kara, and the other rushed over to the edge to see bubbles surfacing to the top.

"Go, Toothless!" Hiccup shouted and Toothless dove into the water.

Floki laughed watching them with their panicking look as he walked away from the edge. Fang panted harder and the heat built up in the cover. Toothless returned to the surface with Hiccup held Astrid in his arms.

"Astrid!" Kara quickly grabbed her daughter.

"Somebody retrieve bandages!" Stoick yelled ordering more medicine attention.

"Right!"

Astrid held on top her mother's skirt feeling her back being treated painfully. Alerk, Hiccup, Toothless, Stormfly, and all the other turned and glared at the ships far distance by now. "Oh, _I'm so going to torch him now!_" Snotlout shouted getting Hookfang flame up and hearing him growl in anger.

"Yeah!"

"Let's do this!" The twins agreed with the Monstrous Nightmare Rider while Barf breathed out gas and Belch sparked his mouth.

Toothless growled silting his eyes and showing his fangs. "That's right, bud." Hiccup patted his head. "Let'sâ€¦" He stopped talking as he saw something wrong with the ship.

Toothless, the other dragons, and the Vikings looked over as well to see something wrong. "What in Ordin's beardâ€¦" Stoick muttered stepping forward.

"Why is that ship showing like it is on heat?" Fishlegs asked the question as he saw heat surrounding the ship.

Floki held his ground feeling the heat increasing incredibly fast. He covered himself from it as he watched the heat burn the cover into ashes. With the cover burnt and completely gone, he noticed something inside the cage that he couldn't believe his eyes.

"Oh, my sweet baby Thorâ€¦ _what _is that?" Gobber asked standing up finishing treating Astrid's wounds.

"What is that black shiny thing?" Tuffnut asked pointing. "Where is Fang?" Ruffnut asked looking around don't see Fang.

_Stormcutter opened his eyes wide knowing that heat anywhere. "It has happen." He muttered out loud got every dragons turned to him._

"_What happen?" Hookfang asked getting Snotlout looked down._

"_You know what __that__ thing is?" Barf asked getting Belch and Meatlugs nodded agreeing._

Stormfly flew back having a feeling she knew the black shiny figure. "That is not a thing." She said getting them to turn to her.

"_Then what is that?" Belch asked raising an eyebrow._

Toothless lifted his head up with his eyes opened wide. "Not a what, but a who." He said seeing the black shiny figure moving and the heat vanishing.

Floki panted feeling the heat gone and cool as he looked up to see wings spread opening with reflecting of the light gone through the wings. The gold spade moved opening and closing while the every spades moved to reveal the face glaring of rage.

Floki gasped in shock to see blue eyes glaring at him with a scar reliving who it is. "That is impossible." He muttered slowly standing that made the black shiny figure reacted to it.

Boom!

Floki flew back away from the cage, which destroyed, as he saw the thing gone. He and the other looked up then back down to see the black shiny figure turned out to be a rare dragon on all four. The dragon glared approaching to Floki showing its fangs.

The dragon panted growling that Floki knew who the dragon and where it came from. "You'reâ€¦" The dragon cut him off as it roared the combine of both Night Fury and Deadly Nadder.

The other ships, the Vikings flinched to the roar how loud and pitch it made. "_Whoa!_ That is _one_ strong roar!" Snotlout shouted covering his eyes as he and Hookfang opened their eyes wide stun.

"And high pitch, too!" Fishlegs agreed covering his eyes while Meatlugs flew away irritating of the pitch.

"And the way it destroy that cageâ€¦" Ruffnut said letting Tuffnut finishing the rest. "â€¦with that enormous roar togetherâ€¦ _I so want that dragon!_"

"_Yeah!_"

Gobber then have to give a bad news to the twins. "Eh, I don't think that is going to happen." The twins faced wondering why they can't keep that dragon.

"Why not? Don't' tell us you want that dragon, too?" Tuffnut asked getting upset.

"Gobber is right, you two." Stoick joined in not leaving his sight on the dragon. "Again, why?" Ruffnut asked this time that Hiccup gave a direct answer, which he knew they will be more, or less, confuse.

"That because that dragonâ€¦ is not an _actual _dragon." Hiccup said getting all the Riders turned to him. "But a human being."

They was about to ask another question when they heard an explosion and looked up to see the dragon landing in front of them on the wooden dragon head ship. They have a good view on the dragon appearance.

They saw the body figure is like the Night Fury, but combined with Deadly Nadder. The head and body are shaped like the Night Fury when the head looked a little rounded than the regular size and the hide legs are like the Deadly Nadder with the legs a little bit wider and bigger. The goes for the front legs, they are the same like the Night Fury with them shaped the same the hide legs. The tail are the same size like the Night Fury, but the tip is similar to the Deadly Nadder. As well the spine, they are unique shape from the Night Fury.

What caught their attention the most is what it's on the dragon body. The dragon have sort kind of gold scale on every part on the body. The gold scale on the hide legs stopped two inch above the knee, the front legs stopped at the elbows with a gold plate on both shoulders shaped like a tooth, underbelly are the same like the Deadly Nadder with edge spike, the top wings are spiked shining through the wings, the spine are spiked the same way like the Night Fury, the horns are sharped and spiked, mostly the two main horns, cheeks connected to the horns, and the eyes are sharped all around.

Hiccup examined the dragon to notice the shoulder plate have a design of a Night Fury and Deadly Nadder symbols combine and the scar on the face. The scar is similar to Fang, even the eyes with a little darkness in the color. He dismounted Toothless ordering him to say, which he completely obeyed and surprised him.

"Hiccup. What are you doing?" Stoick whispered shouted to watch his son approached to the unknown dragon.

"Easy there. I'm not going to hurt you." Hiccup told the dragon who growled titling its head with its eyes opened wide.

"Hurt it?" Ruffnut found that strange. "Yeah. It's mostly like the other way around." Tuffnut said twisting his finger in are forming a circle.

Hiccup ignored the twins as he reached out his hand. The dragon growled lowering its head then rolled on the board looking up adorable. Some of the Vikings adored the look and position while the young Night Fury Rider rolled his eyes chuckling with a head shaking.

"Really, Fang."

"Fang?!" The other shouted in a union completely shock.

Astrid opened her eyes and looked up to see Hiccup placed his hand on the black shiny dragon's head. She felt something that she knew the dragon as well. "Fangâ€¦" She muttered getting it, Kara, and Alerk's attention.

"Astrid." Kara cried patting her daughter's head.

Fang lifted her head up hearing Astrid's voice and approached to her crouching over. The other watched her crawl over to the wounded teen who called out the name as well. They couldn't believe their eyesâ€¦ Fang became a dragon! How is that possible?!

Fang lay on the board letting Astrid patting her head as she purred with her eyes close. Astrid smiled a little to be happy to have Fang back, even though she is a dragon now. "Am I the only one who found this disputing and shocking to see _a Viking turn into a dragon?!_" Snotlout asked out loud getting the twins and Fishlegs nodded agreeing.

"Only you guys." Hiccup said honesty since he have feeling this will happen.

Fang gently played with Astrid's arm biting as she licked her face. "Fang." Astrid tried to push her off chuckling soft.

Alerk helped grabbed Fang from the neck. "Aright. Give your sister a break." He told his younger daughter tossing her off elsewhere.

Fang looked up pouting how her father tossed her as she slowly stood on two legs. Parts of the body flamed up shaping into the Deadly Nadder. All the Vikings and dragons slowly followed the shifting in shock with their mouth dropped to the ground. Hiccup, Astrid, Toothless, Stormfly, and Stormcutter found this normal taking this better than the other.

"Huh? You will never expect the unexpected, right bud?" Hiccup knew _that_ will happen as he turned and asked Toohtless who roared agreeing.

"Hello." Gobber spoke out standing next to Stoick who frozen up in shock.

Fang messed Alerk treating him _small_, which he found that annoying. Floki watched from the distance to see Fang is free, _again_, as he growled in anger that _she _flamed up into a dragon. Stormcutter sensed Floki's rage and glared squawking at the ship to get Fang looked back.

Seeing he is still out there, Fang growled and flew toward Floki to finish up the war between them. "Fang! Get back here!" Alerk shouted at top of his lungs watching his daughter flying till he and Stoick was grabbed by Stormcutter.

"What in Thor are those two doing?!" Spitelout asked out loud for every Viking.

Hiccup stepped forward knowing what they are doing. "They want to finish what has happen between them years ago when Fang first got that scar." He answered the question to get Gobber step forward to the Night Fury Rider.

"But why get Alerk and Stoick into this?" Gobber getting the few other nodding agreeing.

"We _all _are part in this war as well. He have wounded Astrid and capture both her and Fang. You guys _may_ not see that, but they can see it. Plus, they need all the help they needed."

They looked at each other thinking as they believed Hiccup is right. Floki has dragged them into this since he has captured Fang and wounded Astrid. They watched the war going on that ship while Fang landed behind Floki with Stoick and Alerk in front of him.

Floki glared every one of them on this ship as he ready his dragger. Fang raised her tail revealing the black sparkling spines as she sent them flying toward him. He dodged most of them when one of the spines cut him at the right arm.

Alerk and Stoick saw the spines are not poison, but real sharp, as they stay clear from them. They charged at the same time getting Floki grab a spine and use it as a sword. Stormcutter magnesium fired, which they dodged the fire.

Floki landed on his feet when he saw Fang coming and shifted to his left then right. Fang roared plasma blast at him, which it is too powerful, she lost control and hit the ocean made a large splash. The other Vikings covered themselves from the blast.

"Whoa! That was awesome!" Tuffnut shouted amazed.

Fishlegs disagreed with the word 'awesome'. "But too dangerous! I think Fang don't know how to control herself as a dragon!" He told Hiccup as he mounted on Toothless.

"Let's go, bud!" Toothless took off heading to them.

"Too slow!" Floki shouted slashing Fang's chest to the left shoulder.

Fang roared backing away in pain when she was kicked to the wooden wall re-flaming back into her human form. "Fang!" Alerk shouted at top of his lung and rushed toward his daughter.

Alerk believed he can make it when he was stopped and slashed at the chest by Floki. "This war is pointless!" Floki shouted kicking Alerk to Stoick. "I have more experience in dragons than you all _Vikings_ have on them!" He looked down telling them as he turned around to face Fang who clutching her wounds.

"_Expectedly_â€¦ when a Viking flaming up into a dragon. That is my most and important experiences and knowledges in this pathetic world." He approached her grinning down while she growled silting her eyes pupil.

Fang tried to flame up again, but Floki pushed her back down pressing against the wound. "Leave her alone!" Stoick shouted and Stormcutter dove down going to save his niece when he was hit at the wings by Fang's spines.

"Uncle!" Fang shouted watching Stormcutter falling down to the ship.

Floki stabbed Stormcutter at the chest then slashed cutting the wing to prevent from flying. "You always in my way, dragon." He told the Deadly Nadder watching him squawking in pain.

Floki stomped on wounded wing which Stormcutter squawked in pain. "But this will be the last time you will ever get in my way!" He raised his dagger going for the kill.

"No!" Alerk got up and rushed toward to Stormcutter ignoring the pain on his chest.

"Alerk!" Stoick followed grabbing his axe.

Floki saw Alerk coming in his ways like many of his enemy before him. He jumped out the way as he came in for kill stabbing the father at the chest without hesitation. _"Alerk!"_ Stoick shouted as his, Hiccup, and Toothless opened their eyes wide in shock.

Fang opened her eyes wide watching Alerk slide out the dagger and fall on the board barely alive. "One down, two to go." She heard Floki said glaring down with his dagger covered in blood.

Stormcutter growled slowly getting up while Floki looked down and then to Stoick. "All that left is to do kill the chief." Stoick readied his axe and shield while glaring of rage and Alerk's stab.

"Let's see about thatâ€¦ coward." Stoick told Floki watching him getting prepared for another kill.

Fang stared at motionless Alerk dying on the board as she remembered her brothers and sisters killed in front of her. She looked up to see Floki approaching Shiftcutter with his axe in his real right hand. In the present, Floki approached Stoick with his right dagger hand.

Fang slowly built the anger inside of her while increasing the body heat once more. Floki heard a growl and felt the heat again as he turned around to see Fang flamed up into a dragon once more. She pounced on him scratching all over the body, arms, legs, and face.

Floki screamed in pain of each scratches. Through the spyglass, Gobber removed it from his eye to gasp in shock to see what he saw. "Eh, let's just say don't make Fang any angry." He told the other showing the fear in his voice.

"How bad?" Fishlegs asked raising an eyebrow as he was tossed the spyglass to him.

"See for ya self." Gobber said narrowing his eyes.

Fishlegs peeked inside as he grunted in fear. "Oh, yeah. Let's _not_ make her angry." He said out loud getting the other guessing what they mean.

Floki grabbed Fang by the tail and tossed her across the ship covering in scratches. He glared at the Dragon Child. Fang whined feeling the sting on the cut as she struggled to get up.

A battle cry was heard and they turned to see Stoick dashing toward Floki. Floki dodged and blocked the axe swinging around. "_Arg! I don't stand flies who get in my ways!_" He shouted letting out his rages that he held inside as he punched Stoick across the face.

"Dad!" Hiccup shouted watching his father sent flying backward.

Fang lifted her head up to see Stoick down then to Floki clutching his fist. She roared charging as she dragged both of them into the ocean. The Vikings gasped in shock along with the Riders and dragons. "Fang!" Astrid shouted at top of her lungs hearing the splash.

In the water, Fang clutched Floki in her mouth as they drowned into the emptiness ocean. She couldn't hold it in, but re-flamed in to her human form. He was freed and struggled to swim up when he was dragged down by the Dragon Child grabbing his angle.

Floki has no choice, but ended the Dragon Child's life, since he can't keep her still. He raised his dagger going for the kill when he was kicked to the face. Fang kicked him again at chest then kneed to the face.

Floki growled in anger getting really _irritating_ and stabbed Fang at the left shoulder. She grunted of the stab and kicked him again to get the dagger out her shoulder. Stormcutter felt Fang's pain along Stormfly, Kara, Astrid, Hiccup, and Toothless.

Fang struggled to keep her eyes open from the stab as she saw Floki going for another kill. He smirked pulling his arm back when his arm was grabbed and dragged by a Deadly Nadder's claw. She slowly gathered all her strength to see Stormcutter drowning to the bottom of the ocean. He dove into the water with those wounds to save her.

Stormcutter held on to the arm clutching hard enough his claw tighten around the claw. Floki tried to escape pulling his arm out, but couldn't. They dragged deeper into the water as they slowly vanished in the deep.

Fang tried to follow her uncle to save him, but couldn't, when she saw the last bubbles to the surface. She couldn't believe what she is seeing as she slowly raised to the surface by someone grabbing her shirt.

Toothless flew out the water with Fang in Hiccup's arms. Stormfly flew up with Stoick on her back and Alerk in her claws. They headed back to the other while Stormfly gently placed the father on the board. Stoick jumped down off her while Kara and Astrid rushed over to him.

"Alerk!"

"Dad!"

Alerk coughed out blood barely keeping his eyes open. Toothless carefully landed on the ship while Hiccup dismounted with Fang on his back. "Hiccup! Fang!" Gobber rushed over to check on Fang.

"Where's Fang?" Alerk asked making a request before leaving to Valhalla.

Astrid held in her tear while her father place his hand on her left cheek. "Astridâ€¦ you will have to watch over Fang and protect as a big sister." Alerk talked her as he made a request while panting hard couldn't hold in the pain.

"Dadâ€¦" Astrid placed her hand on his hand clutching of losing her father.

"Kara, loveâ€¦" Kara glanced down holding back the tear as well. "You will have to guide the girls and watch over them for me. I guess I have to leave all fighting and arguing between them to you." Alerk chuckled feeling the pain while leaving all the problem to his wife.

Kara giggled sniffing. "We are from House Hofferson. We can handle any challenges that thrown to us." Alerk smiled clutching her hand as they stared each other in the eyes.

"Here Fang." Gobber spoke out guiding Fang to Alerk setting her between Astrid and Kara.

"Fangâ€¦" Alerk called out reaching out his hand to pat Fang on the head for the last time. "You'll have to listen to your mother and sister, stay out of troubles, and don't cause problem to your mother." He told her younger daughter giving the last warning and request to her.

"Also, don't give Berk so much problem as human and a dragon." Alerk inhaled for air trying to stay breathing. "Rememberâ€¦ you don't have to feel alone. You are part of House Hofferson of Berk. You heave every one of us and Berk as your family. Don't forget that."

Fang sniffed couple of times. "Don't goâ€¦" She told her father couldn't held back the tear.

Alerk wrapped the tear off her eyes. "Be goodâ€¦ stay safeâ€¦ andâ€¦ stayâ€¦ aliveâ€¦" He slowly slid his hand down to the board as he headed to Valhalla.

"Daâ€¦" Fang called out seeing Alerk's eyes close, not breathing, and moving.

Fang flamed up into a dragon and moved Alerk's hand with her horn. She roared couple of times to get a respond when she came to realize he is really gone. Flaming back into a human, she sat on the board as she started to sniff whimpering while feeling arms wrapped around her.

All of Berk and their dragons watched the family lost their member while listening to Fang's crying in Kara and Astrid's arms. They finally heard her crying again for a long time, she have finally let out her emotion for the first time.

Retrieving the good ship and placing Alerk's body on the ship cover up, the ship began to sail away from them while few of them prepared themselves with a bow and fire arrow. Stoick noticed Gobber give a nod and turned to Fang to give the signal.

Fang glanced up then to Astrid, Kara, and Hiccup who nodded to her. She then flamed up and flew to the ship to fire it to flame up. The other fired their fire arrow following while their arrows hit the ship burning where they landed.

Fang struggled to fly settle when she de-flamed and landed into Kara's arms unconscious from blood lose and in too much pain. Gobber bandaged the wounds while Hookfang and Barf and Belch pulled the ship with them, Hiccup, Toothless, and Stormfly on it

Stormfly kept the two sisters warm while they and all of Berk headed home from victories and lost one of their best men. Kara glanced back to see the ship finally sank where Stormcutter fallen along with Floki. She looked away and prayed for her husband to watch over them while she pulled the blanket over her daughters who are asleep.

Hiccup and Toothless walked over to sit beside Kara to watch over them. "You know Fang need someone else in her life." Kara told Hiccup turning back to the two girls.

"Yeah, I know." Hiccup nodded understand.

"I need you to be a big brother to Fang as Astrid is a big sister to her." Kara faced Hiccup making a request for her and Alerk.

Hiccup glanced up smiling. "I know. I'm already her big brother anyway." He told the mother telling the truth about him and Fang's relationship.

"Thanks you." Kara smiled grateful the chief have a child who cared.

Fang whined dreaming about something and Astrid clutched her closer to her to have her calm down. "She is dreaming she is being chase by Snotlout and the twins." Hiccup whispered to Kara chuckling.

"You are serious?" Kara whispered back raising an eyebrow.

"Serious when Fang first beat Snotlout in all Vikings' games when we were kids."

Kara shook her head need to speak to Spitelout about his son later. Fang shifted around dreaming about something else and Astrid have to cuddle her closer to calm her down. They and Toothless laughed as they watched over them and headed back to Berk where they belong.

_That for _Chapter 'Eight'_, I will have the next chapter up and ready for you to read. Plx leave a comment._

10. Chapter 9

Dragon Child
>_Chapter 'Nine'_

Dragon Translation *Talking

3 Weeks Later

Astrid slowly opened her eyes grunting in pain as she saw a wooden ceiling unable to see it clearly. She closed her eyes taking a couple of minutes of breathing and reopened her eyes to regain her vision and see the ceiling better now. She looked around to see she is in her parent's room in her house.

Trying to regain her memories what has happened, Astrid couldn't remember what happened yesterday and how she got in her house or her parents' bed. She examined the surrounding once more to see her body bandaged as well her left leg heavy bandaged.

"Howâ€¦" Astrid asked herself muttering while trying what exactly happened to her to be bandage up.

The door swung opened and Astrid lifted her head up to see Hiccup entered her house with the Book of Dragons in his hand. "Hiccup?" She called out startling him out of nowhere.

"Astrid!" Hiccup shouted very glad and happy to see her awake as he smiled wide walking over to her.

"How do you feel? Don't try move a lot." Hiccup told Astrid grabbing a seat next to bed while placing the book next to the night stand. "Your _mom_ will have my _head_ if anything else happen to you." He said remembering the threat of Kara have told him when she have to take a step out the house for a moment.

"What happen while I was out?" Astrid asked Hiccup grabbing her head to feel her head throbbing.

Hiccup gathered in the courage to tell fading of depress. "Wellâ€¦ More like in a coma, you was out for three weeks Astrid." He said started off the bad news first then the good news.

"What?"

Astrid tried to get up, but the numbness in her muscles stopped, as she clutched her side. "Easy." Hiccup slid her back to the bed warning about the pain. "Please, don't try get your mother on me from surprising you what I am telling you." He sounded nervous, scared, and tired in his voice.

Astrid sat up fast shock what she heard when her muscle shot the pain as she clutched her side grunting in pain. "Easy." Hiccup quickly stood up sliding her back down on the bed in a panic state if Kara found out Astrid got in more pain than before.

"Please don't try get your mom murder me from shock and what I am telling you." Hiccup gave a warning sounded _very_ scare and _really_ frighten to face the mother of Astrid and Fang, though he sounded tired in his voice.

Astrid raised an eyebrow. "Why do you sound tired even though you just got here?" She asked him that question to see and hear grunting of irritating in his voice this time.

"After you were in your coma and Alerk's death, I have been on babysitting duty for past three weeks." Hiccup rubbed his face to show exhaustion in his eyes. "I have Toothless and Stormfly helping me a lot. Stormfly is really into this babysitting since she act like a mother figure."

"Stormfly? A mother?" Astrid slowly sat up holding back the numbness.

Hiccup nodded with a serious look he is not joking to make sarcasm. "I know Stormfly is mother figure, but on babysitting duty, she _really_ show it." He chuckled sitting back on the seat.

"On who?" Hiccup is really glad for Astrid to ask that. "You want to see?" Astrid nodded.

Hiccup helped Astrid out the bed as her supporter for her left leg. They headed to the door and Hiccup opened the door getting the sun light hitting into Astrid's eye. She covered them for a second from having been in the sun for a while. She reopened them to see dragons in the sky, grownups walking and talking to each other, and the children running around chasing after the herd of Terrible Terrors.

Kara looked up to the house to see Astrid up and moving. "Astrid!" She shouted at top of her lungs of joy rushing to her daughter. Every Vikings heard the shout and turned to see her daughter awake like Hiccup after defeating Red Death.

"Look! Astrid is up!" One of Vikings shouted getting more attentions to the two Riders.

"Astrid is up!"

Astrid watched every one of them are happy to see her up and rushed over to her Hiccup as she was gave a gently hug by her mother. "Astrid." Kara mumbled hugging her daughter of joy while holding back the tear.

"I'm so happy to see you moving again and alive."

"Me, too, Mom. Me, too." Astrid muttered very happy to be moving and alive as well.

They hugged while the other watched the mother and daughter moment in front of them. "Mom. Where is Stormfly?" Astrid asked Kara letting go of the hug curious where her dragon is.

"Why?" Kara asked curious why she assisted to see her dragon now.

"Hiccup told me what happened and about Stormfly. I wanted to see for myself on what he meant." Astrid told pointing to Hiccup who suddenly looked up staring at something in the sky.

"Eh, what are you looking at?" Astrid then asked Hiccup then saw him pointing to the sky using his left finger then answering.

Astrid, Kara, and the other glanced up to see Stormfly who landed in front the house with Fang in her left claw. "Ohâ€¦ someone is in trouble." Snotlout mocked Fang getting in trouble while the twins held in their laughter.

What did I just said about causing trouble?" Hiccup started scolding and lecturing Fang as he glanced down crossing his arms while raising an eyebrow.

Fang stared blinking twice as she gave a smile of innocent and adorable. She was then lifted up in the air to be growled and glared at by Stormfly. She smiled again showing her fangs this time as she was dropped to the ground next to her dragon mother.

Snotlout and the twins then started to laughed at Fang uncontrolledly while Astrid noticed Fang wearing a new sets of cloth. "Are those Fang's new clothes?" she asked Hiccup looking over to him surprise.

"Yep. Fang is still wearing the same one, but with some accessories, vest, and braces to match her dragon side." Hiccup nodded telling off the clothing to Astrid.

"The vest has leather on the inside with dragon scales of her and Toothless, mostly Toothless since she haven't got her scales falling off yet. The belt is leather with a metal round plate which I was planning to place a design of her dragon on it later. Finally, the wrist and ankle braces are like the vest, but have Stormfly's scales instead."

Fang shook her body from being hold for a while then turned to Snotlout and the twins to see them still laughing. Luckily for her, they won't be laughing for long as she flamed up into a dragon and pounce on them to hear them scream afterward.

While the three screamed in pain and she de-flamed, Astrid have noticed another thing on the back of the vest that Hiccup for get to mention.

"Oh, yeah! I have Berk symbol on the back showing she belong to Berk." Hiccup said mentioning the symbol on the vest.

Astrid looked back to Fang to see her sitting on top of the twins and Snotlout who is on the bottom as a dragon. "Arg. Can some Vikings get her off of us?" He asked begging for mercy.

Astrid chuckled shaking her head. "Fang." She called out seeing her sister responded to the call.

Fang saw Astrid awake and hopped over still a dragon. She sat down right in front of her purring with her eyes opened wide. Astrid patted Fang's head then chin as she gave a hug surprising her.

"I'm so glad you are still alive." Astrid muttered tighten her arms while Fang felt the same ways wrapping her wings around her.

Stoick stepped next to Hiccup placing his hand on his shoulder smiling. Gobber chuckled beside Fishlegs and Meatlugs as all of Vikings and dragons watched a family moment of the Hofferson.

(Thisâ€¦ is Berk. The island full of Vikings who lived here for generations.)

Gothi treated Astrid's wound while Fang lay beside the bed as a dragon. Astrid patted Fang's head hearing a purr from her.

{It snows nine months of the year, and hails the other three. Any food that grows here is tough and tasteless.}

_{ The __people__ that grow here are even more so from Hiccup himself.}_

A month later, Astrid got off the bed and moved around in Berk, but Glothi prevented Astrid to go any flying. Fang followed Astrid around like in the past while the grownups watched them smiling. Fang noticed couple of chickens and chased after them getting Astrid's attention.

Fang chased after either one of them when she was stopped by someone stepped in front of her. She glanced up to see Stoick raised an eyebrow with his arms cross as a chief. He saw her smiling up being innocent and adorable.

{Now they have some pets living with, sure other places haveâ€¦ ponies or parrotsâ€¦}

Another month later, Astrid is told she can fly with her again from what Glothi told her. Astrid ran downstairs grabbing an apple from the fruit bowl. Kara heard Astrid's running and looked up to see her daughter mounting her dragon and eating apple.

"Let's go, Stormfly." Astrid told Stormfly who squawked happy for her to be on her back again and took off to the sky.

Hiccup and Toothless noticed them in the air and took off flying beside them. They flew around beside each other when they saw Fang laying on the stature sleeping. "Hey, Fang!" Astrid called her sister who heard the call and responded to it by waking up.

Fang saw Stormfly and Toothless in the sky with Astrid and Hiccup on their back. When she saw her big sister moving and able to fly on her dragon, she smiled wide and flamed up into a dragon as she took off to be by her sister.

{They haveâ€¦}

The other soon followed on their dragons racing around the harbor, the fishers, the villagers, and Glothi's hut. Fang smiled wide happy to see Berk riding on dragons than fighting. She took off flying further up to the sky with Toothless and Hiccup behind her.

{â€¦dragons!}

Out of the Ocean, Sun Set

As pieces of woods from the Dragon Trappers' ship floated on the surface, couple of Floki's survivor men walked through the forest on a random island they came across searching for foods and waters. They cooked the meat from the wild bars talking about what has happened three weeks ago.

Out in the sea where the wars have begun and ended, pieces of woods from the Dragon Trappers' ships floated around with other messes and crate beside the woods. Heading toward the island close to them, five of Floki's survivor men sat around on the sand eating cook wild boar meat.

They ate and talked about what happened to them and Floki and the Dragon Trapper with the wound cut on his right arm glanced up and stood up gasped in shock. The other noticed and looked up to done the same in fear.

What they are saw in front of them, a Dragon Trapper wore a cape of dragon scales and have short spiky brown hair, scars on his right cheek, between the eyes like Fang, but opposite direction, and lip. He also have two different eyes colors, the left side is blue and the right side is green.

The gasped in fear in union watching the Dragon Trapper glancing at them then around like he is searching for someone, which he is. "Why are you five are on this island and not out of sea capturing dragons?" He finally asked the questions while they expected the true questions he desired to know the most.

"And where is Floki?"

The five survivors looked at each other who should tell him what happened to Floki. "Floki isâ€¦ not here." The Dragon Trapper with his left arm broken responded sounding fear in his voice.

"Then where is he? Where is my younger brother?" The Dragon Trapper then asked another question facing them sound deeper anger than before.

"We have fifty dragons capture plus the Dragon Child to deliver youâ€¦" The Dragon Trapper with a wooden right foot spoke out that he saw him narrowed his eyes listening what happened to them and his younger brother.

"When we got a short of problem on the way to the deliver."

The Dragon Trapper narrowed his eyes still thinking if they are telling the truth. "Then where are the two I have to watch over my brother and deal with any problem that come his ways?" He looked around to notice Ake and Asmund missing as well.

"We have no idea, sir. But with the huge problem arrived to rescue the Dragon Child and this Viking teen lass, we believed they areâ€¦ killed." The right arm wounded Dragon Trapper said lowering his head in shame doesn't know what happened to them.

"The lass? Who is just a teen? What are you babbling on about?" The Dragon Trapper approached them leaving a heavy footsteps behind him shaping differently from the other.

The Dragon Trapper stopped the Dragon Trapper with right eye blind narrowing his eyes down at them. "The lass has long thick blond braid hair and goes by the name Astrid." The broken left arm Dragon Trapper quickly described Astrid answering the question in one breathe.

"She caused the delay with her tribe, arrived with their dragons."

"She not only caused the delay, but her whole tribe, which I have _no _idea who they are, arrived with the other teens _riding_ dragons."

The Dragon Trapper opened his eyes to hear this tribe _ride_ dragons. "On the other hand, we have great new, if we haven't first told the bad news, the Dragon Child became what her people are likeâ€¦" The Dragon Trapper with an axe left hand told him trying to brighten the good news about the Dragon Child.

"The Dragon Child became a dragon." The wounded right arm Dragon Trapper said and the Dragon Trapper opened his eyes wider a lot more shock to hear what he is hearing.

The Dragon Childâ€¦ became a dragon? So he believed she have become like her family. Hearing that, he definitely will find and used her to find her reorganized family and tribe.

"I will appreciate the information you have given to me about the Dragon Childâ€¦" The five survivors sighed soft relief they are off the hook and punishment from him. "â€¦ and my brother's death." They froze up then gasped in fear what will happened to them.

"In the end, you all have fail your delivery, keep an eye on the Dragon Childâ€¦ and the death of my brother." The Dragon Trapper turned his head revealing his green eye glowing light green and silt from far distance.

"Butâ€¦ we are still used to you! You can't leave us stranded on this island!" The wounded right arm Dragon Trapper shouted of protest and showed honor and loyalty to the Dragon Trapper.

"Chief Borg gave us another change!"

The five survivors started to panic listening to the silence to hear Borg's answer. "I know you five are still honor and loyalty to meâ€¦" Borg broke the silence turning around to face them who opened their eyes wide to see what they are seeing.

"That is wayâ€¦ I should not any of you to stay alive and give that news to the enemies I searched forever after my father and mother's banishment to the tribe of Dragoon Warrior." Borg's eyes glowed brighter while the shadow showed his _true_ appearance to the five survivors.

The five survivors gasped in fear watching Borg _flaming up_ into something they never expected to see. They heard a growl with the shadow going beyond their shadows. "Oh, Thor. Help us." The broken left arm Dragon Trapper muttered while opening his eyes wide.

They watched the giant dragon glare and blaze out burning fire as they screamed at top of their lungs from one flame. Fang lifted her head up having a strange feeling and glanced out the opening window to see night stars. Curious what that was, she ignored the strange feeling and gone back asleep lying beside her big sister as a dragon.

_That is the end of _Dragon Child_ and the next story _Dragon Child: Rider of Berk_ will be coming up soon or later. Plx leave a comment and I hope you enjoyed the story while waiting for my story._

End
file.